WILLIAM RICHARD CUTTER, A.M.

By Hon. Edward Francis Johnson, A.B., LL.B., of Woburn, Mass.

William Richard Cutter, librarian, genealogist, elected to resident membership in the New England Historic Genealogical Society in 1870 and made a life member in 1911, a member of the Council of the Society for the three years 1904–1906, Corresponding Secretary of the Society in 1910 and 1911, and its Historian for eight years (1906–1913), died at his home in Woburn, Mass., 6 June 1918, in the seventy-first year of his age.

He was born at Woburn 17 August 1847, the youngest child of Dr. Benjamin and Mary (Whittemore) Cutter, and was sixth in descent from Richard[1] and Elizabeth (Williams) Cutter of Cambridge, Mass., through William[2] and Rebecca (Rolfe), Dea. John[3] and Lydia (Harrington), Ammi[4] and Esther (Pierce), Dea. Ephraim[5] and Deborah (Locke), and Dr. Benjamin,[6] his father. Elizabeth Cutter, widow, mother of Richard,[1] came to New England about 1640, and died at Cambridge 10 January 1663/4. Her daughter Barbara was the wife of Mr. Elijah Corlet, the Cambridge schoolmaster, and in her will, dated 16 February 1662/3, when she was "aged about 87 years," she stated that she had "sojourned about twenty years" with them. The Cutters lived in that part of Cambridge called Menotomy, which is now the town of Arlington.

Mr. Cutter's father, Benjamin Cutter, was graduated at Harvard College in the Class of 1824, obtained from his alma mater the degree of Master of Arts in course and in 1827 the degree of Doctor of Medicine, and in 1857 received the latter degree also from the University of Pennsylvania. In 1828 he became a practising physician in Woburn, and followed his profession there until his death, in 1864. He was a leader in the educational and civic movements of the times, and, among other activities, was founder of the Woburn Young Men's Library in 1835 and founder and first president of the Middlesex East District Medical Society, which was organized at his house on 22 October 1850. He gave much time to antiquarian and genealogical researches, and began the compiling of the genealogy of the Cutters in New England, which was afterwards finished by his son, William Richard Cutter. His wife, Mary (Whittemore), was a daughter of Amos and Rebecca (Russell) Whittemore and a granddaughter of Amos Whittemore, the distinguished inventor. After Dr. Cutter's death a public memorial service was held, and the citizens of Woburn erected a monument to his memory in the Woburn cemetery, "in testimony of his worth as a man, physician and Christian."

William Richard Cutter was educated in the public schools of Woburn until his fifteenth year, when he was sent to the Warren Academy in that town, where he remained until April 1865. He then spent two years at Norwich University, in Vermont, and received from this institution, many years later, in 1893, the degree of Master of Arts. In the fall of 1867 he entered the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale University as a special student, remaining there about two years. In the meantime, having access to the large college library at Yale, he became interested in the study of history and more especially of genealogy. He spent much time in collecting material for the revision and enlargement of the Cutter genealogy begun by his father, and brought it out in 1871 under the title, "A History of the Cutter Family of New England." A Supplement to this work was published in 1875.

In 1871 Mr. Cutter moved to Lexington, Mass., and while residing there prepared and published a "History of the Town of Arlington," for which much material had been collected by his father, and also communicated articles to the New England Historical and Genealogical Register. One of the most important of these articles was entitled "A Yankee Privateersman in Prison in England, 1777–1779," and contained the journal kept at Forton, England, by Timothy Connor. It was published in several instalments, with notes by Mr. Cutter, in the Register during the years 1876–1879 (vols. 30–33). The original manuscript of this journal is now in the archives of the United States. In Lexington Mr. Cutter was clerk of the Hancock Congregational Church, clerk of the School Committee, and clerk and treasurer of the Board of Trustees of the Cary Free Public Library.

In 1882 he was elected librarian of the Woburn Public Library, succeeding George M. Champney, deceased, and assumed his duties on 1 March. He continued at the head of this library until 1 October 1909, when he resigned as librarian and was made librarian emeritus by the Board of Trustees. He continued work in the Library until 1 March 1912, thus rounding out a full thirty years of service to this institution. Thereafter he acted in an advisory capacity only, being annually chosen librarian emeritus. As librarian, Mr. Cutter recognized his position as a servant of the people of Woburn, and gave freely and willingly of his services, treating all classes with a uniform courtesy which was inbred. He was instrumental in securing some notable gifts for the Library, the Baldwin Collection among others, and it was partly in recognition of Mr. Cutter's services that his brother-in-law, Dr. Harlow, gave the munificent bequest which is now so helpful to the institution. In accepting his resignation as librarian the trustees of the Woburn Public Library expressed "their appreciation of your long and faithful services as librarian and the deep personal interest you have always taken in the welfare of the library. They especially recall your efforts in securing for it valuable additions and benefactions."

Mr. Cutter served as secretary of the trustees of the Warren Academy since 1885 and as clerk and treasurer of the Burbeen Free Lecture Fund of Woburn since 1892. For several years he was a member of the Society of Colonial Wars in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. At the time of his death he was president of the Rumford Historical Association of Woburn and a member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, with which he had been connected for more than forty-eight years, to whose REGISTER he was a prolific contributor, and to which, as has been stated at the beginning of this memoir, he rendered efficient service also as Councillor, Corresponding Secretary, and Historian in the course of the ten years 1904–1913. His membership in the First Church of Woburn was coeval with the present church edifice, and dated back to 1860.

In addition to the numerous articles which he contributed to the REGISTER, Mr. Cutter was the compiler or editor of many important historical, biographical, and genealogical works. He prepared for publication the last three volumes of the "Memorial Biographies" published by the Historic Genealogical Society, and at the request of the late Charles Francis Adams he edited for the Massachusetts Historical Society part of the second volume of Chamberlain's "History of Chelsea." In 1906 he was chosen by the Lewis Historical Publishing Company to be editor of some of its publications, one of them being a four-volume edition of "Historic Homes and Places and Genealogical and Personal Memoirs relating to the Families of Middlesex County." Of special importance to his native town were his contributions to its local history. His history of Woburn, published in 1890 in Hurd's "History of Middlesex County," contains more facts about that town than any other one publication. His "Contributions to a Bibliography of the Local History of Woburn," published in 1892 as an appendix to "Woburn Births," his annotated "Diary of Lieut. Samuel Thompson of Woburn, Massachusetts, while in Service in the French War, 1758," his article in the New England Magazine for February 1890, entitled "A Model Village Library," and his "Woburn Historic Sites and Old Houses," published in 1892, are some of his other printed contributions to the history of the town. He also assisted in editing for publication in the Woburn Journal the first volume of "Woburn Records" and the manuscript list of "Real Estate in Woburn 1st Parish in 1798," and the newspapers both of Woburn and of Winchester contained numerous articles from his pen. His knowledge of local history undoubtedly surpassed that possessed by any other citizen of Woburn. As illustrative of his early bent and his instinct for the preservation of local records it may be mentioned that as early as 1866 he made a transcript of the epitaphs in the first burial ground at Woburn, and thus preserved many family records which otherwise might long since have passed out of existence.

From his father Mr. Cutter inherited his love for this antiquarian and genealogical work. His zeal in its prosecution was indefatigable and unselfish. He was always willing to assist others in their searches in family history, and gave generously to them of his time and labor. His love for the work was superior to any pecuniary reward to be obtained from it, and he never exacted or expected a consideration for any information in his possession. He had also a natural aptitude for genealogy. To him it was a branch of knowledge only so far as it rested on things proven. His "transcendent capacity of taking trouble," which was Carlyle's definition of genius, his refusal to accept hypotheses, and his insistence on facts placed him in the front rank of the genealogical profession. Such was the height of his ambition, and he lived to attain it.

Mr. Cutter married, 31 August 1871, Mary Elizabeth Kimball, who survives him, daughter of Daniel. Their only child, Sarah Hamlen Cutter, was born in 1873 and died in 1890.

He married first, at Waterbury, Conn., 18 Mar. 1740/1, MEHITABEL[4] HICKOX, born at Waterbury 22 Nov. 1723, died there 9 May 1767, daughter of Capt. About 1804 he removed with his son Amos to Sharon, where he spent the last few years of his life. In his will, dated at Plymouth 6 Feb. 1797 and proved at Sharon 15 Mar. 1808, he bequeaths to his son Amos his farming tools and all his right to the house and barn where he (Stephen) then lived, over and above his proportion with his brothers; and to his sons Gideon, Abel, Daniel, David, Zadock, Stephen, and Amos, and daughters Thankful, Mehitabel, and Amy he bequeaths the rest of his estate, both real and personal, each son to have two seventeenth parts and each daughter one seventeenth part. GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH IN ENGLAND

Coggeshall

Contributed by Hon. Frederick Samuel Fish, A.B., of South Bend, Ind., and communicated by the Committee on English Research

The late Henry FitzGilbert Waters, in the course of his genealogical investigations in England under the auspices of the Committee on English Research, found in the records of the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, at Somerset House, London, the will of Anne Coggeshall of Castle Hedingham, co. Essex, widow, dated 16 Apr. 1645. This will, of which an abstract was published in the Register for July 1893 and was later reprinted in Waters's "Genealogical Gleanings in England," showed that the testatrix was the mother of John Coggeshall, prominent among the founders of Rhode Island, who died in 1647 while serving as the first president of that Colony. The will contained much information about the children and grandchildren of the testatrix and mentioned other relatives. More recent researches in England have brought to light recorded copies of the wills of John Coggeshall, the grandfather, and John Butter, the uncle of John Coggeshall of Rhode Island, and records relating to this Coggeshall family have been found also in the parish registers of Halstead, co. Essex, in the lay subsidies for co. Essex, in two cases in Chancery, and in the Feet of Fines. Abstracts of these various records, including the will of Anne Coggeshall, previously published, are given in this article; and from them and from New England records the history of the family has been traced from the grandfather of President John Coggeshall to the establishment of the family in Rhode Island.

(P.C.C., Hele, 77.)

From Chancery Proceedings*

26 June 1620. Complaint of John Coggeshall the Younger, son and heir of John Coggeshall the Elder late of Halstedd, co. Essex, gent., deceased, being in minority under the age of twenty-one years, by Anne Coggeshall, widow, his mother and guardian assigned, that the said John Coggeshall the Elder, your orator's late father, was in his lifetime lawfully seised, either in his demesne as of fee or of some other estate of inheritance, of one parcel of arable land containing twelve acres, called Millers Close, one wood or grove containing six acres, called Swiftes Grove, and two parcels of land and pasture containing together six acres, called Swiftes Croftes, the said premises lying in the hamlet of Stanstedd in the parish of Halstedd, and being so seised, and being somewhat unthrifty in his estate and not provident to preserve the same, and being out of money, did about April, 3 James I [1605], borrow of one John Sydaye of Pebmarsh, co. Essex, gent., £100, offering to mortgage unto him the said lands and premises for security for repayment of the said £100 and interest at the rate of £10 in the hundred at certain times. The said Sydaye, being then a common lender of money, and knowing your said orator's father to be a man both weak and improvident and much neglecting the good of himself, his wife, and children, and knowing the said premises to be a good pawn for such a sum of money, did lend your orator's father the said £100; and the said John Coggeshall, by his deed dated 3 April 1605, did grant, bargain, sell, enfeoff, and confirm unto him, the said John Sydaie, his heirs and assigns, the said premises to the use of the said John Coggeshall, the father, his heirs and assigns, for ever, on condition that he, his heirs, executors, and assigns, did pay or cause to be paid to the said Sydaie at his dwelling house in Pebmarsh £10 on 15 April 1606, £10 on 15 April 1607, and £110 on 15 April 1608. And the said John Coggeshall, by deed indented dated June 1605, did grant, enfeoff, and confirm unto the said John Sydaie certain parcels of land and pastures sometime parcel of Stanstedd park in the parish of Halstedd, upon condition for payment of £60 at certain times and places, the greater part of which several sums was paid by the said John Coggeshall the Elder in his lifetime to the said Sydaie, although not at the precise and direct time of payment in the mortgage appointed, whereby the said closes, lands, pasture, grove, and other premises, in extremity of the law, became forfeited. And in 6 James I [1608] the said John Coggeshall borrowed £120 or £140 more of the said John Sydaie; and John Sydaie, by deed of feoffment dated September 1608, reconveyed the said premises to the said John Coggeshall, on condition that he pay £300 to the said Sydaie, 20 June 1609, at the house of said Sydaie called Garnownes in Pebmarsh, or if not paid, the deed to be void. The complainant claims that the said John Coggeshall in his lifetime paid to the said John Sydaie £300 in money, corn, cattle, and other goods, whereby the said premises ought in equity to remain to the said John Coggeshall the Elder and his heirs, as if the mortgages had never been made. The said Sydaie in his lifetime permitted the said John Coggeshall the Elder and his heirs to enjoy peaceably the said lands and to take the profits thereof. Both the said Sydaie and John Coggeshall the Elder have departed this life, and, no acquittance by the said Sydaie having been made, the complainant has no redress at the common law. The said John Sydaie, either in his lifetime by will or in some other conveyance by him executed, hath made some conveyance whereby John Sydaie the Younger, one of the sons of William Sydaie of Buers, co. Suffolk, gent., by pretense of such devise or conveyance or at leastwise by descent, is heir unto the said John Sydaie the mortgagee, notwithstanding the payment of the said £300, and claims the said premises or some part of them; and, the said John, son of William Sydaie, being in his minority, the said William, as his father and guardian, has caused him to enter upon the said premises or some part of them and to make a lease thereof unto one Walter Bright, a man of little or no means and hardly to be found or inquired out, of purpose speedily to evict your orator and his tenants from the said premises and to hinder your orator of his due course by the aid of this Court. The said Bright, or the said William Sydaie in the said Bright's name, has brought several actions of ejectiones fermae against Richard Mullyns and John Diglett, your orator's tenants, to evict them and your orator, and your orator cannot find out the said Bright to serve process on him into this Court for your said orator's better relief in this extremity. Your orator complains that the said William Sydaie and his son John have the deeds, writings, and evidences in the case, and asks a process of subpoena against John Sidaie, Walter Bright, and William Sydaie, and a process of injunction against Walter Bright and his solicitors to prevent their proceeding with any suit against your orator and his tenants.

4 July 1620. Answer of William Sidey, gent. He denies that, as agreed by indenture of 28 September 1608, complainant's father paid £300, but says that he paid part of that sum, £148. 15s. remaining unpaid. And, for so much of the debt as he received, John Sidey reconveyed to the complainant's father the premises parcel of Stansted Park, and the said John Sidey did not afterwards claim any right or title to these premises. But for the other premises called Millers Cloase, Swifts Grove, and Swifts Croft, they remained to said Sidey, as security for the money still due. After the death of John Sidey complainant's father came to the defendant, executor of John Sidey's will, to agree and compound with him, confessing a great deal of money to be due but saying that he thought not much above £100; but the said John Coggeshall died before any agreement was reached. Defendant as executor has paid out in debts and legacies £200 more than deceased Sidey's personal estate amounted to, and so has made a lease to recover possession according to his rights therein. Being executor he acknowledges to have the deeds relating to Millers Close, Swifts Grove, and Swifts Croft, but no others. He is willing complainant shall have said land, if he will pay £148. 15s. and interest and damage for so long forbearance and detaining thereof.

5 July 1620. Answer of John Sidey, an infant of fourteen years, by William Townsend, his guardian and next friend. He answers as above, and also states that John Sidey died 2 August 1613, and that the £148. 15s. was owing eight months before that date. A lease of said premises was made to Walter Bright, Master of Arts, of Cambridge University, son and heir apparent of Thomas Bright, now or late Alderman of Bury St. Edmunds, co. Suffolk.*

27 October 1620. Answer of Walter Bright, gent., as above.

Replication of John Coggeshall [undated]. He denies that any part of said premises was reconveyed and declares all the defendants' answers to be false. (Chancery Proceedings, James I, Bills and Answers, Bundle C. 11, no. 34.)

8 May 1640. To the Right Hon. Sir John Finch, Knight, Lord Keeper of the Great Seal of England.

Humbly complaining sheweth unto your Lordship your orator, MOYSES GREENEWOOD of Hingham, co. Norfolk, worsted weaver, that, whereas in or about the month of December 1637, your orator using the trade of merchandising with wares and other commodities into a place called New England, being an Island beyond the Seas where divers of his Majesty's subjects have planted themselves and do inhabit, your orator being at the same time present in person in the said place called New England, one John Cockshall, merchant, living there, being the son of Anne Cockshall, widow, who lives here in England in or near Hinningham [sic, Hedingham] Castle, co. Essex, desired your orator to furnish him with some such wares as he, your orator, had then there in New England to sell, the said John Cockshall, to procure your orator to give him credit and to intrust him for such merchandise as he should then or afterwards buy of him, did make known unto your orator that he had £40 to receive of and from Anne Cockshall, his mother. And the better to induce your orator to leave the same, he shewed your orator a letter which he had formerly received out of this Kingdom from his mother, in and by which letter it did appear that since his departing out of this Kingdom into New England there was given unto him by a friend or kinsman of his here in this Kingdom £40 for his particular share, and that, if he would come over himself or send a letter of attorney to her, whereby she might have power to receive the same, and also send unto her a bill of exchange or some other discharge for the £40, she would pay it either to himself or to any other whom he would appoint to receive it or assign it over to be paid unto. Whereupon your orator in or about the said month of December did sell and deliver unto John Cockshall so many wares and other commodities at such reasonable rates and prices agreed upon between them as did amount unto £55 and upwards, and for payment of £40 thereof he, John Cockshall, did assign unto your orator the £40 so given unto him and to be paid by Anne Cockshall according to the effect of her letter so sent, as aforesaid. And John Cockshall did also deliver unto your orator a letter of attorney, whereby he did authorize Anne Cockshall, his mother, to receive the £40 for him, and also a bill of exchange or some other warrant in writing directed to Anne Cockshall, his mother, authorizing her to make payment of the said £40 to him, your said orator, accordingly. And your orator since that time, viz., in or about the month of December 1638, did deliver the said letter of attorney and bill of exchange made as aforesaid from John Cockshall for payment of the £40 to her, the said Anne Cockshall herself. And she upon the receipt thereof did receive the same, and did acknowledge it to be her son's handwriting, and said she was much beholden to your orator for giving her son so much credit as he had formerly done concerning the bargain of and for the said wares. And she did also acknowledge that she had written the said letter to her son concerning the £40, and desired your orator to have patience and give her son longer time for payment of the £40, alleging that at that time she was not provided of so much money; yet in private between them two she did then and there faithfully promise your orator that she would pay unto him the said £40 so soon as she had sold or put off some lands or goods which were intended or given for the payment thereof and some other moneys to be raised for and towards the payment of the other legacies and sums of money, whereof the said £40 were parcel. But now, notwithstanding Anne Cockshall hath sold the lands and goods and thereby got into her hands great sums of money, far more than will satisfy your orator's debt of £40, which she more easily and speedily effected by having obtained from your orator the said letter of attorney and bill of exchange, for want of which your orator cannot now conveniently take his course for recovery of the £40 by any action of law against John Cockshall, he living in New England, neither had your orator trusted him with the merchandise and goods so sold unto him, as aforesaid, but merely in regard that he made it appear unto him by Anne Cockshall's, his mother's, letter that there was £40 given him by a friend, the which by her letter she promised to pay unto him or to any that he should appoint, and for as much as she, the said Anne, upon the assignment and direction of John Cockshall, by bill under his hand, promised in private between your orator and her to pay him the £40, notwithstanding which promise she, knowing that your orator hath no witness to prove the same, so that he cannot bring any action of law against her, for want of witness to receive the £40 against her which she doth now refuse to pay unto him, your orator, notwithstanding that she hath the same in her hands and hath raised the same by sale of lands and other things which were given and intended should be sold to make moneys for that purpose and hath also since her promise to your orator paid divers other sums of money and legacies of that nature unto divers other persons and would not [sic] defraud your orator of his just debt, your orator asks for a writ of subpoena against the said Anne, to the end that she may answer unto the premises upon her corporal oath and may set forth by whom the £40 was given to John Cockshall and how it came to her hands and why she doth not pay the same unto your orator and when she did write the said letter to John Cockshall.

Answer of Anne Cockshall, widow, defendant to the bill of complaint of Moses Greenewood, complainant. The defendant saith that she knoweth not (albeit it may be true, as in the said bill is in that belief alleged) that the complainant about the time in the bill mentioned did use the trade of merchandising with wares and commodities in New England, and saith that about twelve years ago, as this defendant remembereth, one John Butter, uncle of the John Cockshall in the bill named, by his (John Butter's) last will and testament did among other legacies bequeath to John Cockshall £40, and for the payment thereof to John Cockshall and for the other legacies mentioned in the said will did give power to certain persons in the same will named to sell certain lands and tenements whereof Butter was then seised within one year after the decease of John Butter's then wife. After whose death John Cockshall about ten years ago departed out of this Kingdom to reside in New England, in which Island this defendant believeth John Cockshall after his departure and arrival there did plant himself and ever since hath and still doth reside. And during his absence, that is about four years ago, John Butter's wife died, after whose decease this defendant wrote a letter, directed to her son John Cockshall, thereby certifying him of the death of the said Butter's wife, and also by the same letter requested him to send to this defendant a letter of attorney to receive for him the £40 bequeathed to him, as aforesaid, which letter, being written to the same effect as is herein before expressed, she, this defendant, did presently send away to be conveyed unto John Cockshall. And she did afterwards receive a letter from her said son in answer to the said letter sent unto him, as aforesaid, and this defendant did likewise therewith receive a letter of attorney made by John Cockshall to authorize this defendant to receive the £40 for him, John Cockshall. But this defendant saith that after the death of John Butter's wife, a kinswoman of him, the said John Butter, commenced a suit at the common law for the recovery of the lands devised to be sold for the payment of the £40 and of the other legacies, as aforesaid, pretending title to the said lands as next heir to John Butter. For which cause the lands, as this defendant was informed, could not then be sold, neither could this defendant receive the £40 for John Cockshall. And this defendant further saith that within a short time after she had received said letter and letter of attorney from John Cockshall and during the dependency of the said suit touching the title of the said lands she did receive another letter from her son, which second letter was delivered to this defendant by the complainant himself, and John Cockshall by his second letter desired her, when she should have received the said £40, to pay the same unto the complainant. And this defendant also saith that upon her receipt of the second letter she told the complainant that she had not received the £40, for that the lands devised to be sold for the payment thereof were then in suit and therefore could not be sold accordingly, and knew not whether she should receive the £40 for her son or no. And she further saith that after her receipt of the said second letter she was uncertain whether John Cockshall should enjoy his said legacy, and to the intent that John Cockshall should make payment or otherwise to satisfy to the complainant the debt due him from John Cockshall she sent another letter to John Cockshall, thereby certifying him that the lands intended to be sold for the payment of his legacy were then in suit and could not be sold and that she knew not whether he should enjoy his legacy or not and therefore desired him to pay the complainant the money due unto him. In answer to which letter this defendant, about Christmas 1639, did receive a third letter from John Cockshall, whereby he certified this defendant that he had there in New England satisfied unto the complainant the £40 mentioned in his second letter sent by him unto this defendant, as aforesaid, and therefore desired her (if she should receive his said legacy) to dispose of the £40 and to pay the same unto certain persons named in the same his last letter. But this defendant saith that she hath not hitherto received all or any part of the said legacy of £40 nor any satisfaction or security for the same or any part thereof. And therefore this defendant conceiveth, under favour of this Court, that she is neither in law nor equity chargeable with or liable to the payment of the £40 or any part thereof unto the complainant. And the rather also, that she is by her counsel informed that the last letter expressly contradicteth and forbiddeth her to pay the £40 unto the complainant and, contrary wise, directeth her to pay the same unto other persons in the same last letter particularly named. All which being taken together doth (as she is likewise informed) include and imply an absolute revocation of the power given her by John Cockshall his second letter to pay the £40 unto the complainant. And also the rather, because by the said last letter of John Cockshall he hath certified this defendant that he hath satisfied unto the complainant the moneys which were due unto him by John Cockshall, or such like words he, John Cockshall, in his last letter did use to that very purpose. And therefore and for other the reasons herein above expressed this defendant saith that she conceiveth and is informed that, in case she hath received or might receive the legacy of £40 since her receipt of the said last letter, yet nevertheless it would not be safe for her to pay or satisfy the same or any part thereof unto the complainant. And this defendant denieth that to her knowledge the complainant did sell and deliver unto John Cockshall so many wares or other commodities as did amount to £55, or that the complainant, to this defendant's remembrance, did deliver to this defendant any letter of attorney or bill of exchange or other writing from John Cockshall otherwise than is herein before expressed, or that she, this defendant, did promise to pay the £40 or any part thereof unto the complainant, as in the said bill is in that behalf pretended, unless she, this defendant, should first receive the same to her son's use. And this defendant also denieth that she hath sold or put of[f] any lands or goods which were intended to be given for the payment of all or any part of the said legacy, neither in truth had this defendant any power by the said will to sell any lands or goods for the payment of the said legacy of £40. And this defendant also denieth that she hath thereby gotten unto her hands any sums of money sufficient to satisfy the said complainant's pretended debt of £40, as in the said bill is in that behalf surmised, and this defendant further denieth that she did certify John Cockshall by any letter that since his departing out of this Kingdom into New England there was given unto him by a friend or kinsman of his here in this Kingdom £40 for his particular part or share, as in the same bill is also falsely alleged.

The defendant was sworn at Castle Hedingham, co. Essex, 19 January 1640 [1640/1], before Edmund Brewer and Nicholas Jekyll. (Chancery Proceedings, Charles I, Bills and Answers, Bundle G. 35, no. 19.)

From Feet of Fines*

Final Concord made at Westminster on the Morrow of the Feast of the Holy Trinity, 12 Elizabeth [22 May 1570], and afterwards from Michaelmas Day in one month, 12 Elizabeth [27 October 1570], between John Coxall and Robert Swattock, querents, and William Waldegrave, Esquire, and Elizabeth his wife, deforciants, of one messuage, two tofts, one garden, sixty-two acres of land, eighteen acres of meadow, thirty-nine acres of pasture, five acres of wood, and nineteen acres of alder grove in Stansted and Halsted. And, moreover, William and Elizabeth have granted for themselves and the heirs of William that they will warrant to John and Robert and the heirs of John the aforesaid tenements against William and Elizabeth and the heirs of William for ever. And for this John and Robert have given to William and Elizabeth £40.† (Feet of Fines, Essex, Michaelmas Term, 12–13 Elizabeth.)

Final Concord made at Westminster on the Morrow of the Feast of the Holy Trinity, 5 Charles I [1 June 1629], between Edmund Seawell and Mary Wignold, querents, and John Coggeshall, gentleman, and Mary his wife and John Warman and Sarah his wife, deforciants, of one messuage, one garden, one orchard, twenty acres of land, and three acres of wood in Halsted and Sible Hedingham. Plea of covenant. John and Mary his wife and John and Sarah have acknowledged the tenements to be the right of Edmund, as those which Edmund and Mary Wignold have of the gift of John and John, and they have remised and quitclaimed them from John and Mary his wife and John and Sarah and their heirs to Edmund and Mary Wignold and the heirs of Edmund for ever. And, moreover, John Coggeshall and Mary his wife have granted for themselves and the heirs of John that they will warrant to Edmund and Mary Wignold and the heirs of Edmund the aforesaid tenements against John and Mary his wife and the heirs of John for ever. And, further, John Warman and Sarah have granted for themselves and the heirs of John that they will warrant to Edmund and Mary Wignold and the heirs of Edmund the aforesaid tenements against John and Sarah and the heirs of John. And for this Edmund and Mary Wignold gave John and Mary his wife and John and Sarah £60.† (Feet of Fines, Essex, Trinity Term, 5 Charles I.)

[From the foregoing records and other authorities referred to below the following brief pedigree, showing the immediate English connections of President John Coggeshall of Newport, R. I., has been prepared:

* Preserved in the Public Record Office, London.
† Translated from the Latin.

1. JOHN COGGESHALL "the Elder," of Halstead, co. Essex, gentleman, the testator of 1600, died 1 Jan. and was buried at Halstead 3 Jan. 1600/1.* He married first ELIZABETH ———; and secondly, probably about 1564 or earlier, KATHERINE ———, who survived him, was one of the two executors who proved his will at Braintree, co. Essex, 8 Jan. 1600/1, and was living 22 March 1608/9, when she and her son John were taxed 5s. on goods valued at £3.

He held Munchensies in Halstead, which is described in Morant's "Essex" as "a capital messuage, situated near Coggeshall bridge, on the left-hand side of the road leading from Halsted to Colchester. It is so called, from the noble family of Montchensy, ancient owners of Stansted-hall [in Halstead] . . . . Walter Montchensy, a younger branch of that family, held this estate in the reign of King Edward III. —John Coggeshall had it in the reigns of King Edward VI. Philip and Mary, and Elizabeth. He made great additions to the house in 1563, and died 1st January 1600. About the beginning of this [the eighteenth] century, it came into the possession of the industrious John Morley, born in this town [Halstead] 8th February 1655; who, in the room of the old house, built a handsome brick one, with good gardens, &c. From him, it passed to his son; and is now in his grandson, John Morley, Esq. . . . This house and estate is otherwise called Collups, or Blue Bridge." (Morant's "History and Antiquities of the County of Essex," published in 1768 and reprinted in 1816, vol. 2, page 257.) The "great additions" which John Coggeshall made to his house in 1563 may have been for the purpose of preparing a suitable abode for his first or, more likely, his second wife. He is said to have been at one time a merchant in London. At Halstead he built also an almshouse, which had on the architrave of the porch the following inscription: "John Coggeshall did Bild this Hous in A° MD63." The arms underneath were Argent, a cross between four escallops sable; and below them was the motto: "Truth by the selfe."† The Lay Subsidies show that on 1 Mar. 1566/7 he was taxed 6s. on goods valued at £6, that on 20 Aug. 1572 and 20 Sept. 1599 he was taxed 8s. on goods valued at £8, and that on 16 Oct. 1600 he was taxed 21s. 4d. on goods valued at £8. In 1570, according to the Feet of Fines, he and Robert Swattock purchased lands in Halstead.

Children by first wife:

i. RICHARD, living 27 Dec. 1600, when he is named in his father's will.
ii. JOHN ("the Elder"), living 27 Dec. 1600, when he is named in his father's will.

Children by second wife, baptized at Halstead:

iii. KATHERINE,‡ bapt. 26 Dec. 1564; m. at Halstead, 2 Mar. 1583/4, THOMAS HARRINGTON. Children, living unm. 27 Dec. 1600, when they are named in the will of their grandfather, John Coggeshall: 1. Katherine. 2. Thomas. 3. Anne. 4. Susan.

* In Beaumont's History of Coggeshall, in Essex, published in 1890, pp. 197-202, may be found an account of the knightly family of Coggeshall, whose principal seat seems to have been at Coggeshall, co. Essex. The arms of this family are said to have been Argent, a cross between four escallops sable; and these were the arms that were placed on the almshouse built by John Coggeshall (1) at Halstead in 1563 (vide infra). But the exact relationship between the Coggeshalls of Halstead and the knightly family of the same name has not been discovered.

iv. ELIZABETH,* bapt. 27 Feb. 1571/2; bur. at Halstead 23 Feb. 1604/5; m. REV. JOHN WATSON, vicar of Halstead, who was living 27 Dec. 1600. Children: 1. Elizabeth, living unm. 27 Dec. 1600. Five others.†

2. v. JOHN ("the Younger"), b. 24 July and bapt. 29 July 1576.

2. JOHN COGGESHALL (John), called "the Younger" to distinguish him from his half brother, John Coggeshall "the Elder," of Halstead, co. Essex, gentleman, born 24 July and baptized at Halstead 29 July 1576, was buried at Halstead 4 Aug. 1615. He married ANNE BUTTER, who, as Anne Coggeshall of Castle Hedingham, co. Essex, widow, made her will 16 Apr. 1645, which was proved 10 Nov. 1648. She was a sister of John Butter of Thorington, co. Essex, yeoman, the testator of 1624/5, who in his will (q.v.) names many of his relatives, and leaves £40 to each of the three children of his sister, Anne Coggeshall. In 1640 Anne Coggeshall, widow, was defendant in a bill of complaint (vide supra) brought in Chancery by Moses Greenewood of Hingham, co. Norfolk, England, who claimed the £40 which had been left to her son, John Coggeshall, by his uncle, John Butter, said Greenewood having, as he alleged, sold merchandise to John Coggeshall after the latter had settled in New England.

John Coggeshall was seised of sundry parcels of land in Halstead, which in 1605 he mortgaged to John Sydaye of Pebmarsh, co. Essex, gentlemen, as is set forth in the bill of complaint brought in Chancery in 1620 by his son John (vide supra). In the lay subsidies for co. Essex, under date of 22 Mar. 1608/9, he and his mother are taxed 5s. on goods valued at £3.

Children, baptized at Halstead:

3. i. JOHN, bapt. 9 Dec. 1601.

ANNE, bapt. 2 Apr. 1604; living 16 Apr. 1645, when she is named in her mother's will; m. not earlier than 26 Jan. 1624/5 (see will of her uncle, John Butter) RICHARD RAYMOND, who d. not later than 16 Apr. 1645, s. of Henry and Joane (Perry) of Much Dunmow, co. Essex. Children (order uncertain), living 16 Apr. 1645, when they are named in the will of their grandmother, Anne Coggeshall, the two daughters at least being then unm.: 1. Henry. 2. Anne (eldest dau.). 3. John. 4. Richard. 5. Elizabeth.

iii. KATHERINE, bapt. 18 Apr. 1607; d. unm.; bur. at Castle Hedingham 14 May 1640.

3. JOHN COGGESHALL (John, John), of Castle Hedingham, co. Essex, and of New England, mercer and merchant, baptized at Halstead, co. Essex, 9 Dec. 1601,‡ died at Newport, R. I., 27 Nov.

* Probably a child by the second wife, but possibly a child by the first wife.

† Elizabeth, daughter of John Coggeshall, "was married to the Rev. John Watson, vicar of Halstead, . . . and was buried at Halstead, where there is a small mural brass to her memory, now fixed to the south wall of the south aisle of the church. Incised on this brass is the figure of a woman, attired in the usual Elizabethan costume with ruff and high crowned hat, kneeling at a fald-stool on which is an open book. Before her are the kneeling figures of two sons, and behind her three kneeling daughters and a chrysom babe. Beneath is this inscription, Here lieth Elizabeth the wife of John Watson the daughter of John Coggeshall gent. who was buried February the 23rd A°. Dñi. 1604.' "—The East Anglian, loc. cit.

‡ In Austin's Genealogical Dictionary of Rhode Island, p. 49, and in Rhode Island Historical Magazine, vol. 5, p. 174, the year of John Coggeshall's birth is given as 1591. This date was obtained by accepting as correct the age at death as given on his gravestone; but the gravestone 1647. He married in England MARY ———, born, probably in England, about 1604, died in New England 8 Nov. 1684.

In 1620, while still a minor, John Coggeshall was complainant in a bill in Chancery, brought for him by Anne Coggeshall, widow, his mother and guardian, in regard to certain lands in Halstead which had been mortgaged by his father in 1605 (vide supra). On 17 Dec. 1628, according to the Lay Subsidies, as "John Coxall," he was taxed at Castle Hedingham 4d. on lands of the yearly value of 20s. On 1 June 1629, according to the Feet of Fines, John Coggeshall, gentleman, and Mary his wife, together with John Warman and Sarah his wife, sold lands in Halstead and Sible Hedingham, co. Essex. On 22 June 1632, as "John Coxsall," he appears in a list of thirty-three men "transported to New-England to the Plantacon there" who have "tendred and taken the oath of allegeance according to the Statute."* Soon afterwards, probably accompanied by his wife Mary and his children, he sailed for New England in the ship Lion, and arrived at Boston on 16 Sept. 1632. He probably settled first at Roxbury, Mass., as his name and that of his wife are found in the list of members of Rev. John Eliot's church there. He was admitted freeman on 6 Nov. 1632. Not long afterwards he removed to Boston, where, with his wife Mary and servant Anne Shelley, he was admitted to the First Church 20 Apr. 1634. He was chosen a deacon in this church, was one of the selectmen of Boston in 1634, and was a deputy from Boston to the General Court in 1634, 1635, 1636, and 1637. His name is preceded by the prefix "Mr." Because he supported Rev. John Wheelwright and Mrs. Hutchinson, he was expelled from the General Court and disfranchised on 2 Nov. 1637, and soon afterwards was disarmed. About this time, in Dec. 1637, according to the bill of complaint (vide supra) brought in Chancery in 1640 against his mother, he purchased merchandise valued at £55 and upwards from Moses Greenewood of Hingham, co. Norfolk, England, who was then in New England, and authorized his mother, Anne Coggeshall, to receive the legacy of £40 left to him by the will of his uncle, John Butter, and to pay it to the said Greenewood as partial payment for this merchandise. In the following year he went to the Island of Aquidneck (Rhode Island), where, at Pocasset, later Portsmouth, 7 Mar. 1637/8, he and eighteen others signed a compact incorporating themselves "into a Bodie Politick." On 28 Apr. 1639 he and eight others signed another compact, preparatory to settling farther south in the island, at Newtown, afterwards Newport. This compact was signed by William Coddington as judge and by John Coggeshall as one of the elders. At Newport John Coggeshall received next to the largest share of land, his holdings amounting to nearly four hundred acres, situated in the southern part of the town. He was an assistant in 1640–1644, and was set up several years after his death. According to the Friends' record (Arnold's Vital Record of Rhode Island, vol. 7, p. 95) his age at death was 48 years.

in 1647 was chosen moderator of the first General Assembly of the Colony, for which Roger Williams had procured a charter in England. When this Assembly came to elect the general officers of the Colony, John Coggeshall was chosen president, and he died while holding this office, 27 Nov. 1647. He was buried a few rods west of his house, on his own land in Newport, and his descendants have erected a monument to his memory in the little burial ground, at the corner of Coggeshall and Victoria Avenues.*

THE PUBLICATION OF VITAL RECORDS OF MASSACHUSETTS TOWNS*

Compiled by the Editor

In 1918 the Massachusetts Legislature, as a measure of war economy, repealed the Vital Records Act of 1902, which provided for the preservation in print of the vital records, prior to 1850, of Massachusetts towns; and accordingly this important work, carried on for more than sixteen years by the aid and under the supervision of the State and far advanced towards completion, is unfinished, and will remain so, unless arrangements are made for continuing it without the help of an appropriation from the Commonwealth. It seems fitting, therefore, at this time, to describe what has already been accomplished in printing in book form the vital records of Massachusetts towns, both under the Act of 1902 and also independently of the supervision of the State, and then to present the plan in accordance with which the New England Historic Genealogical Society, if it receives sufficient financial support, intends to continue and, it is hoped, to complete the task from which the State has withdrawn its aid.

Previous to 1902 the vital records of a small number of towns in Massachusetts had been printed in book form, either at the expense of the towns themselves or by societies or individuals. Some of these volumes contained verbatim copies of the original records; in others the facts found in the original records were arranged alphabetically by surnames or in some other way preferred by the compilers. Even since 1902 such books have been published from time to time. But in 1902 the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, chiefly in response to representations made by the New England Historic Genealogical Society, began to encourage the printing of vital records by undertaking to purchase a large number of copies of each book offered, the General Court adopting a measure which was approved by the Governor on 11 June 1902 and was entitled "An Act To provide for the Preservation of Town Records of Births, Marriages and Deaths Previous to the Year Eighteen Hundred and Fifty." By this law the Secretary of the Commonwealth was directed to purchase, at a fixed rate per page, 500 copies of the record of the births, marriages, and deaths, previous to 1850, of any town in Massachusetts, whenever such record should be printed and verified in the manner required by the Commissioner of Public Records and the Board of Free Library Commissioners, acting jointly, and the work should appear to them to have been prepared with accuracy, provided that not more than $15,000 should be expended by authority of this act in any one year. The volumes thus purchased were to be distributed by the Secretary to certain public offices, libraries, and historical societies in Massachusetts and to certain libraries outside of Massachusetts.

In this act no provision was made for the printing of records of births, marriages, and deaths occurring since 1849, because from that time on town clerks have been required by law to send each year to the State House in Boston copies of the vital records entered in their town books during the previous year. In case, therefore, the original vital records of a town for this later period should be damaged or destroyed, an official copy of such records could be consulted at the State House, where the excellent system of indexing employed by the State officials makes it easy to find the copy of the record of any birth, marriage, or death that has been entered in town records in Massachusetts since the town clerks began to make their annual returns to the State authorities. The loss or destruction, however, of the vital records of a town prior to 1850 which had not been printed would in all probability involve the loss of all the information contained in them, except in the rare cases where manuscript copies are in existence or items relating to some particular family have been incorporated in a family history.

* The word town or towns, as used in this article, refers both to towns and cities.

From the enactment of the Vital Records Act in 1902 down to its repeal, which took effect on 1 Dec. 1918, the work of preparing and publishing these vital records in the form approved by the State authorities was carried on by the New England Historic Genealogical Society and by a few other societies and individuals. During this period of sixteen and one-half years the Secretary of the Commonwealth purchased and distributed to the public offices, libraries, and historical societies designated in the Act 169 volumes, containing the vital records, prior to 1850, of 149 Massachusetts towns and a part of the vital records of two other towns. Organizations and individuals not entitled to receive these volumes free of charge from the State have been able to purchase them from the several publishers, who have printed and offered for sale a few extra copies of each book. The vital records of 26 other towns, in whole or in part, have also been published in book form; but, as many of them were printed before 1902 and as they are for the most part not arranged on the same plan as the books purchased by the State, they are not included in the series authorized by the Act of 1902. Some of them, however, have been prepared and printed with the most painstaking regard for accuracy, and are extremely useful to those engaged in genealogical, historical, or legal research.

The following list, arranged by counties, shows the progress made, up to 1 Jan. 1919, in printing in book form the vital records of Massachusetts towns, and indicates the extent of the work still remaining to be done. No attempt has been made to include in this list towns whose records, in whole or in part, have been published in periodicals but have not been reprinted in book form.* Under each county in the State are given first the number and names of the towns whose records have been printed, with the date of publication, number of pages, and other necessary explanations, in so far as it is possible to furnish such information. Names of towns whose records are not included in the series authorized by the State are printed in italics, and towns whose records have been published by the New England Historic Genealogical Society are indicated by an asterisk after the name. Then follow the number and names of the towns incorporated before 1850 whose records have not yet been printed. A third group comprises the number and names of the towns which have been incorporated since 1849, with the year of incorporation. The printing of the vital records of the towns in this group, for the reason stated above, was not provided for in the Act of 1902. A summary, arranged by counties, follows the detailed list. Towns which existed as separate municipalities prior to 1850 but were afterwards annexed to other towns are placed in the counties to which they belonged before such annexation.

In this summary the total number of towns in Massachusetts is given as 361. This number includes seven former towns which have been annexed to other towns, the actual number of towns in the State to-day being 354. Of these, 43 were incorporated after 31 Dec. 1849, and the publication of their vital records was not provided for in the Act of 1902. To the 311 remaining towns, which were incorporated before 1850, there should be added five towns incorporated before 1850 but later annexed to other towns, the total number of towns whose records were subject to publication in accordance with the Act of 1902 being 316.

Of these 316 towns, the vital records of 149 and a part of the vital records of two others have been published in 169 volumes containing 51,265 pages, and have been accepted by the State under the provisions of the Vital Records Act of 1902; the records of 26 others, in whole or in part, have been published in book form prior to or independently of the Act; and the records of 141 towns, including the two towns whose records have been printed in part in the State series, remain unpublished. The records of almost one-half (more than 46¾%) of the towns existing as separate municipalities prior to 1850 have therefore already been published in the form approved by the State, and, as far as the number of printed pages is concerned, probably a much larger proportion of the work has been completed in this form, for many of the towns having voluminous records are among those whose records have been printed. If the 26 other towns whose records have been published are added to the towns whose printed records have been accepted by the State, it is evident that the vital records of considerably more than one-half (nearly 55¾%) of the 316 towns have been published in book form.

The importance of preserving in print the vital records of the 141 towns whose records remain unpublished and of making them accessible in libraries and public offices cannot be questioned. In spite of laws providing for their protection, unpublished vital records are liable to damage or destruction, and this is especially true of church, cemetery, and private records. Town, church, and private records are sometimes lost, misplaced, mutilated, or stolen. With the lapse of time and with repeated handling they frequently become illegible, worn, or torn. In many cases epitaphs furnish the only record of deaths, and yet gravestones occasionally disappear, and inscriptions suffer from the action of the elements and the defacing of the stones. But the publication of vital records ensures for centuries the preservation of the genealogical information that they contain.

The records printed under the Act of 1902 have included material taken not only from town records but also (except in a few of the earlier volumes) from church, gravestone, and private records; and the books thus prepared and published have proved their value to lawyers, trustees, executors of wills, administrators of estates, conveyancers, and all who seek to determine questions of relationship as affecting rights to property, as well as to students of family history and genealogists. The records not published are practically inaccessible, except to those living in the locality where they are to be found, although persons interested in the records of a single Massachusetts town may be scattered far and wide over the American continent.

It is, therefore, exceedingly desirable that the work of preserving in print these vital records and making them accessible to the public should not be suspended, and that the records not yet printed should be published in the form adopted for the volumes already issued under the provisions of the Act of 1902. For this reason the New England Historic Genealogical Society, to whose efforts some seventeen years ago the enactment of the Vital Records Act was largely due, has decided to continue this series of publications, provided that enough subscriptions are secured to defray 80% of the expenses of the work. It has already published 70 volumes of vital records in the form approved by the State authorities, and these volumes contain the records of 65 towns—nearly one-half of the towns whose records have been purchased and distributed by the Commonwealth. It now plans to publish from 1000 to 1250 pages annually, and is receiving subscriptions, either for all the books that it may publish in this series or for the vital records of one or more towns of especial interest to the subscriber, at the rate of 2¼ cents per printed page. This price has been fixed after a careful consideration of the cost of all the labor and materials entering into the production of books of this kind, and will include binding, but not the expense of delivering the books by mail or express. The books will be uniform in size, appearance, general arrangement, and sources of information with the previous volumes of the series, and the standard of accuracy already established will be maintained.

The Vital Records of Plympton and of Nantucket are in an advanced stage of preparation; the former book will probably be ready for printing before the close of 1919 and the latter book in the course of 1920. The Vital Records of Taunton, Dartmouth, and New Bedford are next in order, and the records of other towns also are in preparation. The Society expects to be able to publish, within a few years, the vital records down to 1850 of most Massachusetts towns whose records have not yet been printed.

In continuing the publication of these records, so important to the present generation and to posterity, the Society is confident that it may rely on the coöperation of the libraries, historical and genealogical societies, and individuals who have hitherto subscribed to the volumes of this series; it counts also on the patriotic support of the greater part of the numerous institutions which have in the past received these books, free of charge, from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts; and it looks for substantial encouragement in this undertaking to the many growing and progressive libraries and historical societies, throughout the United States and even beyond its borders, which have been founded in regions whither men and women of New England ancestry have gone to establish new homes.

DEATHS IN STRATHAM, N. H., 1777–1826

Transcribed by Miss Anna Mathes Lane and Miss Abby Frances Lane of Stratham and Dover, N. H., and communicated by George Walter Chamberlain, M.S., of Malden, Mass.

In the Register, vol. 30, pages 426–428, there was printed, under the title "Deaths in Stratham, N. H., commencing August 20, 1741," the first instalment of a record of deaths kept by Dea. Samuel Lane of Stratham. The publication of this record was continued from time to time in subsequent issues of the Register (vol. 32, pages 48–50, vol. 47, pages 19–20, 477–480, and vol. 48, pages 27–31, 337–343), and ceased with two entries dated Nov. 30, 1776.

The original record kept by Deacon Lane extends almost to the close of the year 1806, and some one has added to it the record of the Deacon's own death, 29 Dec. 1806. His son, Jabez Lane, kept a similar record of deaths in his diaries, entering the dates and names on the second page of the diary for each year. The first part of Jabez Lane's record overlaps that kept by his father, and his entries come down to the end of March 1810. George Lane, son of Jabez, entered the record of his father's death, 3 Apr. 1810, and continued the list to the latter part of 1826. The almost total lack of death entries in the town records of Stratham during this period makes these private records especially valuable.

Below are given the records kept by these three men—father, son, and grandson, beginning at the point where the publication of Dea. Samuel Lane's record in the REGISTER ceased nearly twenty-five years ago. For the years in which both Deacon Lane and his son Jabez recorded deaths Deacon Lane's entry of each death is given first, and any variations from or additions to his record found in the entries made by his son are added in brackets or placed in footnotes, and are indicated by the letters J. L. The records kept by George Lane have been arranged in chronological order. The original books, with a collection of diaries, are in the possession of Miss Abby Frances Lane, daughter of Dea. Edmund J. Lane and great-granddaughter of Dea. Samuel Lane, and are preserved in a fireproof safe in her Stratham home.

In the introduction to the records already printed in the REGISTER (vol. 30, page 426) it is stated that Samuel Lane was born at Hampton, N. H., 6 Oct. 1718, that he removed thence to Stratham 11 June 1741, and that he remained there until his death, which took place 29 Dec. 1806. He was selectman and town clerk several years, a land surveyor, employed by the governors under the Crown and after the Revolution, deacon of the church for thirty-five years, and elder in the church for the remainder of his life. His house was near the burying ground, and he kept the palls which it was then the custom to use—a large one, and a smaller one for children. Therefore a death occurring in Stratham could hardly have escaped his notice.

On the second page of Dea. Samuel Lane's record of deaths is found the following statement, in a fine, distinct handwriting:

I think it may be proper to remark that in or about the years 1745 & 1746 there Died at Cape Breton & other places Several persons that belong to this Town viz

PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

By Henry Edwards Scott, A.B., Recording Secretary

Boston, Massachusetts, 2 October 1918. A stated meeting of the Society was held in Wilder Hall, 9 Ashburton Place, at 2.30 P.M.

In the absence of the President and of all the Vice-Presidents, the meeting was called to order by the Recording Secretary, and, on motion, Professor George Hunt Barton of Cambridge, Mass., was elected Chairman pro tempore.

The minutes of the May meeting were approved, and the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted, the Council reporting the names of twenty-one persons who had been elected resident members.

On motion it was unanimously

Voted, That the New England Historic Genealogical Society hereby expresses its appreciation of the loss that it has sustained in the death, on 16 May 1918, of Hon. Louis Atwood Cook, elected a Councillor of the Society in February of this year, and that it extends to his widow and children its heartfelt sympathy in their bereavement.

On behalf of and by direction of the Council the Recording Secretary submitted a proposed amendment to Article 1 of Chapter III of the By-Laws, and on motion it was referred to the Special Committee on Revision of the By-Laws, with a request for a report at the November meeting of the Society.

* A memorandum found among the papers of Dea. Samuel Lane reads: "My son in Law Wm Bordman Died at Newmarket March 30, 1804."

The lecture announced for this meeting having been postponed, in conformity with the regulations of the health officials in regard to public assemblies during the prevailing epidemic of influenza, the meeting at 2.45 P.M. adjourned.

6 November. A stated meeting of the Society was held in Wilder Hall, 9 Ashburton Place, at 2.30 P.M., President Baxter presiding.

The minutes of the October meeting were approved, and the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted, the Council reporting the names of four persons who had been elected resident members.

The Recording Secretary read a report from the Special Committee on Revision of the By-Laws, stating that it had considered the proposed amendment to Article 1 of Chapter III of the By-Laws, referred to it by the Society at the stated meeting on 2 October 1918, and that it recommended that said amendment be adopted, in such form that the second paragraph of said article, when amended, shall read as follows:

Stated Meetings of the Society shall be held in its house, or elsewhere as the Council may decide, on the first Wednesday in every month except June, July, August and September, at half past two o'clock in the afternoon, or at such other day or hour as may be designated by the Council, notice of which shall be sent at least three days before the day of the meeting.

On motion said report was accepted, and it was Voted, That the proposed amendment to Article 1 of Chapter III of the By-Laws, in the form recommended by the Special Committee on Revision of the By-Laws, be adopted.

By ballot the following were unanimously elected members of the Nominating Committee: George Walter Chamberlain, Mrs. Florence Conant Howes, Charles Edward Mann, George Ritchie Marvin, and Mrs. Mary Stickney Randall.

President Baxter then presented Countess Laura de Gozdawa Turczynowicz, President of the Polish Reconstruction Association, Inc., of New York City, who spoke on When the Prussians Came to Poland. Madame de Turczynowicz, the American wife of a Polish nobleman, gave a vivid and thrilling narrative of the inhuman treatment to which she and her little children were subjected when her adopted country was overrun by the Germans in the early months of the war.

In response to a call from President Baxter a rising vote of thanks was given to the speaker, and the President then declared the meeting dissolved.

After the meeting many of the members and their friends availed themselves of the opportunity of expressing to the Countess their appreciation of her tragic story.

4 December. A stated meeting of the Society was held in Wilder Hall, 9 Ashburton Place, at 2.30 P.M., President Baxter presiding.

The minutes of the November meeting were approved, and the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted, the Council reporting the names of six persons who had been elected resident members.

The report of the Nominating Committee was read and accepted.

The President appointed Messrs. George Sawin Stewart and Hosea Starr Ballou as auditors to audit the accounts of the Treasurer for the current year.

President Baxter then presented the speaker of the afternoon, Mr. John Albree of Boston, a former Recording Secretary of the Society, who gave a unique and entertaining paper, entitled The Art of Singing in the Old Bay Colony. A mixed quartette, under the direction of Mr. Arthur B. Keene of Lynn, sang pleasing selections to illustrate the theme, and led the audience twice in the singing of old hymns. The most noteworthy of these was the One Hundredth Psalm, mentioned by Longfellow in the Courtship of Miles Standish, and sung for the first time in two hundred years by a Boston audience at this December meeting of the Society. Mr. Albree also showed rare psalm books—one of them printed in 1612—and other exhibits, which added to the value of a lecture which had attracted over three hundred members and guests.

On motion of Mr. Walter Kendall Watkins a vote of thanks was given to Mr. Albree and his assistants, and the President then declared the meeting dissolved.

After the meeting a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

NOTES

It having come to the attention of this Society that certain genealogists and publishers have used the name of the Society in connection with their own enterprises, the Society again desires to state that it has NO genealogical representatives in this country or in England, nor is it in any way connected with any publications other than those that it issues over its own name at 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

Historical Intelligence

Heraldry.—The Committee on Heraldry of the New England Historic Genealogical Society strongly recommends that all coats of arms which can be proved to be authentic be offered for record with this Society. The arrangements for the making and preservation of such records are complete, and the volume of recorded arms has been begun by the entry therein of a number of well-authenticated coats. Printed forms and directions for the making of applications may be obtained from the Committee, and all communications on this subject should be addressed to the Committee on Heraldry, New England Historic Genealogical Society, 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

Without taking any position with reference to the propriety of assuming arms, the Committee will be glad to examine arms or heraldic devices which any person or organization desires to assume, and give advice as to whether the same are heraldically correct or whether they violate a right of exclusive use heretofore acquired by others.

Genealogies in Preparation. — Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. All names should be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

APRIL, 1919

HON. PRENTISS CUMMINGS, A.B., LL.B.

By Mrs. Mary Ingraham Davies of Brookline, Mass.

Prentiss Cummings of Brookline, Mass., a life member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society since 1908 and a member of its Council for the three years 1909-1911, died suddenly at his summer residence at Paris Hill, Me., 18 September 1917. He was born at Sumner, Me., 10 September 1840, the son of Whitney and Mary Hart (Prentiss) Cummings.

Although tradition points to Scotland as the ancestral land of the Cummings family, no record of the birthplace or parentage of Isaac[1] Cummings, the immigrant ancestor of the New England family to which Prentiss Cummings belonged, has been discovered. Isaac[1] Cummings received a grant of 35 acres of land at Watertown, Mass., in 1636, was a land owner at Ipswich, Mass., as early as 25 July 1638, and owned a house lot in Ipswich Village 9, 2 mo. 1639. He was a commoner at Ipswich in 1639, and on 26, 6 mo. of the same year sold 7 acres of land near the highway leading to Jeffries Neck. In the same year, also, he possessed a farm lying partly in Ipswich and partly in Topsfield. He was admitted freeman 18 May 1642. On 1, 2 mo. 1652 he bought of Samuel Symonds and his wife Martha, for £30, a farm of 150 acres in Topsfield, and in this town he spent the remainder of his life, being for many years a deacon of the church there and holding at various times sundry town offices. He deposed in March 1666, aged 65 years, and died between 8, 3 mo. 1677, the date of his will, and 22 May 1677, the date of the inventory of his estate. His estate was appraised at £166. 1s. 6d., with debts amounting to £19. 16s. 5d. His wife is not mentioned in his will, and her name is unknown. He left two sons and two daughters.

John[2] Cummings, elder son of Isaac, was born about 1630, and married Sarah Howlett, daughter of Thomas and Alice (French) of Ipswich. He settled first in Rowley Village (later the town of Boxford), Mass., where he owned land and was taxed in 1661. By his father's will he received the homestead of 40 acres in Topsfield, and he and his wife were members of the Topsfield church. About 1680 he removed with his wife and family to Dunstable, Mass., where he was one of the first settlers, a selectman in 1682, and a few years later one of the founders of the church. He was town clerk of Dunstable for several years, and died 1 December 1700. His widow died 7 December of the same year. They were the parents of eleven children.

Their third son and third child, Nathaniel[3] Cummings, born at Rowley Village 10 September 1659, married at Chelmsford, Mass., 14 April 1697, Abigail Parkhurst of Chelmsford, who was living as his widow on 3 February 1729. He, too, settled in Dunstable, and had four children, all boys.

Nathaniel[4] Cummings of Dunstable, second son of Nathaniel,[3] was born at Dunstable 8 September 1699, and married Elizabeth Whitney of Stow, Mass. He died before 1760, but his wife seems to have survived him and to have lived to an advanced age. They had nine children.

Their third son and third child was Oliver[5] Cummings, who was born at Dunstable 10 April 1728 and died there 15 August 1810. He married at Killingly, Conn., Sibyla Whitney, who was born 4 February 1733 and died 16 December 1812, daughter of Israel and Hannah (Learned) of Groton, Mass., and Killingly, Conn. They resided at Dunstable, and had five children. He served with the Massachusetts troops in the Revolutionary War, being captain of the Ninth (West Dunstable) Company in the Seventh (Middlesex County) Regiment, commanded by Col. Simeon Spaulding. His commission was issued 31 May 1776.

His eldest child, Oliver[6] Cummings, was born at Dunstable 12 July 1757, and died at Sumner, Me., 2 July 1823. He, also, served in the Revolution, being a fifer in the company of which his father was captain and taking part in the Battle of White Plains in 1776. After the War he became one of the first settlers of Sumner, Me., then a wilderness, migrating thither to take up a lot of land assigned either to him or to his father as a Revolutionary soldier. He is said to have felled the first tree cut in that town. After he had begun his clearing he found that he had made a mistake as to his location, and therefore he returned to Dunstable for more information. In the following year he went back to Sumner, made a clearing in another part of the town, and built a log house. As soon as he had a home to offer he married Betsy Bailey, who had been brought up in his father's family. Later he became a well-to-do farmer, and built a house, before 1800, which was standing in 1898. He married secondly, 1 February 1804, Phoebe Churchill, who was born at Plympton, Mass., 18 January 1779, daughter of Joshua and Elizabeth (Bonney), who moved from Plympton to Hartford, Me., in 1800. Joshua Churchill also was a soldier of the Revolution.* Oliver Cummings had two children by his first wife and three children by his second wife.

Whitney[7] Cummings, youngest child of Oliver[6] and Phoebe (Churchill) Cummings, was born at Sumner 18 December 1808, and died at Buckfield, Me., 4 March 1881. He married, 27 March 1833, Mary Hart Prentiss, who was born at Paris, Me., 26 January 1807 and died at Buckfield 18 February 1878, daughter of Henry and Mary (Hart). Henry Prentiss, who was of Paris, was a son of Rev. Caleb and Pamela (Mellen) Prentiss of Reading, Mass., Pamela Mellen being a daughter of Rev. John Mellen of Lancaster, Mass.* Mary Hart, whom Henry Prentiss married in 1804, was a daughter of Dr. John Hart of Reading, who was an Army surgeon in the Revolution, first in Col. William Prescott's Massachusetts regiment from 1 May 1775 until August 1775, then in the Seventh Continental Infantry during the year 1776, and from 1 January 1777 in the Second Massachusetts Regiment, serving directly under Washington. In November 1783 he was retained in Jackson's regiment, in the Continental Army, and served until 20 June 1784. He died 27 April 1826. He was appointed by Washington one of the medical inspectors to supervise the execution of André, and a letter which he wrote about Arnold's treason and André's arrest and execution was communicated by Hon. Prentiss Cummings to the REGISTER of July 1915 (vol. 69, pages 224-226). Mary Hart Prentiss, who became the wife of Whitney Cummings, was a school-teacher of local note, a reader of good books, and an acceptable writer both in prose and verse. She was a frequent contributor to periodicals over the signature of "Oithona," and several of her poems are printed in the "History of Paris." She took much interest in young people, to whom she had the gift of imparting something of her own inspiration and ambition. Whitney Cummings was a farmer, first on his father's farm, later in West Sumner, and afterwards in Buckfield. At various dates he owned and operated all the different mills in West Sumner, and was postmaster from April 1837 to August 1855. He held also some of the town offices, and was for many years a deacon in the Baptist Church. His oldest child, Isabella, was married to Joseph Sprague Ingraham of Bangor, Me., and they were the parents of the writer of this memoir. His second child, Prentiss, is the subject of this memoir. A third child, Mellen, died young.†

Prentiss Cummings received his early education in the public schools, and at the age of fourteen began work in the office of the Oxford Democrat, where he remained for three years. He then entered upon a college preparatory course at the Hebron (Me.) Academy, and continued his studies at Phillips Academy, Exeter, N. H. Graduating at this school in 1860, he entered Harvard College, where he attained high honors, was elected to the fraternity of the Phi Beta Kappa in his Junior year, and received the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1864. The following year he was principal of the high school at Portland, Me., and began the study of law in the office of Nathan Webb, afterwards a judge of the United States District Court. In the autumn of 1865 he entered the Harvard Law School, and received there the degree of Bachelor of Laws in 1869. While a student in the Law School he was, in 1866, owing to some sudden changes in the Harvard teaching staff, unexpectedly appointed tutor in Latin in the College, and was in charge of the Latin work of the Sophomore Class until the winter of 1870, when he entered a law office in Boston. In the summer of 1870 he was admitted to the bar in Boston, and began the practice of his profession.

†For Isaac Cummings of Topsfield, Mass., and his descendants see Rev. George Mooar's The Cummings Memorial, New York, 1903, and Albert Oren Cummins's Cummings Genealogy, Montpelier, Vt., 1904.

From 1874 to 1880 he was chief assistant to the United States district attorney in Boston, and had almost exclusive charge of the legal business of the Government in this important district. A Republican in politics, he represented, in the years 1881, 1882, and 1883, Ward 10, the principal business ward of Boston, in the Boston Common Council, and in 1884 and 1885 he represented the same ward in the lower branch of the Massachusetts General Court. Still higher political honors came unsought to him a decade later, when, being then a resident of Brookline, Mass., he was elected for two successive years, 1905 and 1906, senator from the second Norfolk senatorial district. He declined a nomination for a third term. His far-reaching connections and associations—business, political, and social, together with his own abilities, made him a man of influence on Beacon Hill, and he always felt that his district was one which any man might be proud to represent.

For some fifteen years Mr. Cummings was prominent in street railway circles. In 1885 he was elected president of the Cambridge Railroad, and held this office until the consolidation of the company in 1887 with other Boston street railway companies as the West End Street Railway Company. He became vice-president of the new company, and continued in this position until the company was leased in 1897 to the Boston Elevated Railway Company. He was then advisory counsel of the last-mentioned company until the winter of 1900, when having reached the age of sixty years, he withdrew from further participation in its management.

In 1885 Mr. Cummings built a house in Brookline, which was thenceforth his home. He became active in town affairs, and was chairman of the School Committee, a trustee of the Public Library, and also a trustee of the local savings bank. From 1904 until his death he was president of the Mount Auburn Cemetery Corporation.

He was a member of the Brookline Thursday Club, and a member and at one time president of the Boston Browning Society. Before both of these organizations he read from time to time papers and lectures on scientific and literary subjects. His early interest in the ancient classics led him to specialize in Homer and Homeric literature, and in 1910 he published a translation of the Iliad, in hexameter verse. His interest in genealogy was stimulated by the fact that all his male ancestors of the Revolutionary period, both on his father's and his mother's side, who were of the right age for military service, took an active part in the struggle for independence, and by virtue of his descent from Dr. John Hart, previously mentioned in this article, he succeeded to membership in the Society of the Cincinnati. He not only served on the Council of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, but was a member of its Committee on Increase of Membership for the year 1909 and an occasional contributor to the Register. He was also a member of the Union Club of Boston and president of the Boston Chess Club. For lack of space his untiring deeds of kindness to every human being who came within the radius of his life must remain unrecorded.

Mr. Cummings married, 25 February 1880, Annie D. Snow of Cambridge, Mass., who died 5 January 1899, without issue.

EARLY VITAL RECORDS OF JEFFERSON, ME.

Communicated by Harold Lewis Bond of Newton, Mass.

The town of Jefferson, in Lincoln Co., Me., was incorporated in 1807. The first volume of the records of the town covers the period from the incorporation to 1819, and the second volume the period from 1819 to 1830. A small, thin, calf-covered book, entitled "Records of Births and Deaths in the Town of Jefferson, Lincoln County, State of Maine," is marked on the inside of the front cover as "Volume 3rd of Records." Most of the records in this third volume were evidently written about 1820, and the writer appears to have been James Sinclair, town clerk of Jefferson for a number of years, who was born in Scotland and whose family record is entered in the book. There are, however, many additions of later date. The volume is badly worn, as a result of frequent handling, and in some cases the dates are obscure. A copy of "Volume 3rd of Records," made with great care in 1898, was given in 1899 by Mr. Harold Lewis Bond to the New England Historic Genealogical Society, and the first part of it is printed below. The publication of these records will be continued in a future number of the Register.

TAXPAYERS IN WARRENSBURG, N. Y., 1814, 1816

From a copy of the assessment rolls in the possession of the New England Historic Genealogical Society

In the possession of the New England Historic Genealogical Society is a typewritten copy of two assessment rolls of the real and personal estate in the town of "Warrensburgh," Warren Co., N. Y., the first roll taken 24 June 1814 by Samuel Stackhouse, Isaac Woodward, and John McMillen, Assessors, and the second roll taken 28 June 1816 by Peleg Tripp, John Griffing, and Kitchel Bishop, Assessors. The first roll gives in separate columns the taxes assessed on the real and personal estate of each taxpayer, and in a third column his or her total tax. The second roll gives the assessments on each taxpayer's real and personal estate, but gives the total tax in only one instance. Below are printed the names of the persons assessed on these two rolls. A name followed by the date 1814 or 1816 in parentheses is found only on the roll for the year thus indicated. The other names occur on both rolls, the spelling of a name on the roll of 1814 being followed in parentheses by any variations in spelling found on the roll of 1816.

INSCRIPTIONS IN THE WAPPAQUIANS BURIAL GROUND, POMFRET, CONN., 1723–1861

FROM COPIES IN THE POSSESSION OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

THE earliest burial ground used by the settlers in Pomfret, Conn., was near the meeting house; but in 1719 the town voted "That the burying place be removed to a more convenient place," and accepted from Dea. Philemon Chandler the gift of two acres of land for that purpose, bounded north by Wappaquians Brook and east by the highway. The first person interred in the new burial ground is believed to have been Joseph Griffin, in 1723, one of the original proprietors of the Mashamoquet Purchase, which included the territory of the present towns of Pomfret, Brooklyn, and Putnam, and the parish of Abington, Conn.* Although it is supposed that more than 1500 persons were buried in this burial ground prior to 1862, the inscriptions which remain from that period make known the names of only about one-third of this number.

In 1862 two residents of Pomfret, Miss Ellen Holt (afterwards Mrs. Henry Chandler Bowen of Brooklyn, N. Y.) and her sister, Miss Marian Chandler Holt (afterwards Mrs. Edward Payson Mathewson of Pomfret), copied these inscriptions for their uncle, George Chandler, A.B., M.D., of Worcester, Mass., a native of Pomfret, an eminent physician, the compiler of the Chandler genealogy, and a member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society†. Dr. Chandler, who died in 1893, deposited a manuscript copy of these inscriptions with the Society, and in 1913 Henry Smith Mathewson, A.B., M.D., of Pomfret, a son of Mrs. Marian Chandler (Holt) Mathewson and also a member of the Society, presented to the Society a typewritten copy which he had made from another (perhaps the original) manuscript copy. The inscriptions printed below have been taken from Dr. Mathewson's typewritten copy, compared with Dr. Chandler's earlier manuscript copy. They have been arranged alphabetically for publication, but the original division into lines given in the typewritten copy has been disregarded, and verses or statements containing no genealogical or biographical information have been omitted.

MARRIAGE LICENSES IN PRINCE GEORGE'S COUNTY, MARYLAND, 1777–1824

From a certified copy in the possession of the New England Historic Genealogical Society

Several years ago the New England Historic Genealogical Society purchased, on the account of the John Harvey Treat Fund, a typewritten copy of the earliest marriage licenses issued in Prince George's County, Md. This copy, containing 104 pages, is followed by a page bearing the following certificate:

State of Maryland,
Prince George's County, Sct:

I hereby certify that the foregoing is truly taken and copied from the several Marriage License Records of said County, commencing with the earliest Marriage License Record extant, (May 31st., 1777) and ending April 30th., 1824. In testimony whereof, I hereto set my hand and affix the seal of the Circuit Court for the County aforesaid, this 15th. day of May, 1893.

[Seal of Circuit Court for Prince George's County, Maryland.] [Signed] John W. Belt, Clerk.

In this typewritten copy a few mistakes of the typist have been corrected with pen and ink, apparently before certification. There are also here and there additions, suggestions about doubtful readings, and queries, in ink or in pencil, and these have been enclosed in brackets in the text of the printed copy given below or placed in footnotes. The word sic, in brackets, is inserted occasionally by the Editor to call attention to readings which may have been incorrectly copied from the original records.

The certified copy follows.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

By Henry Edwards Scott, A.B., Recording Secretary

Boston, Massachusetts, 2 January 1919. A stated meeting of the Society was held in Wilder Hall, 9 Ashburton Place, at 2.30 P.M., Vice-President Chase presiding.

The minutes of the December meeting were approved, and the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted, the Council reporting the names of seven persons who had been elected resident members.

On behalf of and by direction of the Council the Recording Secretary submitted certain proposed amendments to Articles 1, 2, and 3 of Chapter II of the By-Laws, and on motion these proposed amendments were referred to the Special Committee on Revision of the By-Laws, with a request for a report at the February meeting of the Society.

The Chair then presented the speaker of the afternoon, Fred E. Marble, Ph.D., of Cambridge, Mass., who gave a popular and entertaining paper entitled In the Wake of the War, which was illustrated with many interesting lantern slides.

After a vote of thanks to Dr. Marble the Chair declared the meeting dissolved, and a social hour in the tea room followed.

5 February. The annual meeting of the Society was held this day, for a report of which see the Supplement to the present number of the Register.

5 March. A stated meeting of the Society was held in Wilder Hall, 9 Ashburton Place, at 2.30 P.M., Vice-President Chase presiding.

The minutes of the annual meeting were approved, and the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted, the Council reporting the election of Charles William Eliot, LL.D., of Cambridge, Mass., as an honorary member of the Society, and the election of two resident members, whose names were read.

* To this entry additions have been made in pencil, so that the entry, including the additions reads: "Gen. Philip Stuart of Rev. War and Mary Fell Baynes 2nd wife."

A report of the Committee on Papers and Essays was read, which stated that Mrs. Belle Seavey Floyd had presented to the Society, for use in the smaller hall, an antique mahogany desk and a rare piece of Wedgwood, and on motion it was Voted, That the thanks of the Society be extended to Mrs. Floyd for her valuable gifts.

The Chair then presented, as the speaker of the afternoon, Capt. H. D. Cormerais, U.S.A., of the One Hundred and First Infantry, whose subject was The Training of the Twenty-Sixth Division. He emphasized the fact that the Twenty-Sixth Division, originally composed chiefly of members of the New England National Guard, was the first completely equipped division to go to France. He described its training in France and its experiences at the front, and paid a sincere tribute to General Edwards, whom he called "the soul of the Division." The audience showed its appreciation of Captain Cormerais's narrative by frequent applause, and by a unanimous vote the thanks of the Society were extended to him for his interesting and instructive address.

The Chair then declared the meeting dissolved, and the members of the Society, with their guests, enjoyed a social hour in the tea room.

2 April. A stated meeting of the Society was held in Wilder Hall, 9 Ashburton Place, at 2.30 P.M., President Baxter presiding.

The minutes of the March meeting were approved, and the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted, the Council reporting the election of Arthur Twining Hadley, LL. D., of New Haven, Conn., as an honorary member of the Society, and the election of eight resident members, whose names were read.

The Chair then presented, as the speaker of the afternoon, George William Tupper, Ph. D., of Brookline, Mass., who read an instructive and interesting paper on Backgrounds of Present-Day Immigration. Carefully selected lantern slides showed types of immigrants of many races who come to this country and also unique illustrations of their primitive homes in the Old World.

President Baxter made a few remarks on the necessity of restricting the immigration of undesirable aliens; and then, on motion of Hosea Starr Ballou, it was voted to extend to the speaker the thanks of the Society for his interesting address.

The Chair then declared the meeting dissolved, and the members of the Society, with their guests, enjoyed a social hour in the tea room.

NOTES

It having come to the attention of this Society that certain genealogists and publishers have used the name of the Society in connection with their own enterprises, the Society again desires to state that it has NO genealogical representatives in this country or in England, nor is it in any way connected with any publications other than those that it issues over its own name at 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

Banister.—In the Register, vol. 69, page 352, the only information given about Thomas[3] Banister (Thomas,[2] Thomas[1] of Boston, Mass.) is that he was born 2 June 1706, and that administration on the estate of Thomas Banister of Boston, mariner, was granted 14 June 1726 to John Crisde of Boston, gardiner, according to Suffolk Probate Records, vol. 24, page 523. The following additional facts concerning this Thomas Banister have recently been found.

On 19 June 1725, in the papers in a civil suit brought for Thomas[3] Banister against his uncle, Samuel Banister, the surviving executor of his (Thomas's) grandmother Sarah's will, for a bequest at his marriage or coming of age, it is stated that the said Thomas had contracted marriage "and for five or six months last past [had] been joined together in marriage with Rebecca—ye daughter of John Green of Bradford." . (Suffolk Court Files.) The Vital Records of Bradford (Mass.) show that Rebeckah Green, daughter of John and Rebeckah, was born 9 May 1701, that Sarah Banester, daughter of Thomas and Rebeca, was born 28 Dec. 1725, and died (as Sarah Bannester, daughter of Thomas and Rebecka) 25 Jan. 1729 (that is, 1728/9, the inscription on her gravestone stating that she died 25 Jan. 1728, aged 3 years, 6 weeks), and that Thomas Banister died 8 Feb. 1725/6. The manner of Thomas Banister's death is described in a deposition by Nathaniel Welsh, aged 30, which states that Banister and others sailed for Martinico (Martinique) 5 Feb. 1725/6, in the brigantine Katherine, of 130 tons, John Mainwaring, master, and that on 8 Feb., in latitude 39 North, that is, off the mouth of Delaware Bay, the vessel shipped a prodigious sea, which swept overboard the captain and several of the crew, including Thomas Banister. (Suffolk Probate Files.)

Cunningham-Jarvis-Hopkins.—On 11 July 1830 Sarah (Jarvis) Hopkins, wife of William Hopkins of West Jefferson, Me., wrote to her brother, John Jarvis of West Cambridge (now Arlington), Mass., as follows:

* The preceding entries are in one handwriting; but this entry and the two following entries are in different handwriting, although it is by no means certain that they were written by one and the same person.

† Andrew Blanchard and Mary Waters were married 14 Sept. 1786. (Vital Records of Medford, Mass.)

‡ This and the remaining entries are in still another handwriting.

"I have three children: Lucetta Hopkins Born May the 23, 1824, Elethera Hopkins Born Oct 8th 1826, John Jarvis Hopkins Born April 24th 1829, And he is as fine a Boy as there is in the State of Maine when he was five months Old he Weigh'd 25 pounds and run alone when he was Eight months. . . .

"I will give you as correctt an account as I can of Grandfathers family. Grandfather died January 9, 1815 Grandmother died February 18th 1825 Aged 82 yrs.

The mother of Mrs. Sarah (Jarvis) Hopkins was Sarah Cunningham, born 12 Jan. 1765 (see above). Sarah Cunningham was married in Boston, Mass., 7 Apr. 1793, to John Jarvis, 2d, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Thomas Baldwin, pastor of the Second Baptist Church.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE

HERALDRY.—The Committee on Heraldry of the New England Historic Genealogical Society strongly recommends that all coats of arms which can be proved to be authentic be offered for record with this Society. The arrangements for the making and preservation of such records are complete, and the volume of recorded arms has been begun by the entry therein of a number of well-authenticated coats. Printed forms and directions for the making of applications may be obtained from the Committee, and all communications on this subject should be addressed to the Committee on Heraldry, New England Historic Genealogical Society, 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

Without taking any position with reference to the propriety of assuming arms, the Committee will be glad to examine arms or heraldic devices which any person or organization desires to assume, and give advice as to whether the same are heraldically correct or whether they violate a right of exclusive use heretofore acquired by others.

* For the family of James Cunningham vide supra, p. 93 (Early Vital Records of Jefferson, Me.).

Alumni Cantabrigienses.—The following circular, dated at Caius College, Cambridge, 1 Feb. 1919, has been received from Dr. John Venn, F.R.S., of Vicarsbrook, Chaucer Road, Cambridge, by whom it is signed:

"A Notice has been issued, by the Cambridge University Press, that an Alumni Cantabrigienses is in preparation. It will be on the general lines of Mr Jos. Foster's well-known Alumni Oxonienses, but will be, it is hoped, in several respects more complete in its extent. It is, in fact, proposed to include every known Cambridge name, from the earliest historical date, i.e. from about 1250.

"The experience I have gained from similar work in the case of a single College (Gonville and Caius) has convinced me that much loss would be avoided if those interested in such an undertaking could send information before publication. What I have found is that after publication the compiler receives a large amount of useful information and many corrections when it is too late to make public use of them.

"What I would suggest is that every one who can supply facts about any Cambridge man, of a private kind, or which from any cause do not get into ordinary printed records, should communicate them to me. This would apply especially to family histories and pedigrees. Further assistance would be welcomed from those who have devoted attention to such special branches of research as county or parochial history, the records of any particular school or profession, members of Parliament, titled persons, etc. The sooner such information can be sent the better.

"These remarks apply especially to Part I of the work, 1250–1752, which contains nearly 80,000 names, as to many of which we have, at present, no further information beyond what is contained in the College Admission Registers and Graduati."

In a letter, dated 18 Apr. 1919, which accompanies the circular, Dr. Venn writes that he is sure that the circular will "meet with a response from many on your side of the water. . . . Cambridge played such an important part in the early life of New England that I hope to get many suggestions."

Vital Records of Vermont.—William Taft Slayton, M.D., of Morrisville, Vt., a member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, as Chairman of the Committee on Public Health in the Vermont House of Representatives, introduced in the recent session of the Legislature a bill to provide for the completion of the vital records of the State, and this bill was enacted into law and reads as follows:

No. 92. An Act to provide for the Completion of the Vital Records of the State and to require Town Clerks to transmit Certain Records to the Secretary of State.

It is hereby enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Vermont:

Section 1. The secretary of state shall, as soon as practicable after the passage of this act, ascertain from what towns and for what years complete returns of births, marriage and deaths have not been made to the state, or are not to be found among the records of his office, and shall convey this information to the clerks of such towns, together with suitable blanks upon which to make returns.

Sec. 2. Such town clerks shall, under the direction of the secretary of state, cause to be transcribed in full upon said blanks all records of births, marriages and deaths in the possession of the town, and churches, not already returned, and to transmit the same, properly certified, to the secretary of state within such reasonable time as may be allowed by him, and for such service the town clerk or person performing the service shall receive from the town the sum of five cents for each record so transcribed, certified and transmitted. If the death records of a town prior to 1870 are incomplete, the secretary of state shall notify the selectmen of said town to that effect. The selectmen of such town shall, before October 1, 1919, cause to be copied at the expense of the town under the direction of the secretary of state, the inscription[s] on all gravestones in their town erected to the memory of any person who died prior to 1870 so far as relates to name of deceased, date of death, age or date of birth, if given, and the name of the cemetery where buried and shall cause such records to be recorded in the town records. The secretary of state shall furnish the town clerk of said town suitable blank cards for the return of such records which shall be returned as before provided in this section, not later than January 1, 1920.

Sec. 3. All records returned in accordance with the provisions of this act shall be so filed and indexed as to be made readily available for reference.

Sec. 4. This act shall take effect from its passage.

Approved March 26, 1919.

In a letter transmitting a copy of the act Dr. Slayton writes: "You will note that it [the act] calls for the copying of all gravestone inscriptions bearing date prior to 1870, the death records of no towns prior to that date being complete, as well as all town and church records not previously returned to the Secretary of State."

Genealogies in Preparation.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

THE

HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL

REGISTER

JULY, 1919

HON. LOUIS ATWOOD COOK

By George Walter Chamberlain, M.S., of Malden, Mass.

Louis Atwood Cook of Weymouth, Mass., a resident member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society since 1907, died at his summer home at Bayside in Weymouth on Thursday, 16 May 1918, aged seventy-one years and twelve days. His last visit to the Society's building was made on 1 May 1918, when he attended the regular meeting of the Council, to which he had been elected, at the annual meeting of the Society on 6 February 1918, for the three years 1918–1920.

He was born at Blackstone, Mass., 4 May 1847, the elder son of Louis and Orinda Ballou (Cook) Cook, who were residents of that part of ancient Mendon which was set off, 25 March 1845, as the town of Blackstone. He was descended in at least five lines from Walter[1] Cook, who settled in Weymouth as early as 1643 and, with eleven other families, removed to the Quinshepaug Plantation, now the town of Mendon, in 1663. His direct paternal line from Walter[1] was through Nicholas,[2] Noah,[3] Ichabod,[4] Ichabod,[5] and Louis,[6] his father. His mother, Orinda Ballou Cook, was a daughter of Zimri and Olive W. (Allen) Cook, and his paternal grandmother, Louisa Cook, was a daughter of Thaddeus and Rhoda (Ballou) Cook, both mother and grandmother being of Mendon and being descendants of Walter[1] Cook. He also claimed descent from Keziah Cook, daughter of Noah[3] Cook by his second wife, Olive Gaskill. In fact, Judge Cook was often heard to remark that he was "well cooked." His Ballou line of descent was from Maturin[1] Ballou, who settled in Providence, R. I., as early as 1645, through James,[2] Obadiah,[3] Ezekiel,[4] Levi,[5] and Rhoda,[6] one of his great-grandmothers. Among his other ancestors were Benjamin Albee, an early settler of Braintree and Mendon, Mass., and Thomas Thayer, who came to Braintree from Thornbury in Gloucestershire, England.

Judge Cook's father was a teacher in a Friends' school at Providence, but his early death, before his elder son had attained the age of three years, gave that son the opportunity to become a self-made man. His boyhood was spent on the "Candlewood" farm in Blackstone. His early education was obtained in the public schools of Blackstone and at Woonsocket, R. I., and from the Woonsocket

High School he entered Phillips Exeter Academy, where he was graduated in 1869.

For several years he was a school-teacher, first at Bellingham and Blackstone, Mass., afterwards at Smithfield and Manville, R. I., and from 1872 on at Weymouth, where he was principal of the Bates Grammar School until he resigned this position to enter upon a larger service on 1 Jan. 1880.

While teaching he had taken up the study of law. Under the direction of Judge James Humphrey of Weymouth he continued this study, and was admitted to the bar in 1884. With William J. Coughlan and Daniel J. Coughlan he then formed the law firm of Cook and Coughlan, which had offices in Abington, South Weymouth, and Boston.

In 1896 he was appointed associate justice of the East Norfolk District Court, established at Quincy, and in November of the same year he was elected clerk of the Superior Court of Norfolk County, filling both positions with ability and satisfaction until the day of his death— a period of nearly twenty-two years. As a judge of the acts and omissions of his fellow men he showed a scrupulous regard for the established rules of evidence and allowed full time for the arguments of counsel, who were compelled to prepare each case with the greatest care. When he had patiently ascertained the facts, he endeavoured to apply the law thereto; and when his decision was rendered, the litigants felt that their cause had been fully heard.

In politics he was a Republican, and represented Weymouth in the General Court in 1880, 1889, and 1890. In 1892 he needed only one more vote to secure the nomination for the State Senate. As a member of the Legislature he was a strong man, upholding the principles of temperance and exercising great influence in the passage of the so-called "Screen Law."

As a public speaker Judge Cook was an earnest, forceful, and patriotic supporter of the best American ideals and institutions.

He was deeply interested in Colonial and family history, was vice-president of the Weymouth Historical Society, and had been president of the Mendon Historical Society. He made a special study of the history of the settlement of Weymouth, consulting original sources of information which the late Gilbert Nash and the late Charles Francis Adams and their associates had apparently not discovered. For more than twenty years he had been engaged in preparing a genealogy of the descendants of Walter[1] Cook. These valuable manuscripts, however, remain unpublished.

In 1914 Judge Cook visited England, to represent the town of Weymouth, Mass., at the ceremonies connected with the unveiling, in the borough of Weymouth in Dorsetshire, of a monument in memory of Richard Clark of Weymouth, master of the ship Delight, which accompanied Sir Humphrey Gilbert on his voyage to Newfoundland in 1583, and of John Endicott, Governor of the Colony of the Massachusetts Bay, who sailed in 1628 from that ancient seaport to the shores of New England. Judge Cook's reception on that occasion and his address, in which he extended to the English borough the greetings of its Massachusetts namesake, were prominent features of the celebration.

In his home town Judge Cook was for a long time a member of the Park Commission, he was a trustee of the Tufts Public Library, he served for eight years as a member of the School Committee—he had previously been for three years a member of the School Committee of Blackstone, and for twenty-six years he was elected moderator of the annual town meeting at Weymouth. He was prominent in the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and in other fraternal organizations, and in early life affiliated himself with the Union Congregational Church of South Weymouth, one of his last acts being to help in establishing a permanent union of the Union Church and the Old South Church—for years rivals—in the village of South Weymouth.

Like many men active in public life, he was at times bitterly assailed. In the face of attacks, however, he remained silent. No harsh words fell from his lips. Kindness overcame the bitterness of his enemies. He won.

He married, 22 February 1876, Lucinda Aldrich Clark, born at Smithfield, R. I., 29 November 1858, daughter of Joseph Stevens and Mercy Maria (Aldrich) Clark. Mrs. Cook survives her husband; and their three children, all of whom are living, are Louis Aldrich, B.A. (Yale, 1900), a lawyer, Sidney Rogers, B.A. (Yale, 1905), editor of The Canadian Weekly, which is published in Toronto, Canada, and Florence Maria, sometime a student at Vassar College and now a teacher of the Montessorri system of training children.

INSCRIPTIONS IN THE CEMETERY AT EAST BAKERSFIELD, VT.

Copied and communicated by Herbert Williams Denio, A.M., of New York City

The following inscriptions, all that are now to be found in the cemetery at East Bakersfield, Franklin Co., Vt., were copied verbatim on 19 Aug. 1918. In this copy words which appear entirely in capital letters on the gravestones have been reproduced with the initial letters only capitalized. The punctuation of the original inscriptions has been followed as closely as possible, but in doubtful cases the usual present-day punctuation has been given.

BURIALS IN THE BAPTIST CEMETERY, STEPHENTOWN, N. Y.

From a manuscript in the possession of the New England Historic Genealogical Society

The town of Stephentown, Rensselaer Co., N. Y., was formed 29 Mar. 1784 from Rensselaerswyck, and was named in honor of Stephen Van Rensselaer. It is situated in the southeastern corner of the county, and is bounded on the east by the town of Hancock, in Berkshire Co., Mass. The settlement of the territory now comprised in Stephentown began about 1765, the early settlers coming from Connecticut and Rhode Island. On the hill back of Stephentown Village is the Baptist cemetery, one of the oldest in the town, which was probably set apart as a burial ground about the time of the organization of the Baptist Church, that is, about 1795 or 1796. In this cemetery many of the early inhabitants of the town are buried.

In 1903 the late James Swift Rogers, A. B., a distinguished member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, presented to the Library of the Society a manuscript of twenty-nine pages, written in pencil, and bearing the heading "Names of persons buried in the Baptist cemetery in Stephentown, N. Y." It is evident that the manuscript does not contain a verbatim copy of the inscriptions in the cemetery, but it does give the names and dates found on the gravestones. The pencilled writing will in a few years become illegible, and the paper is far from durable; and therefore the contents of the manuscript are printed below, in order to ensure their preservation.

Much information about the settlement of Stephentown and the families of the early settlers is given in Sylvester's "History of Rensselaer Co., New York," published in Philadelphia in 1880, pages 491–501, and six inscriptions in the Baptist cemetery, printed verbatim in that volume, have been substituted in this article for the briefer statements found in the Rogers manuscript. Another inscription, that in memory of Capt. Israel Platt, which does not appear at all in the manuscript, is reproduced verbatim from the "History," and from that book also the death record of Caleb Saunders has been taken. Probably some of the inscriptions which were legible when the "History" was compiled had already disappeared when the facts given in the Rogers manuscript were collected.

It should be stated that the Rogers manuscript apparently makes no distinction between such expressions as "aged 58 years" and "in the 58th year of his age."

CEMETERY INSCRIPTIONS AT AUBURN AND TURNER, ME.

Copied by WINTHROP ALEXANDER of Roxbury, Mass.

THE inscriptions given below were copied in 1910, and include all the inscriptions extant at that time in the three cemeteries visited. In each of these cemeteries, however, were several rough, unlettered stones, indicating graves.

FROM AN OLD CEMETERY IN TURNER, ME.

[This cemetery is situated at the foot of Dillingham Hill, which was formerly a part of Turner, later belonged to Minot, and is now in Auburn, Me. The cemetery is on the north side of the hill, in the town of Turner, just across the line from Auburn. It is near the village of North Auburn. Most of the people buried in this cemetery lived on Dillingham Hill. No interments are now made here, and several bodies have been removed to the new cemetery at North Auburn.]

Martin Bradford, Jr., died Feb. 22, 1833, aged 44 years.
Mary, wife of Martin Bradford, Jr., died Jan. 7, 1835, aged 41 years, 9 months.

NOTES

It having come to the attention of this Society that certain genealogists and publishers have used the name of the Society in connection with their own enterprises, the Society again desires to state that it has NO genealogical representatives in this country or in England, nor is it in any way connected with any publications other than those that it issues over its own name at 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

George Hall's Letter to his Sister.—Richard Hall of Boston, Gentleman, one of several Richard Halls who lived in Boston in the first half of the eighteenth century,* in his will, dated 19 Apr. 1744 and proved 3 July 1744, mentions his sons John, George, Richard, William, Charles, and James, and his daughters Constance Woodhouse and Mary Hall. The son James and the daughter Mary were executors of the will. (Suffolk Probate Records, vol. 37, fo. 185.) James married in Boston, 11 May 1749, Mary Lincoln, both he and his bride being called of Hingham

*For records of various Richard Halls in Boston see Publications of The Colonial Society of Massachusetts, vol. 14, pp. 400–405.

(Boston Marriages, 1700–1751, page 250). He was a poll-tax payer in Hingham in 1749, and an account of him and of his children and grandchildren may be found in the "History of the Town of Hingham," vol. 2, pages 283–284. The statement there made, however, that James was probably related to the Halls of Dorchester or Taunton, must be regarded as incorrect. James's sister Constance married in Boston, 12 July 1726, William Woodhouse (Boston Marriages, 1700–1751, page 136). What became of five of the six other children of Richard Hall of Boston, viz., John, Richard, William, Charles, and Mary, has not been discovered; but the letter given below accounts for the disappearance of their brother George from the New England records, showing that he was in North Carolina in 1751, was then married, and had a son named James. According to the United States Census of 1790 there was at that time, in the region from which the letter was written, a James Hall, and he may have been the son mentioned in the letter.

The letter is printed from a copy of a copy made by the late Hattie M.[6] Hall of Everett, Mass., whose father, George[5] Hall (George[4] of Cohasset, James[3] of Hingham, James[2] of Hingham, Richard[1] of Boston), was a brother of Henry K.[5] Hall, late of Chelsea, Mass., the father of the contributor of this note. The letter follows:

Loving Sister
Having this oppertunity to write unto you I send these few lines to you to acquant you that I am in good health hoping you are in the Same. I here my father is dead & I Desire you to Send me word how his Estate was manged & if there was anything left me I Desire you would send it to me & Derect it to be Left @ Wm Wym in Carbee North Carolina upon Chowan River. pray Remember my love to my Brothers & to the rest of my friends no more @ present but your Loving Brother til death
March 15th 1751. George Hall.
I am married I got one Son & his Name is James.

Winslow, Wash. James Winslow Hall.

Ancestry of Hon. Andrew Dickson White, LL.D., D.C.L.—In the memoir of the late Hon. Andrew Dickson White, LL.D., D.C.L., an honorary member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, which was published in the Supplement to the Register of April 1919, the following statement is made (page lxi): "A tradition that he was descended from Peregrine White of the Mayflower he never took pains to verify; but his grandparents, early settlers in New York, were from Massachusetts—Asa White from Monson and Andrew Dickson from Middlefield."

This was, indeed, substantially all that was known by Mr. White regarding his ancestry at the time (1905) when he published his "Autobiography," but much more was learned during the later years of his life. In that very summer of 1905 the writer of this communication, acting on the wish of a daughter of Mr. White to know more of her father's ancestral line, spent his vacation in New England, and, with the solid aid of land and probate records, traced Mr. White's paternal ancestry back to the seventeenth century. Mr. White was himself much interested, and in the last vigorous summer of his life visited some of the homes of his ancestors, learning at Guilford, Conn., the home of his maternal grandmother, Ruth Hall, her full American pedigree. His paternal line is as follows:

He was a descendant of John[1] White, who a little before the middle of the seventeenth century, in partnership with James Phips, father of Sir William Phips, bought a large tract of land at Nequasset (now Woolwich), Me., on the eastern side of the Kennebec River, opposite the present city of Bath. After the death of James Phips this John White married his widow, Mary, and became by her the father of eight children. One of these children, Philip[2] White, later of Beverly, Mass., was through his descendants, Andrew,[3] Andrew,[4] Asa,[5] Asa,[6] and Horace,[7] the ancestor of Andrew Dickson[8] White.

In an article entitled "James Lane of North Yarmouth, Me., and His Descendants," contributed to the Register of April 1888 (vol. 42) by Rev. James P. Lane, it is asserted (page 152), on the authority of William M. Sargent, Esq., of Portland, Me., now deceased, an able student of Maine genealogy, that John White of Nequasset was "the son of Nicholas White . . . , who in 1639 was employed by Trelawney in fishing voyages" and who later owned lands in Casco Bay. There is, however, grave reason to doubt this parentage.

Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y. GEORGE LINCOLN BURR.

ANCESTRY OF ELIZABETH, WIFE OF THOMAS GROSSE.—So far as the writer is aware, no one has hitherto offered any proof of the maiden name of Elizabeth, wife of Thomas[3] Grosse (Clement,[2] Isaac[1]) of Boston. The suggestion that she was a Harrison must now be given up. She named her first three children Hannah, Elizabeth, and Abigail. Now Nicholas and Hannah (Salter) Phillips had three children thus named, who, with their sister Sarah, were all baptized together 6, 3 mo. 1666 (Boston Births, Baptisms, Marriages, and Deaths, 1630–1699, page 102), and this gives a possibility to be proved or disproved.

In 1679 a parcel of dry goods, bought in Boston, was lost in transit by water to Ipswich, and the owner, Roger Darby, who had married in 1668 Lucretia Hillman, sued the carrier, Samuel[3] Dutch (Robert,[2] Osman[1]), who had married in 1673 Abigail Giddings. Among the fourteen papers preserved about this interesting case are two depositions of importance (Suffolk Court Files, 1894). On 21 Apr. 1680 "Abigaill Phillips, aged eighteen years or thereabouts, Testifieth and Saith that some short time before the late great fire in Boston, the sayd deponent then Keeping here sister Grosses shop did sell to Dutch of Ipswich three p'cells of blew lening," etc. Samuel[3] Dutch, it may be said, born in 1650, was a grandson of Richard Kimball of Rattlesden, co. Suffolk, Eng., and Abigail Phillips's grandfather, George Salter, also was of Rattlesden. On the same date, 21 Apr. 1680, "Elizabeth Grosse, aged twenty six yeares or thereabouts testifieth and saith that Mrs. Darby of Ipswich came to me the sd. deponent, And Asked me whether the Dutches did buy of me any goods since the fire in Boston and I answered her that they had bought none that I knew of but what they might buy of my sister Abigaill Phillips who sometime kept my shop," etc. Elizabeth Phillips was born 24 Feb. 1652/3 (Boston Births, Baptisms, Marriages, and Deaths, 1630–1699, page 36), and her sister Abigail was born 20 Feb. 1662 [1661/2] (Savage).

Now we know of no Grosse in Boston in 1680, with wife Elizabeth, except Thomas[3] (Clement,[2] Isaac[1]), born before 1649. This is the Thomas Grosse of Suffolk Deeds, lib. 24, fo. 262: 10 Feb. 1692, "Thomas Pemberton of Boston, Barber Chyrurgeon, and Hannah his wife, one of the daughters of Nicholas Phillips, late of Boston, Victualler, dec'd; Christopher Goffe of Boston, marriner, and Abigail his wife, one other of the dec'd's daughters; John Smith of Boston, marriner, and Sarah his wife, another of the deceased's daughters; and Thomas Phillips of Boston, Taylor, son of said dec'd, and Mary [(Howard)] his wife" sell to "Thomas Gross of the same Boston, shopkeeper, a peice or parcel of land, on part of which standeth the tenement or dwelling of him, said Gross, on Conduit St. [later Ann Street, now North Street.] The above named covenant that they are the true sole and lawful owners of all afore bargained premisses." Lastly, "John Ruggles victualler, and Hannah his present wife, heretofore the relict widow of the sd. Nicholas Phillips, and mother of his aforesaid surviving children," agree and consent. Though dated 10 Feb. 1692, this deed was not recorded till 2 Dec. 1709. This is the land referred to in Suffolk Court Files, 4404, 22 Dec. 1697, as sold to Nicholas Phillips by James Everill on 25 May 1666, but the deed was not recorded till 2 Dec. 1709 (Suffolk Deeds, lib. 24, fo. 261).

Abigail Phillips, born in 1662, married (1) about 1687 Christopher Goffe, who died 1 May 1699 (Boston Births, Baptisms, Marriages, and Deaths, 1630–1699, page 252); she married (2) 28 Oct. 1699 (ib.) Samuel[3] Wentworth (Samuel,[2] William[1]), born in 1666. Her daughter Rachel Goffe, born 2 Mar. 1694/5 (ib., page 214), married (1) 15 Nov. 1711 William Partridge (Boston Marriages, 1700–1751, page 36), and (2) 10 Aug. 1721 Francis Gatcomb (ib., page 100). Widow Rachel (Goffe) Gatcomb in her will, proved 24 Nov. 1752 (Suffolk Probate Records, vol. 47, fo. 144), leaves first of all a sum of money to her "beloved kinswoman Huldah Grosse." This Huldah Grosse, daughter of Thomas[3] and Elizabeth (Phillips) Grosse, was born 13 Sept. 1685 (Boston Births, Baptisms, Marriages, and Deaths, 1630–1699, page 165), and was first cousin of Rachel (Goffe) Gatcomb. All the evidence, then, is cumulative and points in one direction.

The line of Hannah Salter, wife of Nicholas Phillips, can be traced back, through her mother, for five generations. Elizabeth[4] Winthrop (William[3] and Elizabeth (Norwood), Adam,[2] Adam[1]), first cousin of Gov. John[4] Winthrop (Adam,[3] Adam,[2] Adam[1]), was baptized 24 Apr. 1569, and her will was proved 17 Oct. 1631. She married Rev. Humphrey[4] Munning (Humphrey,[3] Thomas,[2] Henry[1]), Rector of Brettenham, co. Suffolk, Eng. Their daughter, Elizabeth[5] Munning, married at Rattlesden, co. Suffolk, 29 Oct. 1617, George Salter, as is noted in the diary of Adam[3] Winthrop. (Cf. also REGISTER, vol. 57, page 331.) The will of George Salter of Dedham, co. Essex, Eng., grazier, dated 7 Sept. 1653 and proved 18 July 1654 (ib., vol. 48, page 128), and that of his widow, Elizabeth, of the same place, dated 1 Dec. 1660 and proved 15 June 1662 (ib., vol. 55, page 107), both mention, with other children, daughters Abigail and Hannah, both in New England, the will of their mother naming them as Abigail Hammond and Hannah Phillips.

Hannah[2] Salter, called Anne in the baptismal record at Rattlesden, 19 Dec. 1630 (ib., vol. 57, page 331), married (1) in Boston, 4, 10 mo. 1651, Nicholas Phillips (Boston Births, Baptisms, Marriages, and Deaths, 1630–1699, page 34), whose ancestry is unknown. He is called shopkeeper and, later, victualler, and died Tuesday, 15 Mar. 1669/70 (Suffolk Probate Records, vol. 7, fo. 37). The inventory of his estate amounted to £400. 15s. 9d. Widow Hannah (Salter) Phillips married (2) before 3 Nov. 1671, when their daughter Ruth was born (Boston Births, Baptisms, Marriages, and Deaths, 1630–1699, page 120), John[2] Ruggles (Samuel[1] of Boston), who died after 10 Feb. 1692 (Suffolk Deeds, lib. 24, fo. 262) and before 5 May 1696 (ib. lib. 47, fo. 255). "Hanah Rugles Died Janr. 3," 1696/7 (Boston Births, Baptisms, Marriages, and Deaths, 1630–1699, page 230).

Thomas[3] Grosse died after 10 Feb. 1692 (Suffolk Deeds, lib. 24, fo. 262) and prior to 9 Oct. 1695, the date of the marriage intention of his widow, Elizabeth, and Joseph Eldridge (Boston Marriages, 1700–1751, page 348). She was the second wife of Joseph Eldridge. Widow Elizabeth Eldridge administered the estate of Joseph Eldridge, mariner, 8 Feb. 1697/8 (Suffolk Probate Records, vol. 8, fo. 95). The inventory, 12 May 1698, amounted to £1281. 5s. 10d., and mentions plate belonging to her former husband, Thomas Grosse (ib., vol. 8, fo. 167).

Widow Elizabeth Eldridge married (3) 13 May 1699 (Boston Births, Baptisms, Marriages, and Deaths, 1630–1699, page 251) Elias Heath, merchant, who figures in Dunton's letters. His will was proved 8 Nov. 1706 (Suffolk Probate Records, vol. 16, fo. 198).

Widow Elizabeth Heath married (4) 29 Dec. 1709 (Boston Marriages, 1700–1751, page 21) Francis Burroughs, merchant. In his will, proved 11 Dec. 1713 (Suffolk Probate Records, vol. 18, fo. 199), he mentions "Huldah Grosse, unmarried daughter of my said wife Elizabeth," as well as his wife's married daughters.

Widow Elizabeth Burroughs administered the estate of her son, Thomas[4] Grosse, 28 Mar. 1719/20, his widow, Phebe, giving a release in her favor (Suffolk Probate Records, vol. 21, fo. 674). From Suffolk Deeds, lib. 53, fo. 209, 5 Jan. 1736, it is clear that Elizabeth Burroughs was then dead; therefore Elizabeth Phillips, born 24 Feb. 1652/3 and four times wedded, died later than 28 Mar. 1719/20 and prior to 5 Jan. 1736.

Of the daughters of Thomas[3] Grosse, Hannah married Nathaniel[2] Halsey (James[1]), Elizabeth married John [2] Greenough (William[1] and Ruth Swift), Abigail married Joseph Shippen, Mary married John[2] Phillips (Henry[1] of Dedham), and Jerusha married John[3] Fayerweather (John,[2] Thomas[1]); his only son, Thomas[4] Grosse, married Phebe[2] Penhallow (1695–1775), daughter of Samuel[1] and Mary (Cutts). The identification of the wife of Thomas[3] Grosse as Elizabeth[2] Phillips will therefore be of some interest to descendants in these families.

Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio. ARTHUR WINFRED HODGMAN.

FRY-BROOKE.—Capt. Richard Fry of Boston was one of the early paper makers of New England, and a petition, dated 22 June 1739, from him to the Governor and General Court of the Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England, together with other information about him, may be found in REGISTER, vol. 29, pages 159–162. In the petition of 22 June 1739 he mentions "his New England born son, James Brook Fry." On 27 Aug. 1745 administration was granted in Boston to Martha Frye on the estate of her husband, Richard Frye, paper maker, of Boston. On 18 Feb. 1749 [1749/50, intention 23 Dec. 1749] Robert Hewes and Ann Frey were married in King's Chapel, Boston. On 30 May 1751 Robert Hewes, tanner, of Boston, was appointed guardian of his sister-in-law, Martha Frye, a minor aged about ten years, daughter of Richard Frye late of Boston, paper maker, to receive her portion of an estate from her uncle, James Brooke of London, deceased. On 20 June 1762 Shubael Hewes, nephew of Robert Hewes, married Martha Frye. Their oldest child was Ann Frye Hewes and their sixth child was Richard Brooke Hewes. The following letter, found among the Hewes Papers, which are now deposited with the Bostonian Society, furnishes information about the English relatives of this family.

I have my Dear Cousin nearly Arrived to the Age of 63, and as I grow in Years I bless God, the World grows daily more Insipid then Ever to me; Although by his Great Mercy I Enjoy all the Comforts of this Life. Health— and a full Competency of all other blessings Your Brother Botley is Dead, but left no Family, Your sister Rebecca Botley, who Married one Gough, I suppose is living, but have not seen her for Years. She having been so Unfortunate in her Marriage that its not really reputable to call on her; but I hear she has no family, therefore I hope her care is not great. Our Cousin Wright is Dead, therefore our family is reduced to three only, You, Rebecca Gough, & self As to the Younger Branch of the Family they are as follows; Wm Gill, I think has 7 Children and whose Wife Died about two Months ago, he is in a very Prosperous way, Thos Wright his Wife and one Child, he gets money as I am told very fast. Jams Wright his Wife and one Child, lives in Content on his Fortune, Mrs Batup and her Husband, lives at Maidstone retired from business has no Children, Mrs Baker and her Husband lives at Greenwich, on their fortune, has no family. Mrs Trice and her Husband, follows the business of a Pastericook, at Seven-Oaks in Kent but has I am afraid but little business, has one Child, who I hear is put out an Apprentice, to a Stationer, by his Uncle Thos Wright, who is very good to him and them, I find You have four Grand Children, and a Daughter. I will Pray to God to bless them and You; and although, I have not wrote to You for a long time, my thoughts are often on You, and my Wishes for You and Yours Prosperity I hope will never cease, so long as I have Existence. I am with the truest Affection.

Your sincere Friend and Kinsman.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE

HERALDRY.—The Committee on Heraldry of the New England Historic Genealogical Society strongly recommends that all coats of arms which can be proved to be authentic be offered for record with this Society. The arrangements for the making and preservation of such records are complete, and the volume of recorded arms has been begun by the entry therein of a number of well-authenticated coats. Printed forms and directions for the making of applications may be obtained from the Committee, and all communications on this subject should be addressed to the Committee on Heraldry, New England Historic Genealogical Society, 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

Without taking any position with reference to the propriety of assuming arms, the Committee will be glad to examine arms or heraldic devices which any person or organization desires to assume, and give advice as to whether the same are heraldically correct or whether they violate a right of exclusive use heretofore acquired by others.

Genealogies in Preparation.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

Goodwin.—Daniel, born in England, died at South Berwick, Me., in 1712 (?), by John Hayes Goodwin, South Berwick, Me.

ANDREW CARNEGIE, LL.D.

By Lawrence Brainerd of Cambridge, Mass.

From the active arena of affairs in which he was long so dominant a factor, Andrew Carnegie, LL.D., Laird of Skibo, humanitarian, and world-famed philanthropist, has passed on to that reward which, in human judgment, is so fittingly his due. The end came at Shadowbrook, his summer home at Lenox in the Berkshires, on 11 August 1919. Scarcely could the death of any other citizen, in strictly unofficial life, have caused a greater note of sorrow or received more attentive consideration on the part of the American public.

Andrew Carnegie was born, amid humble surroundings but of eminently respected parentage, at Dunfermline, Fifeshire, Scotland, 25 November 1835. The incidents of his boyhood life, his experience as a weaver—the occupation of his immediate forbears, and his development until his arrival, at the age of thirteen, in America are too well known to demand minute review or elaboration of detail in a brief memoir of this unique, versatile, and admittedly remarkable man of genius.

It has been aptly said that the achievements of his business career and the accumulation of his great material fortune are symbolic of the possibilities of American commercialism; but the generous distribution of this vast wealth, the wisdom and sagacity of his noble benefactions, furnish a lesson unlimited by any national boundaries or standards, and show the giver to have been the disciple of a remarkable altruism and truly "One who loved his fellow men."

His was not a flagrant or vulgar philanthropy, but a striking evidence of careful deliberation and intelligent discrimination as to the expediency and need of each individual cause which came under the spell of his almost unbounded liberality.

His first American home was in Pittsburgh, Pa., a city which became, largely through his efforts and activities, one of the great steel centres of the world. His career in the land of his adoption reads indeed like a romance, for the poor immigrant youth of 1848 was destined in four decades to become, through his own sincerity of purpose and indomitable energy, one of the great international captains of industry, the world's leading producer of steel, and the possessor of a private fortune exceeded only by that of one other American.

During the dark days of the great struggle for the preservation of the Union, Mr. Carnegie was appointed director of Government railways and telegraphs in the East, and discharged the duties of this important post with the highest acceptance.

His first actual venture in the iron market was an investment of $1,500, borrowed money, in 1865; and thirty-six years later, in 1901, upon his retirement from business activities, he sold his private interests in the steel industry to the United States Steel Corporation for a sum exceeding one-quarter of a billion.

It is conservatively estimated that Mr. Carnegie's gifts to charitable institutions, libraries, and public foundations during his lifetime exceeded $350,000,000.

He established the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, with a total fund of $15,000,000, the scope of which includes the promotion and efficiency of educational work and the pensioning of college professors. In 1911 he capitalized this educational benevolence so that his benefactions might continue after his decease, by establishing the Carnegie Corporation, with a fund of $25,000,000. One of his greatest and most ardent ideals was the abolition of war; and he contributed $10,000,000 towards an international Peace Fund and built the Peace Palace at The Hague, which was dedicated in 1913. His establishment of the Carnegie Hero Fund, providing medals and pensions for acts of heroism, was another notable and unique conception of his benevolent mind. His gifts were not confined to America alone, but foreign lands and particularly his beloved mother country profited by his substantial charities.

Mr. Carnegie was deeply interested in music, and provided hundreds of churches and other institutions with costly organs. One of his earliest gifts was the Carnegie Music Hall in New York, which cost $2,000,000; and as president of the New York Philharmonic Society he gave large sums for the furtherance of this society's ideals.

In 1901 he established his legal home in New York City, where, at the corner of Fifth Avenue and Ninetieth Street, he built a dignified and costly mansion. In the same year, also, he purchased the celebrated Skibo Castle in Scotland. This charming estate, containing an acreage of many square miles along the Highland coast of his native land, was the summer home of Mr. Carnegie for several years. As master of his baronial structure he was affectionately called "the Laird of Skibo." An interesting detail in the appointments of this Scottish home is the fact that at Mr. Carnegie's personal dictation the main flagstaff of the castle flew to the breeze both the Stars and Stripes of the land of his adoption and the Union Jack of the land of his nativity.

Mr. Carnegie's name was not unknown in the world of letters, and his contributions to literature were of a varied character. His books numbered some twelve or more. His first production, a testimony to his love of coaching, appeared in 1883, under the title of "An American Four-in-Hand in Great Britain." The following year he wrote "Around the World," a book of travel. This was followed by "Triumphant Democracy," "The Gospel of Wealth," "The Empire of Business," and "The Life of James Watt," the inventor of the steam engine. The most recent production of his pen was "Problems of Today."

Numerous honors and decorations were bestowed upon Mr. Carnegie by rulers and people all over the world. In recognition of his princely benefactions, he received the freedom of scores of cities in Great Britain and Ireland. He was lord rector of the University of St. Andrews from 1903 to 1907 and of the University of Aberdeen from 1912 to 1914; and was honored with the degree of Doctor of Laws by the Universities of Edinburgh, Glasgow, Birmingham, and Manchester in Great Britain, by McGill University in Canada, and by Brown University, the University of Pennsylvania, and Cornell University in the United States.

He belonged to numerous philosophical, civic, and scientific bodies, among them the American Institute of Architects, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the American Institute of Mining Engineers, the National Civic Federation, the American Philosophic Society, and the New York Chamber of Commerce. He was a commander of the Legion of Honor of France and had also received the Grand Crosses, Order of Orange Nassau and Order of Danebrog. He was a member of the Union League, New York Yacht, Authors', Lotos, St. Andrews Riding, and Indian Harbor Yacht Clubs. Shortly before his death he accepted an invitation to become a Pilgrim Tercentenary member of the New Eng and Historic Genealogical Society, thus showing his high appreciation of the work of this institution and giving fresh proof of his devotion to the ideals of the founders of American democracy.

On 22 April 1887, at the age of fifty-one, Mr. Carnegie was united in marriage to Louise, daughter of the late John R. Whitfield, Esq., and Frances (Davis) Whitfield of New York City. The ceremony was performed at the home of Mrs. Carnegie's mother, No. 35 West Forty-eighth Street. Mrs. Carnegie, her husband's junior by twenty years, is a native of New York, and enjoys membership in the Huguenot Society of America and the Dorothy Whitfield Society. The domesticity of Mr. and Mrs. Carnegie was one of tranquillity and sympathetic understanding. In addition to his widow, Mr. Carnegie is survived by an only daughter, Margaret, who on 23 April of this year became the wife of Ensign Roswell Miller, U. S. N., of Millbrook, N. Y.

The passing of this distinguished man brought forth expressions of grief from the press of all countries and messages of sympathy from the rulers of the Old World and from prominent state officials in America, but the highest and most enduring tribute to his memory comes and will continue to come in all ages from the great rank and file of mankind, the beneficiaries of his gifts, who will wreathe his grave with joy and write the happiness he gave.

EARLY VITAL RECORDS OF COLRAIN, MASS.

From a manuscript in the possession of the New England Historic Genealogical Society

The plantation of Colrain, Mass., was incorporated as a town in 1761, being then in Hampshire County. In 1811, with twenty-three other towns, it was set off from Hampshire County to form Franklin County. The following records relating to the early families of Colrain were copied in 1888 from the town records by William O. Taylor of Shelburne Falls, Mass., and were presented by him to the New England Historic Genealogical Society in 1896. In printing these records the customary abbreviations have been used for the names of the months, and present-day punctuation has been supplied.

RECORDS OF THE FIRST CHURCH OF MOUNT DESERT, MAINE, 1792–1867

Communicated by Belvin Thomas Williston of Somerville, Mass.

The first permanent English settlement on the island of Mount Desert was made in 1762, when Abraham Somes of Gloucester, Mass., who had made a trip to the island in the preceding year for barrel staves, came back with his wife and four children and built a log house near the head of Somes Sound. Other settlers followed, and in 1776 they began to hold district meetings, in accordance with an act of the Massachusetts General Court authorizing unincorporated plantations in Maine to hold meetings, choose officers, and transact business "as if they were incorporated into a town." On 17 Feb. 1789 the Plantation of Mount Desert was incorporated as the Town of Mount Desert, the territory of the new town comprising the entire island of Mount Desert with the smaller islands adjacent. On 23 Feb. 1796 the northern portion of the town was set off as the Town of Eden. On 16 Mar. 1830 the Cranberry Islands with some neighboring isles were set off from Mount Desert and incorporated as the Town of Cranberry Isles. On 3 June 1848 the southern part of Mount Desert was incorporated as the Town of Mansel, a name which was changed, 8 Aug. 1848, to Tremont. This last-mentioned town was divided in Feb. 1905, when the eastern part was set off and incorporated as the Town of Southwest Harbor. Five towns, therefore, now occupy the territory which in 1789 was incorporated as the Town of Mount Desert.*

It was thirty years after the first English settlement on the island and more than three years after the incorporation of the town that the first church was organized, 17 Oct. 1792. "Without the aid of council and without any minister present, but following instructions furnished by a Rev. Samuel McClintock of Greenland, N. H., eight women and six men, living at or near Southwest Harbor, subscribed their names to a covenant and organized as the Mount Desert Congregational Church. It was two years more before they were visited by an ordained minister, Rev. Samuel Eaton of Harpswell, when they adopted a new covenant and observed for the first time the Lord's Supper."†

From the records of this church the following entries have been extracted by Miss Mary Ann Carroll of Southwest Harbor, who has served as clerk of the church since 1867. Maiden names of some of the married women have been supplied by Miss Carroll and have been, with the usual parentheses to indicate them, enclosed in brackets. Other information given by Miss Carroll has been placed in footnotes.

A Record of the Church of Christ in the Town of Mount desert

The Gethering and forming of a Church in the Town of Mount desert and the Procedings thereof begain on October the 17th Day in the year of our Lord 1792 . . .

having Received Instruction from the Revrend Mr Samuel Macclintock with a Covenant—a number of us appinted the 17th Day of October in the year of our Lord 1792 for a Day of fasting and Prayer; for the Purpose of forming our Selves into a Church & Profess to take Christ for our head.

Accordingly being assembled and meet together we Signed the following Covenant . . .

in testimony of our free and full consent to this Declaration profession and

*It should be stated, also, that Thompson's Island, lying in Mount Desert Narrows between Mount Desert Island and the mainland, was, with a small portion of Mount Desert Island, set off from Eden, 27 June 1849, and annexed to Trenton on the mainland. In 1838 an ephemeral town called Seaville was formed out of Bartlett's Island and other islands lying west of Mount Desert; but on 24 Feb. 1859 the act of incorporation was repealed, Bartlett's Island was restored to the town of Mount Desert, and Hardwood and Tinker's Islands were annexed to Tremont.

†Mount Desert, by the late Rev. George E. Street, D.D., pp. 231–232. From this book most of the information given above has been taken, and to it the reader is referred for an instructive and entertaining history of the island and for genealogies of some of the early settlers. A list of intentions of marriage in Mount Desert, 1789–1809, may be found in Bangor Historical Magazine, vol. 5, pp. 143–145.

Engadgment we have subscribed our; this 17 Day of October in the year 1792

THOMAS WAITE OF PORTSMOUTH, R. I., AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS

By G. Andrews Moriarty, Jr., A.M., LL.B., of Newport, R. I.

This article does not purport to be in any sense of the word a complete account of the Waite family of Rhode Island, but is a compilation from notes made some years since in a somewhat extended investigation of the earlier members of this family, during which fairly complete information was gathered concerning the earlier generations. In the course of this investigation it was found that the printed accounts of the family, including that given by Austin in his "Genealogical Dictionary of Rhode Island," were so confused and inaccurate as to be of little service to the investigator, while in addition sundry errors and misreadings in Arnold's "Vital Record of Rhode Island" did not tend to help matters. The object of this article, therefore, is solely to aid such persons as may have occasion to investigate the earlier generations of this family and to save them from the confusion that the writer encountered in his own investigations.

1. Thomas[1] Waite of Portsmouth, R.I., husbandman, born, probably in England, about 1615, died shortly before 14 Dec. 1669. He married ELEANOR ———, who survived him and was living 14 Dec. 1669 (see below).

Nothing is known with certainty in regard to the English antecedents of Thomas Waite, but he may be identical with Thomas, sixth son of Samuel and Mary (Ward) Waite of Wethersfield, co. Essex, England, who were the progenitors of the Waites of Malden, Mass.* The recurrence of the same Christian names in both families tends to confirm this view.

On 1 July 1639 he was granted land at Portsmouth. On 16 Mar. 1641 he was admitted a freeman of that town, and received further grants there of land in 1644 and 1646. On 8 July 1650 he was a juryman. On 7 June 1658, and again in 1663, he was chosen constable. On 30 Apr. 1661 he purchased of William Earle one-fourth of a share of the Acushnet and Coxet lands, in what is now Dartmouth, Mass. He was one of the purchasers of Conanicut and Dutch Islands in 1656, and was also a large owner of lands at Narragansett and Misquamicut (Westerly). On 4 Dec. 1669 his estate was divided by the Portsmouth Town Council among his wife and children. The division shows that his wife was named Eleanor and the children named were Samuel, Thomas, Benjamin, Reuben, Jeremiah, and Mary. Joseph, having died previously, is not mentioned. Thomas and Jeremiah were under twenty-one. The document dividing the estate was long lost, but was found in the winter of 1913–14 in the cellar of the Portsmouth Town House.

Children (order unknown):

2. i. SAMUEL,[2] b., according to his deposition in the town records, abt. 1640.
   ii. JOSEPH, of Portsmouth, b. abt. 1643; drowned at Portsmouth 25 Aug. 1665; m. SARAH ———. On 16 Sept. 1665 the Town Council of Portsmouth granted administration on his estate to his widow, Sarah, and made provision for her unborn child. As no provision was made for this child in the division of the estate of Thomas Waite in 1669, it may be assumed that it was stillborn or died young.†
3. iii. BENJAMIN, b. abt. 1645.
4. iv. REUBEN.
5. v. THOMAS, b. after 1648.
   vi. JEREMIAH, of Portsmouth, b. after 1648; d. s. p. before 10 May 1677; m. MARTHA BROWNELL, b. in May 1643, d. at Portsmouth 15 Feb. 1744, dau. of Thomas and Ann. She m. (2) after 8 Mar. 1690 Charles Dyer, s. of William and Mary, the last-mentioned being Mary Dyer, the Quakeress, who was put to death on Boston Common in 1660 by the Massachusetts authorities. Jeremiah Waite was admitted a freeman of Portsmouth on 6 May 1673. On 10 May 1677 Martha Wait, widow of Jeremiah, bought land in Portsmouth of Daniel Wilcox, Sr. On 8 Mar. 1677 she bought land at Little Compton, R. I., of her brother, Robert Brownell. In her will, dated 29 Jan. 1734 and proved 12 Mar. 1744, she bequeathed to her Brownell relatives.
   vii. MARY, d. after 1713; m. at Portsmouth, 5 Apr. 1676, JOSEPH ANTHONY of Portsmouth and Tiverton, R. I.

2. SAMUEL[2] WAIT (Thomas[1]), born about 1640, died at Portsmouth or Kingstown, R. I., in Feb. 1676/7. He married HANNAH ———,

* Cf. REGISTER, vol. 32, p. 188.

†Mr. Austin in his account of this family and John Cassan Wait in his Descendants of Thomas Wait credit Joseph Waite with a son, William Wait of Rochester, Mass.; but an examination of the Rochester records shows that this man was named William Wiett (i. e., Wyatt).

who married secondly, before 12 Oct. 1694, James Sampson of Dartmouth, Mass., a son of Henry Sampson, one of the passengers in the Mayflower in 1620.

He received from his father his Narragansett lands, and appears to have been at Narragansett as early as 8 Mar. 1656, when he witnessed, as interpreter, a deed from the Sachem Coginaquand to Richard Smith of land at Potomcasutt. On 23 June 1662 he, aged about 22 years, testified regarding this deed. He again deposed 26 Feb. 1667, aged about 27 years. On 3 July 1663 he, as an inhabitant and proprietor of lands in Narragansett, petitioned to be under the jurisdiction of Connecticut. On 4 May 1668 he was one of the inhabitants of Wickford, R. I., who petitioned Connecticut to reassume authority over the Narragansett country; otherwise they might seek protection elsewhere. On 20 May 1671 he abandoned his allegiance to Connecticut and took the oath of allegiance to Rhode Island, as an inhabitant of Acquedneset, and on 6 May 1673 he was a freeman of that Colony. On 11 Feb. 1676/7 he and his wife Hannah conveyed to his brother Thomas the house and all the land in Portsmouth that he had received from his father's estate in the division referred to above. He died shortly afterwards, and in Feb. 1677 [1676/7] administration on his estate was granted to his widow Hannah by the Portsmouth Town Council.

Children (order unknown):

6. i. SAMUEL,[3] b. abt. 1660.

ii. JOSEPH, of Kingstown, non compos mentis, d. unm. In 1678, in the division of lands at East Greenwich, R. I., Samuel Wait drew Farm 24 on account of "his brother Joseph Wait." On 7 Oct. 1702 he sold 90 acres at East Greenwich to Daniel Briggs of Patience Island. The Kingstown probate records, under date of 8 Jan. 1704, recite that he is non compos and as such has made contracts with Beriah Brown, and state that all such bargains are void; Samuel Wait, his brother, was appointed his guardian.

iii. SUSANNA (probably), m. at Kingstown, 24 Mar. 1692, as his second wife, MOSES BARBER of Kingstown.

3. BENJAMIN[2] WAIT (Thomas[1]), born about 1645, was slain at the taking of Deerfield, Mass., on 29 Feb. 1703/4. He married at Hatfield, Mass., 8 June 1670, MARTHA LEONARD, daughter of John of Springfield, Mass.

He resided at Hadley, Hatfield, and Deerfield, Mass. In the division of his father's estate he received the lands at Misquamicut (Westerly), which he disposed of, and then removed to the Connecticut Valley, where he was one of the guides of Capt. William Turner and his men in the "Falls Fight" in May 1676. On 3 Feb. 1703/4 William Rooker assigned to Thomas Wait of Seaconnet (Little Compton) and Benjamin Wait of Hadley 40 acres in Brookfield, Mass. On 24 May 1717 Jeremiah, John, and Joseph Wait of Hatfield and John Belding, Joseph Smith, and Ebenezer Wells, married to the daughters of Benjamin Wait, deceased, sold the above-named land to Capt. Thomas Baker of Northampton, Mass., and warranted him against their uncle Thomas Wait, brother of the aforesaid Benjamin.

4. REUBEN[2] WAITE (Thomas[1]), of Dartmouth, Mass., died at Dartmouth 7 Oct. 1707. He married TABITHA LOUNDERS, daughter of ——— and Jane (Kirby).

He received his father's Dartmouth lands in the division of his estate, and settled in that town. In 1685 he is enumerated among the Dartmouth proprietors appearing in the Plymouth Court. His house, one of the oldest in Dartmouth, is still standing in that section of the town lying between Accoxet and Appomagansett. The earliest parts were probably built as early as 1669, and it seems to have escaped the general destruction that overtook the town in King Philip's War. In his will, dated 11 Oct. 1707 and proved 5 Nov. 1707, he mentions his wife Tabitha, his sons Benjamin, Joseph, Reuben, and Jeremiah, and his daughters Eleanor, Abigail, and Tabitha.

Children, born at Dartmouth:

7. i. THOMAS,[3] b. 22 Apr. 1683.
ii. ELEANOR, b. 4 Jan. 1688; m. at Dartmouth, 5 Jan. 1704, ABIEL TRIPP of Dartmouth, son of Abiel and Deliverance (Hall) of Dartmouth.

On 14 June 1749 William Davol and Edward Cornell were made his guardians, as he was non compos mentis. Thereafter, at frequent intervals, a guardian was appointed for him. In a lucid moment he made his will, which is dated 1 Feb. 1758 and was proved 24 Feb. 1772, and states that at that time he was of sound mind. He bequeathed to his cousins, Mary and Elizabeth Anthony, daughters of Joseph Anthony of Tiverton, R. I., and appointed his cousin, Thomas Anthony of Tiverton, his executor. Administration on his estate was granted to his nephew, Stephen Wait, as Thomas Anthony was dead.
8. iv. JOSEPH (twin), b. 24 June 1693.
v. ABIGAIL (twin), b. 24 June 1693; d. unm.

had left him by his will. In his own will, dated 12 May 1754 and proved 9 Nov. 1754, Jeremiah Wait bequeathed to his cousins, Reuben Wait and the latter's son Jeremiah, to his brother Thomas and his wife Mary, and to his cousins Phoebe Wait, Reuben Wait, and Meribah Soule.

5. THOMAS[2] WAITE (Thomas[1]), tailor, born after 1648, died before 16 June 1733. He married SARAH COOK, daughter of John and Mary (Borden) of Portsmouth, R. I., and mentioned as his daughter in the will of John Cook of Portsmouth, dated 15 May 1691 and proved 25 May 1691.

Thomas Waite resided in Portsmouth and Tiverton, R. I., and Dartmouth, Mass. On 6 May 1673 he was admitted a freeman of Rhode Island, and on 11 Feb. 1677 his brother Samuel conveyed to him their father's house in Portsmouth. On 25 Mar. 1680 he was one of the seven original purchasers who purchased the Pocasset (Tiverton) lands from Gov. Josiah Winslow of Plymouth. He also owned land in Dartmouth, and on 28 Aug. 1680 he sold land there to Thomas Ward of Newport, R. I. His Pocasset holdings appear to have been in Punketest Neck, for he sold land there on 13 Mar. 1683. On 2 Mar. 1692 he was one of the original inhabitants of Tiverton. On 7 Jan. 1691 he, styled Thomas Wait of Little Compton, taylor, and wife Sarah sold land at Punketest Neck to John Woodman and John Irish. On 31 Jan. 1721 he was of Dartmouth, and sold land at Punketest Neck in Tiverton. At his death he was residing in Dartmouth, and on 16 June 1733 his inventory was presented by his widow and administratrix, Sarah.

6. SAMUEL[3] WAIT (Samuel,[2] Thomas[1]), born about 1660, died at Exeter, R. I., before 15 Apr. 1752. He married ALICE WIGHTMAN, daughter of George and Elizabeth (Updike).

He resided in Kingstown, R. I., in that part of the town afterwards set off as Exeter. On 30 Mar. 1693 he sold to William Burrington land at Portsmouth, at a place called Little Silver, and on 12 Oct. 1694 James Sampson of Dartmouth, Mass., and wife Hannah released their thirds in this piece of land sold by "our" son Samuel Wait to William Burrington. On 2 Feb. 1685 he was a freeman at Kingstown, and on 7 May 1694 he sold land there. On 21 Apr. 1705 he quitclaimed to his uncle, Reuben Wait of Dartmouth, lands in Dartmouth that formerly belonged to his grandfather, Thomas Waite. On 2 Sept. 1706 he was a grand juryman. On 27 May 1709, he with others, bought 792 acres of vacant lands in Narragansett. He appears in the Kingstown records from time to time, conveying land there to his various sons. In his will, dated 30 Dec. 1747 and proved 15 Apr. 1752, he devised and bequeathed to his sons Joseph and Samuel, to the children of his deceased son Benjamin, namely Virtue, Abigail, and John Wait, to his son John, and to his wife Alice.

In early life he resided in Dartmouth, and with wife Mary mortgaged land there 14 Mar. 1714/15. Before 1732 he removed across Narragansett Bay to East Greenwich, R. I., where on 2 May 1732 he was made a freeman. The births of his children are recorded both in the Dartmouth and in the East Greenwich records. His property was in that part of East Greenwich later set off as West Greenwich. On 26 Sept. 1739 Thomas Wait of East Greenwich conveyed to his son Thomas Wait of the same town land in the new purchase in East Greenwich. He was at West Greenwich as late as 6 June 1741, when he conveyed land there to his son Thomas, but by 31 Dec. 1743 he had returned to Dartmouth, as on that date he, styled of Dartmouth, conveyed land in West Greenwich to his son Thomas of that town. The date of his death is not known.

On 4 Nov. 1763 he, styled Joseph Wait of Dartmouth, yeoman, recalled a power of attorney given to his son, Samuel Wait of Dartmouth, "labourer alias seafaring man." In his will, dated 15 Sept. 1761 and proved 15 Aug. 1774, he mentions his sons Samuel and Stephen, his daughter Keziah, his granddaughter Roba, daughter of his daughter Marcy Wright-

9. REUBEN[3] WAIT (Reuben,[2] Thomas[1]) was born at Dartmouth, Mass., 15 June 1695. He married at Dartmouth, 2 Aug. 1720, ELIZABETH HATHAWAY.

Very little is known of his family. He had one known son, Joseph, and he may have been the father of the Jeremiah who married, 7 Dec. 1754, Patience Kirby.

Children:

i. JOSEPH,[4] b. at Dartmouth 17 Sept. 1722.
ii. JEREMIAH (perhaps), m. at Dartmouth, 7 Dec. 1754, PATIENCE KIRBY.
iii. ELIZABETH (perhaps), m. at Dartmouth, 1 Nov. 1746, JOSEPH HICKS.

10. THOMAS[3] WAIT (Thomas,[2] Thomas[1]), born at Portsmouth, R. I., 21 Dec. 1681, died at Tiverton, R. I., before 7 Feb. 1757. He married ELIZABETH ———.

He resided at Tiverton all his life, except for a short period when he was at Portsmouth. On 17 Feb. 1709, he, called of Portsmouth, with Job Briggs of Tiverton, bought land there from Philip Tabor of Dartmouth, Mass. On 10 Feb. 1746/7 he was admitted a freeman of Rhode Island, when Tiverton was set off to that Colony. On 19 Feb. 1750/51 his son-in-law, Benjamin Macomber, was appointed guardian of his estate, inasmuch as he was non compos mentis. In his will, dated 22 Dec. 1756 and proved 7 Feb. 1757, he mentions his two sons, Thomas and John Wait, and directs that they take care of their sister Elizabeth for life and give her support, food, raiment, and maintenance. He also leaves household stuff to his two daughters, Sarah and Mary, and mentions his brother-in-law, John Earle, and his cousin, William Earle of Dartmouth.

Children, born at Tiverton:

i. JOSEPH,[4] b. 10 Jan. 1715; d. young.
20. ii. THOMAS, b. 16 Sept 1716.
    iii. SARAH, b. 23 Sept. 1717; m. BENJAMIN MACOMBER of Tiverton. In May 1756 Benjamin Macomber rendered an account of the estate of his father-in-law, "Thomas Weight."
    iv. ELIZABETH, b. 21 Dec. 1718; living in 1756, feeble-minded.

21. v. JOHN, b. 6 Nov. 1720.
vi. MARY, b. 11 Apr. 1722; m. abt. 1745 WILLIAM SANFORD of Tiverton.*

11. BENJAMIN[3] WAIT (Thomas,[2] Thomas[1]), of Portsmouth, R. I., mariner, born about 1683, died at Portsmouth 4 Aug. 1734. He married MARY ———, who on 9 Sept. 1734 presented an inventory of his estate. She died at Portsmouth; and in her will, dated 6, 7 mo. 1739 and proved 12 Nov. 1739, she calls herself widow of Benjamin Wait, deceased, and mentions her daughters Amie, Sarah, Deborah, and Elizabeth, leaving to Amie a platter marked "M P," which probably furnishes a clue to her maiden name. She also mentions her brother-in-law John Earle. Benjamin Wait is called a seafaring man in the records.

Children:

i. AMY,[4] b. abt. 1715; m. at Little Compton, R. I., 9 June 1740, SYLVESTER PALMER.
ii. JUDITH, b. abt. 1717; m. at Little Compton, R. I., 19 May 1743, BENJAMIN HEAD.
iii. SARAH, b. abt. 1720; m. at Little Compton, R. I., 1 Aug. 1745, BLAKE SHAW.

12. JOSEPH[4] WAIT (Samuel,[3] Samuel,[2] Thomas[1]), born at Kingstown, R. I., 27 Apr. 1697, died at Exeter, R. I., in 1776. He married, 17 Oct. 1717, ELIZABETH SHEFFIELD.

In 1728 his father, Samuel Wait of North Kingstown, conveyed land to him in North Kingstown near the East Greenwich line. When Exeter was set off from North Kingstown, he became identified with that town. His will, dated 7 Jan. 1774 and proved 8 July 1776, is on file at Exeter. In it he mentions his wife Elizabeth, his daughters, Elizabeth Wightman, Damaris Wightman, and Phoebe Bailey, his grandchildren Mary Albro and Benjamin Albro, his daughter Alice Bentley, his son Samuel Weight and the latter's son Jenkes Weight, his son Benjamin Weight, his grandson Oliver Weight, his son George Weight, his grandson Reuben Weight, and his grandson Joseph Weight, son of his son Benjamin.

Children, born at North Kingstown:†

22. i. JOSEPH,[5] b. abt. 1717.
ii. A DAUGHTER, b. abt. 1719.
iii. GEORGE, of Exeter, b. abt. 1721; m. before 23 Nov. 1752 SARAH———. On 23 Nov. 1752 he and his wife Sarah of Exeter sold land there. His family has not been traced, but he probably left children, who may, perhaps, be discovered by a further examination of the Exeter records.

*This marriage is not recorded, but their grandson, Abraham Sanford, stated that his Grandmother Sanford's maiden name was "Weight." A descendant in another branch of the Sanford family claimed descent from the Waits, and stated that her great-grandfather took care of Elizabeth Weight, a relative. On 8 Apr. 1747 the Tiverton Town Council voted that William Sanford take care of Elizabeth "Weight," and that he receive £50 a year while he looks after her. William Sanford also witnessed Thomas Wait's will, and William and Mary Sanford had a son named Thomas. As this is the only Mary of record who could have married William Sanford, and as they were near neighbors in Tiverton, it is clear that she was the Mary Weight who married William Sanford.

†The order of the births of these children is deduced from what remains of the burned records of North Kingstown.

iv. ELIZABETH, b. abt. 1723; m. at Exeter, 21 Dec. 1746, GEORGE WEIGHTMAN.
23. v. SAMUEL, b. abt. 1725.

ix. PHOEBE, b. abt. 1732; m. at Exeter, 28 Jan. 1755, ROBERT BAILEY.
x. MARY, b. abt. 1733; d. s. p. before 7 Jan. 1774, as neither she nor any children of hers are mentioned in her father's will.

13. SAMUEL[4] WAIT (Samuel,[3] Samuel,[2] Thomas[1]) was born at Kingstown, R. I., 12 Oct. 1701. He married, about 1724, SARAH ———.

He resided in North Kingstown and Exeter, R. I. On 3 Dec. 1751 his father Samuel conveyed land to him in Exeter. On 25 Dec. 1740 Caleb Clark of North Kingstown sold land in West Greenwich, R. I., to Samuel Weight, Jr., of North Kingstown, which the latter, with his wife Sarah, sold on 9 July 1741. On 3 June 1756 Samuel Wait of Exeter (i. e., Samuel, son of Joseph) was made guardian to the estate of his uncle, Samuel Wait of Exeter, and on 5 Mar. 1756 he sold land in Exeter to John Wightman. This deed was signed by Samuel and Sarah Wait. What became of Samuel is not known to the writer.

He married, about 1724, ABIGAIL HALL, daughter of Benoni.‡ She married secondly ——— NICHOLS. On 27 Mar. 1740 Samuel Weight of North Kingstown conveyed to his son, Benjamin Weight of the same place, "practictioner of physick," 200 acres of land in East Greenwich, R. I. He resided in that part of Kingstown which in 1743 was set off as the town of Exeter. On 11 Feb. 1735 his father, Samuel Wait of Kingstown, conveyed to him for love land in Kingstown. In May 1743 and again in 1744, 1747, 1749, 1755, and 1756 Capt. John Wait of Exeter was deputy to the General Assembly. He was captain of the local company, and is to be carefully distinguished from his second cousin, Capt. John Wait (16) of West Greenwich, R. I. In his will, dated 14 Apr. 1776 and proved 12 June 1776, he calls himself of Exeter, and mentions his three grandsons, Samuel, Babcock, and Weight Holloway, sons of his daughter Lydia Holloway, deceased, his grandson John Babcock, son of his daughter Sarah Babcock, to whom he leaves 600 acres in the First Division of "Sisquahannah" Purchase, his four daughters, Alice Reynolds, Eunice Reynolds, Sarah Babcock, and Mary Hall, his granddaughter Sarah Gardner, and his wife Sarah. THE DIARY OF MASTER JOSEPH TATE OF SOMERSWORTH, N. H.

FROM A MANUSCRIPT IN THE POSSESSION OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

THE town of Somersworth, N. H., was set off from Dover and incorporated as a separate town on 23 Apr. 1754. It included at that time the territory of the present towns of Somersworth and Rollinsford, the latter town, forming the southeastern part of Somersworth, having been set off and incorporated on 3 July 1849. The so-called "Diary" of Master Tate is a record which was kept by an early schoolmaster of Somersworth, who lived in that part of the town which is now Rollinsford. His name first appears in the records of Somersworth on 6 Apr. 1752, while Somersworth was still only a parish, the entry under that date reading: "voted Mr. Joseph Tate twenty three Pounds old Tenor to keep ye Parish School one year." His exact term of service as a teacher is not known, but in his later years he was a town charge, lived with the family of Capt. Maurice Hobbs, and on his death was buried on the Hobbs farm. The "Diary" supplies some information about his wife and children.*

In this "Diary" Master Tate entered the family records of the inhabitants of Somersworth from about 1740 to the middle of the Revolutionary War. He gave the names of parents, with the birth records of their children, and also many marriage and death records. He inserted items of local historical interest and various entries of a miscellaneous character, such as anecdotes, verses, hymns, etc., which were for the most part copied from almanacs and newspapers of the day.

It was long believed that the original manuscript of Master Tate's "Diary" was lost, although a few copies were in existence; but on 19 Nov. 1896 the original record was given by Rev. Daniel Rollins† of Boston to the New England Historic Genealogical Society, and is now carefully preserved in the Society's fireproof building. In 1904 the late James Swift Rogers, A.B., a member of the Society, had several typewritten copies made of the original manuscript. One of these he presented to the Library of the Society and others were distributed or sold to persons interested in the history and genealogy of Somersworth and Rollinsford and to a few libraries. In order, however, to place the information contained in Master Tate's record at the disposal of those to whom the typewritten copies are not accessible, it has been decided to publish it in the REGISTER, omitting only such miscellaneous entries as are of no genealogical or historical importance and a few other words and passages which are hardly suitable for publication.

Mrs. Franklyn Hallett Lovell — Samuel Putnam Avery
Grant Walker — Frederick Marden Ambrose
Clement Stevens Houghton — Harry Bates Thayer
Edward Augustus Bowen

The Council also reported the names of twenty-three candidates for Pilgrim Tercentenary Membership, one candidate for Life Membership, and four candidates for Resident Membership, stating that action by the Council on these names would be in order after they had been posted for thirty days, in accordance with the By-Laws. By vote of the Society the reading of the names of these candidates was omitted.

The Recording Secretary announced that Mr. Charles Sherburne Penhallow, in a letter dated 3 September 1919, had presented his resignation as a member of the Council; and, on motion, it was Voted, That the Society has learned with great regret that Mr. Charles Sherburne Penhallow finds it impossible to remain longer as a member of the Council, and that it enters on its records at this time its appreciation of Mr. Penhallow's faithful services to the Society, especially as Chairman of the Committee on English Research for thirteen years (1905–1917).

Voted, That at the stated meeting of this Society in November next an election be held, in accordance with the By-Laws, to fill the vacancy in the Council caused by the resignation of Charles Sherburne Penhallow.

The Chair then presented, as the speaker of the afternoon, J. Gardner Bartlett of Boston and London, who gave an entertaining and instructive address entitled Ancestor Hunting in England. Mr. Bartlett, who since the death of Henry FitzGilbert Waters has been recognized as the greatest living authority on the early settlers of New England and their English antecedents, described the methods employed by American investigators among English records in tracing the ancestry of the early immigrants to New England. He illustrated his remarks by interesting lantern slides showing facsimiles of various ancient genealogical documents and views of several cathedrals and depositories of public records in England.

After the Society had voted to extend its thanks to the speaker, the Chair, at 4.05 P.M., declared the meeting dissolved, and the members of the Society, with their guests, enjoyed a social hour in the tea room.

NOTES

It having come to the attention of this Society that certain genealogists and publishers have used the name of the Society in connection with their own enterprises, the Society again desires to state that it has NO genealogical representatives in this country or in England, nor is it in any way connected with any publications other than those that it issues over its own name at 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

WESTCOTT–LEWIS.—In J. Russell Bullock's "Stukeley Westcote and Some of His Descendants," published in two parts, 1886 and 1888, the statement is made (page 111 of the second part) that Martha[5] Westcott (Jabez,[4] Samuel,[3] Jeremiah,[2] Stukeley[1] of Salem, Mass., and of Providence, Warwick, and Portsmouth, R. I.) married Benjamin Lewis of Providence, and had probably a son Benjamin, who was born in 1785 and died 11 June 1848. Mehitable[5] Westcott, sister of Martha,[5] is said in the same book to have married John Dykeman of New York City.

This statement in regard to the husband of Martha Westcott was based on a chart, preserved in the library of the Rhode Island Historical Society at Providence, which gives the descendants of Samuel[3] Westcott, grandfather of Martha, and his wife, Freelove Fenner. The wording of the chart is: "Martha Westcot marrid Benj^a^ Lewis," and "Benj^a^" was interpreted by the compiler of the Westcott genealogy as "Benjamin." The following record, copied from a leaf taken from a Lewis Family Bible,* shows that the husband of Martha Westcott was Benajah (not Benjamin) Lewis, and gives the birth records of their children:

Benajah Lewis & Martha Wescott was married May 7th 1761 =
Sarah Lewis Born 3d Octr. 1762
Nancy Lewis Born 25th Aug. 1764
James Lewis Born 11th Feb. 1767
Sabin Lewis Born 15 Sept 1769
Jabez Lewis Born 22 May 1772
Martha Lewis Wife of Benajah Lewis Died 22 Sept 1772 Æ 30 Y. 9 D.
Jabez Lewis son of Benajah Died 31 Oct 1772 Æ 5 Months 9 D

A letter written in 1824 by Sabin Lewis, son of Benajah and Martha (Westcott) Lewis, to his brother, James Lewis, gives considerable information about the writer's family and relatives, and the reference in it to "uncle Dyckman's family" furnishes additional evidence of the identity of the Martha Westcott whom Benajah Lewis married, proving her to be a sister of the Mehitable Westcott who married John Dykeman of New York City. The letter, which is addressed to Mr James L[ew]is, New B[er]lin, Cou[n]ty of Chenango, New York,† is in part as follows:

Poughkeepsie August 11th 1824.

I received your favour, giving the melancholy information of the death of your wife, which was the first news I had of it.—Dear brother, you have had many and severe trials . . . .

. . . God . . . was first pleased to afflict me with a grievous chastning in the sudden and premature death of my little son, which sister Nancy undoubtedly informed you of . . . . Then in my old age, when on the brink of the grave, I began the important work, which a whole life would be too short to accomplish. And it appears to me that about two years and a half which I have endeavoured to spend in the service of my God is the only time, which I can truly have said to have lived since I was born.—Dear brother, I wish much to see you and should, long before this, had not my circumstances have been such, as made it impossible.

*The leaf containing the record was brought in 1793 from Providence, R. I., to Chenango Co., N. Y., by James Lewis, son of Benajah and grandfather of the writer of this note. It passed into the possession of James Lewis, son of James, and was sent to the writer by Mrs. Minerva Lewis (wife of the younger James), who died in 1913, aged 96 years. The Bible itself was left in Providence, and all trace of it has been lost.

†The paper is broken and worn where it was folded, and the letters in the address which are enclosed in brackets are no longer legible.

Your mentioning, that you designed making me a visit this fall has caused me much joy, and I sincerely hope you will accomplish it. My wife, and what children I have at home, would be delighted to see you. Charles, my oldest son is married and has two children, and at preasent, live near us.—Elzada, our daughter, is likewise married and has two children, and live about Thirty six miles from this. —Jabez, my second son, lives in Augusta state of Georgia, and is unmarried.—Elmanson, my third son, lives in Milford state of Delaware, and is likewise single. —Palemon, my youngest son, boards at home and is learning the book-binding business.—God has blessed me with filial, sober and industrious children, who, are a comfort and a prop to my declining years. We are enjoying good health. . . .

I have lately had a letter from Richard Stone,* who lives in Charlton, Massachusetts, about Forty miles from Providence. He and family were well, likewise his father's, which he had heard from but a few days before the date.

I have just returned from New-York, and have made a visit to cousin Hetty Turnbull. She buried her husband about two years since, and has been for some time past in a decline, I think a consumption. . . . She has a very fine family of children by whose industry, she is now chiefly supported. Her sister Martha, Mrs Rogers, lives near her and is in comfortable circumstances. They two are all that are left of uncle Dyckman's family. . . .

your Affectionate Brother.
Sabin Lewis.

Historical Intelligence

Heraldry.—The Committee on Heraldry of the New England Historic Genealogical Society strongly recommends that all coats of arms which can be proved to be authentic be offered for record with this Society. The arrangements for the making and preservation of such records are complete, and the volume of recorded arms has been begun by the entry therein of a number of well-authenticated coats. Printed forms and directions for the making of applications may be obtained from the Committee, and all communications on this subject should be addressed to the Committee on Heraldry, New England Historic Genealogical Society, 9 Ashburton Place, Boston.

Without taking any position with reference to the propriety of assuming arms, the Committee will be glad to examine arms or heraldic devices which any person or organization desires to assume, and give advice as to whether the same are heraldically correct or whether they violate a right of exclusive use heretofore acquired by others.

Genealogies in Preparation.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

*Richard Cecil Stone, afterwards a Congregational minister, was a nephew of the writer of the letter. He was son of Rufus Stone (a descendant of Hugh Stone of Warwick, R. I.) and his wife Sarah Lewis, daughter of Benajah and Martha (Westcott) Lewis. For this Stone family see Genealogy of the Stone Family originating in Rhode Island, by Rev. Richard Cecil Stone, Providence, 1866.

Clement.—Robert, baptized at Cosby, co. Leicester, England, 14 Dec. 1595, died at Haverhill, Mass., 29 Sept. 1658, by Mrs. Mary Lovering Holman, 39 Winsor Avenue, Watertown, Mass.

Clouston—Capt. Thomas, mariner, baptized at Stromness, West Mainland, Orkney, Scotland, 2 Oct. 1743, died at Newburyport, Mass., 10 Aug. 1795, by Frank Hervey Pettingell, 736 Citizens National Bank Building, Los Angeles, Cal.

*Appointed by the President in accordance with a vote of the Society of 1 Apr. 1914, and serving until discharged by the Society.

†On 2 Jan. 1919 the Council appointed a special committee of seven persons "to serve through the two years, 1919 and 1920, whose duties shall be to conduct an active campaign for money to pay off the Society's indebtedness, to obtain members, and to secure special endowment funds."

PROCEEDINGS AT THE ANNUAL MEETING

The seventy-fifth annual meeting of the Society was held on Wednesday, 5 February 1919, at 2.30 P.M., in Wilder Hall, 9 Ashburton Place, Boston, President Baxter presiding and a quorum being present.

The minutes of the meeting of 2 January 1919 were read and approved, and the monthly reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted, the Council reporting the election of Hon. William Howard Taft of New Haven, Conn., as an honorary member of the Society and the election of twelve other persons, whose names were read, as resident members.

The Recording Secretary read the following report of the Special Committee on Revision of the By-Laws:

To the New England Historic Genealogical Society.

The Special Committee on Revision of the By-Laws reports that it has considered certain proposed amendments to Articles 1, 2, and 3 of Chapter II of the By-Laws, referred to it by the Society at the stated meeting of 2 January 1919, and makes the following recommendations:

That Article 1 of Chapter II be amended by striking out the second and third paragraphs of said article, and by inserting in place thereof the two following paragraphs:

"Resident Members are those who pay annual dues, and consist of three classes: (1) those elected before January 1, 1903, who pay $3.00 annually and do not receive the New England Historical and Genealogical Register; (2) those elected between December 31, 1902, and March 1, 1919, who pay $5.00 annually and receive the Register; (3) those elected after February 28, 1919, who pay $10.00 annually and receive the Register. Annual dues are payable on the first of each January and are for the calendar year. Any Resident Member or any person elected a Resident Member may become a Life Member upon the payment of $100.00 at one time into the treasury.

"Life Members are exempt from the payment of annual dues, and consist of four classes: (1) those who paid $30.00 into the treasury for Life Membership before January 1, 1903, and do not receive the New England Historical and Genealogical Register; (2) those who paid $50.00 into the treasury between December 31, 1902, and March 1, 1919, for Life Membership and receive the Register; (3) those elected after February 28, 1919, who pay $100.00 into the treasury for Life Membership and receive the Register; (4) those who pay $300.00 into the treasury for Life Membership before January 1, 1921, and receive the Register, whose membership with all its rights and privileges is transmissible at decease by will or by written order filed with the Society. This last class of Life Members are known as Pilgrim Tercentenary Members. All receipts from Life Membership fees shall be permanently funded, the interest only to be used for current expenses."

That Article 2 of Chapter II be amended by inserting in the second line of said article, after the word "Resident," the word "Life,"—said article when amended reading as follows:

"The Recording Secretary shall keep a book, in which any member may propose a Resident, Life, Corresponding or Honorary Member."

That Article 3 of Chapter II be amended by striking out the word "and" in the third line of the first paragraph of said article, and by inserting in place thereof the words: "or if any person elected a Life Member shall neglect for three months after notification of election to accept membership in writing and to pay the Life Membership fee, or"—said paragraph when amended reading as follows:

"If any person elected a Resident Member shall neglect for three months after notification of election to accept membership in writing and to make the first annual payment, or if any person elected a Life Member shall neglect for three months after notification of election to accept membership in writing and to pay the Life Membership fee, or if any person elected a Corresponding or Honorary Member shall neglect for six months after such notification to accept membership in writing, such election shall be void."

Respectfully submitted, for the Committee,

[Signed] JAMES P. PARMENTER, Chairman.

Boston, Mass., 8 January, 1919.

On motion it was Voted, That the report of the Special Committee on Revision of the By-Laws be accepted and entered in full in the records of the Society.

On motion it was Voted, That the proposed amendments to Articles 1, 2, and 3 of Chapter II of the By-Laws, in the form recommended by the Special Committee on Revision of the By-Laws, be adopted.

On motion it was Voted, That the annual reports of the Council, including its committees, the Librarian, the Corresponding Secretary, the Treasurer, the Trustees of the Kidder Fund, and the Historian, being presented in print, and now in the hands of the meeting, be accepted and ordered filed with the originals.

On motion it was Voted, That the Society proceed to the election of officers and councillors, agreeable to the provisions of the By-Laws.

That three tellers be appointed by the Chair, and that said tellers shall distribute, receive, sort, and count the ballots, and make a report to this meeting

That the polls be now opened, and stand open until every member present has had opportunity to vote.

President BAXTER then gave up the chair to Vice-President CHASE, who appointed as tellers Messrs. GEORGE WALTER CHAMBERLAIN and EDWARD WILLARD HOWE and Rev. ANSON TITUS, and the election by ballot of officers and councillors took place.

Vice-President CHASE then presented as the speaker of the afternoon Hon. ARTHUR HOLBROOK WELLMAN, M.A., LL.B., of Topsfield, Mass., a member of the Council of the Society, who in an able, earnest, and scholarly address on Liberty and Law warned his hearers of the dangers threatening the liberty of the individual from the encroachments of modern legislation and from the spread of such subversive doctrines as those professed by the Bolsheviki.

On motion of Mr. George Lambert Gould a vote of thanks to Mr. Wellman was adopted.

The tellers then made their report, which showed that officers and councillors had been elected as follows:

President

James Phinney Baxter, of Portland, Me.

Vice-Presidents

John Carroll Chase, of Brookline, Mass.

Alfred Johnson, of Belfast, Me.

Albert Henry Lamson, of Elkins, N. H.

William Wallace Stickney, of Ludlow, Vt.

William Paine Sheffield, of Newport, R. I.

George Seymour Godard, of Hartford, Conn.

Recording Secretary

Henry Edwards Scott, of Medford, Mass.

Corresponding Secretary

George Andrews Moriarty, Jr., of Newport, R. I.

Treasurer

George Lambert Gould, of Topsfield, Mass.

Librarian

William Prescott Greenlaw, of Winthrop, Mass.

Councillor for the term of two years, 1919, 1920

Frank Ernest Woodward, of Wellesley Hills, Mass.

Councillors for the term of three years, 1919, 1920, 1921

Lew Cass Hill, of Boston, Mass.

Charles Sherburne Penhallow, of Jamaica Plain, Mass.

Mrs. Agnes Beville Vaughan Tedcastle, of Milton, Mass.

Vice-President Chase then presented to the meeting the President of the Society, Hon. James Phinney Baxter, who, on resuming the chair, spoke as follows:

"I thank you again, my friends, for your continued confidence and good will, and were it not for the custom which has been adopted of abbreviating the President's remarks to an acknowledgment of the fact that he has been elected and a reference for information of the status of the Society to the reports of the committees, I might intrench somewhat upon the time of the meeting; and I warn you that, if I stand here again in the same relation that I now do, I may break the custom and inflict upon you an 'address' more in keeping with the title on the programme. I shall, however, content myself by referring you as usual to the committee reports, with the remark that the outlook of the Society for the coming year is far brighter than it was a year ago, and that when we meet a year hence, you will, I believe, be highly gratified with the results of the year's work."

Mr. George Lambert Gould, Treasurer of the Society, then expressed, in a few well-chosen words, the high appreciation of the Society for Mr. Baxter's many years of service as its President and its admiration for his continued active and vigorous participation in its work, in spite of his advancing years.

On motion it was Voted, That the New England Historic Genealogical Society enters on its records at this time its appreciation of the services rendered by the retiring Councillors, William Streeter Richardson, Richard Henry Winslow Dwight, and Mrs. Fannie Scott Chase, who have during their terms of office given of their time, their thought, and their counsel that the broad purposes of the Society, the collection and preservation of genealogical records for the public benefit, might be attained.

On motion it was Voted, That the proceedings of this meeting, with the annual reports accepted the address of the President, and the biographical notices of deceased members, be printed as a supplement to the April, 1919, number of the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, that a copy of said supplement be mailed to every member of the Society not receiving the Register, to the families of members deceased during the past year, and to exchanging societies, and that the Council be charged with the execution of this order.

No further business being presented, the President, at 3.30 P.M., declared the meeting dissolved, and light refreshments were served to the members of the Society and their guests in the adjoining reception hall.

Henry Edwards Scott,
Recording Secretary.

REPORT OF THE COUNCIL

Prepared by William Streeter Richardson

In presenting its annual report the Council calls attention to the somewhat surprising and very pertinent fact that absorption in war activities does not seem to have decreased appreciably the interest of the public in the objects which the Society was incorporated to promote.

The average number of visitors has been remarkably well maintained, the conditions being considered; and the outlook, based upon former experience after the Spanish War, would indicate that a decided increase in the use of the Society's Library will soon take place.

The demands made upon the institution are likely to be greater, while the means for meeting them have not been materially increased; and these conditions again bring uppermost the consideration of finances.

During the year 1918 the Council has caused to be sent to the members of the Society a carefully prepared booklet very fully describing its various needs. Good work has been done in the matter of securing new members as well as in other directions, but the net results of these appeals and of those intimated in the booklet and in the reports of the Council for the last three or four years have been unsuccessful in providing the funds necessary for the elimination of the deficit and the support and extension of the service to the public.

This state of affairs will require new efforts in new directions; but the Council hopes that, the intense stress of the war being now abated, the membership will become active in helping the Society to obtain the endowment and other funds which the conditions demand. If the work which the Society has so long and successfully pursued were less desired than formerly, the situation would be different; but, with the interest and demands increased rather than lessened, it would seem that there ought to be many persons who would be glad to assist in having the current work most efficiently done and in bringing to the light for practical use those stores of valuable material which are in hand but are now unavailable. The Council is taking measures to secure subscriptions to pay off the indebtedness incurred through the erection of the Society's building, to raise additional endowment funds, and to obtain a larger revenue from membership fees. It wishes to impress upon the members the need of their coöperation in this task of finding funds to enable the Society to maintain the high position which it has achieved.

The Council suffered a serious loss in the death, on 16 May 1918, of Hon. Louis Atwood Cook of Weymouth. Interested for several years past in the work of the Society, he was elected, at the annual meeting on 6 February 1918, as a Councillor for three years, and his death removes from the Council a member well-equipped for intelligent and faithful service.

The Report of the Committee on Finance, by George Lambert Gould, Treasurer:

The Committee on Finance reports that during the year 1918 a specific legacy of $500 from the estate of the late Mrs. Jennie B. Fuller has been received, and that the share in this estate to which the Society, as one of the residuary legatees of the testatrix, is entitled will probably be paid very soon. The sum of $200, the income for the first year from the legacy of $5000 which was left in trust for the Society by the late Moses Greeley Parker, M. D., has been received from the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Company, trustees.

The only floating indebtedness of the Society is a note for $3000, payable to the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Company, being the same in amount and security as a year ago and bearing interest at the rate of 6%. There is good reason to expect that this note will be paid in full in the course of the year 1919, and that thus a debt, originally $12,000, which was incurred, in addition to the mortgage that is still unpaid, in the construction of the Society's building, will be cancelled.

Receipts from membership dues show a decided increase over those in previous years, owing largely to unusually prompt and even anticipated payments of dues for 1919 and an unusually large increase in life memberships.

Donations to the Society have averaged about the same as in previous years; but income and receipts ought to be much larger, in order to meet the increased necessary expenses and to provide for the proper upkeep of the building and its contents.

The Report of the Committee on Ways and Means, by William Streeter Richardson, Chairman:

Especial attention has been given by the Committee to the matter and form of the handbook which makes clearly apparent the situation and needs of the Society.

Various means have been taken to bring the facts shown by this handbook to the attention of such persons as might be interested in assisting the objects of the Society. The Committee now recommends the adoption of such new methods as may succeed in making the needs and the worthiness of the work of the institution more definitely appreciated.

It will be readily understood that the pressure of the war has been a serious obstacle, but the Committee hopes that from now on a better condition will prevail. In any case, an increased interest and coöperation by the membership are very much needed.

Economy in the administration has been exercised to a degree which it is deemed unwise to exceed, and the serious attempt referred to in the report of this Committee presented to the annual meeting of 1915 is now to be made.

The Report of the Committee on Increase of Membership, by Richard Henry Winslow Dwight, Chairman:

The Committee on Increase of Membership reports that through its efforts and those of other members of the Society 58 persons have accepted membership during the year 1918.

Believing that interest in ancestry has been greatly stimulated by the war and that this is, therefore, a propitious time to present to the public the advantages offered by membership in this Society, the Committee urges all members to coöperate with it in securing new members.

The Report of the Committee on Sale of Publications, by Charles Eliot Goodspeed, Chairman:

Attention was called in the report of the Committee a year ago to the excellent facilities which the Society has for the storage, advertising, and sale of genealogical books, and the Committee desires to keep this method of promoting the objects of the Society before its members. During the year 1918 gifts of vital records and genealogies, amounting in value at retail prices to more than $2,000, have been received from Messrs. Thomas Williams Baldwin and George Francis Dow, and sales from these two donations have already exceeded $100.

The Report of the Committee on Publications, by James Parker Parmenter, A.M., LL.B., Chairman:

The Committee on Publications reports that during the year 1918, in addition to the Register and the Proceedings at the Annual Meeting, which together make a volume of 439 pages, the Society has published the Vital Records of Shirley, containing 211 pages, and the Vital Records of Westport, containing 296 pages, the total number of pages for the year being 946.

The Society has also printed for distribution among its members and among others who may be or may become interested in its work a revised and enlarged edition—the tenth—of its Handbook, a pamphlet of 23 pages containing a detailed statement of the financial needs of the Society, together with an account of its history and objects and a list of its Officers, Councillors, and Committees for 1918.

Owing to the repeal of the Vital Records Act of 1902 by the Massachusetts General Court of 1918, the purchase of printed vital records by the State was discontinued on 1 December 1918, and therefore the publication of such records by the Society has been temporarily suspended. The Council, however, has authorized the resumption of the publication of vital records as soon as enough subscriptions have been secured to warrant this course; and the Committee is about to send out letters and circulars asking for subscriptions to enable it to continue this valuable series of books.

The Report of the Committee to Assist the Historian, by Andrew Fiske, Ph.D., LL.B., Chairman:

During the past year the Committee has at all times been ready to render any assistance required; but no request for assistance has come from the Historian, and therefore the Committee has held no meetings and has transacted no business.

The Report of the Committee on English Research, by George Andrews Moriarty, Jr., A.M., LL.B., Captain, U.S.A., Chairman:

During the year 1918, owing to conditions brought about by the war, the Committee on English Research has deemed it inadvisable to attempt to secure funds for carrying on genealogical research in England. Two of the members of the Committee, however, have furnished for publication in the Register valuable English records secured at their own expense, and similar material has been offered and accepted for the coming year. It is, nevertheless, extremely desirable that the Society should have at its disposal a fund which may be used in the near future, under the direction of the Committee, for investigations in England, and contributions for such a fund will be gratefully accepted by any member of the Committee or by the Treasurer of the Society.

The balance of $11.52 which was on hand on 31 December 1917 has been expended for the copying of certain English papers in the possession of the Essex Institute, and in due time selections from these papers will appear in the Register.

The Report of the Committee on Heraldry, by Robert Dickson Weston, A.B., Chairman:

The Committee on Heraldry has little to report for the year 1918. It has received an unusually small number of applications for assistance, and has met only once or twice. The cares and anxieties incident to the war have very naturally occupied every one's mind to the exclusion of a subject which even the members of this Committee must admit to be comparatively unimportant.

The Report of the Committee on the Library, by John Carroll Chase, Chairman:

The Committee on the Library has met regularly throughout the year and attended to its routine duties. No matter of special importance has come before it for consideration. The needs of the Library were set forth quite fully in the 1918 edition of the Handbook of the Society, which was mailed to all members.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON COLLECTION OF RECORDS, by George Walter Chamberlain, M.S., Chairman:

During the year 1918 two important genealogical manuscripts have been deposited in the safe of the Society by two members of this Committee, and important private records heretofore inaccessible have been secured for the REGISTER by two members of the Committee.

More than a dozen important genealogical collections, including several manuscript genealogies, have been deposited by other persons.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON EPITAPHS, by Myles Standish, A.M., M.D., S.D., Chairman:

The Committee has received 58 pages of typewritten epitaphs of Sunapee, N. H., from Miss Ethel Norris, a member of the Society, and the epitaphs of Charlemont and Westport, Mass., from the Eddy Town-Record Fund. The genealogical information from the Charlemont and Westport epitaphs has been incorporated in the printed vital records of those towns, which were published by the Society in 1917 and 1918.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON PAPERS AND ESSAYS, by Florence Conant Howes, Secretary:

The Committee on Papers and Essays has presented the following lectures during the year 1918:

2 January.—"John Swift, First Minister of Framingham," by Walter Adams, of Framingham, Mass.

6 February.—"The English Life and Family Connections of Roger Williams," by George Andrews Moriarty, Jr., A.M., LL.B., of Newport, R. I.

6 March.—"One Thousand Days Back of the Front," by Mary Boyle O'Reilly, of Boston, Mass.

3 April.—"Historic Homes of New England," by Park Pressey, of Boston, Mass., illustrated with stereopticon views.

1 May.—An address by Lieut. J. C. Tutt, of Boston, Mass., recently with the British Royal Flying Corps, and remarks by Private Kenneth B. Jopp, of Battery B, 101st U. S. Field Artillery, recently returned from France to aid in the Third Liberty Loan campaign.

2 October.—Owing to the epidemic no lecture was given.

6 November.—"When the Prussians Came to Poland," by Countess Laura de Gozdawa Turczynowicz, President of the Polish Reconstruction Committee of New York City.

4 December.—"The Art of Singing in the Old Bay Colony," by John Albree, of Boston, Mass., assisted by a mixed quartette and an accompanist.

Although the general economic conditions have been felt by the Committee, through the courtesy of the speakers and the generous donations of a few members the standard of former years has been maintained. Interest in the subjects presented continues unchanged, as is shown by the attendance, which has averaged the same as last year.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN

Presented by William Prescott Greenlaw

The total accessions for the year 1918 number 969 volumes, 893 pamphlets, and 50 miscellaneous articles. Of these, 184 volumes and 168 pamphlets were purchased; 735 volumes, 724 pamphlets, and 50 miscellaneous articles were given; and 50 volumes and 1 pamphlet were received in exchange. One hundred and ninety-six genealogies were acquired during the year. The total accessions from 1844 to 1918, inclusive, as shown by the records, aggregate 43,942 volumes and 106,390 pamphlets, an average of 586 volumes and 1418 pamphlets annually. These aggregates do not indicate the actual number of volumes and pamphlets now in the Library, neither do the figures based on estimates which it has been the custom to submit annually for the last sixty years. About 10,000 pamphlets were withdrawn from the Library in 1879, and an unknown number of volumes and pamphlets were withdrawn in the years 1889–1892; and these were finally disposed of in the years 1895, 1896, 1905, and 1912. In December 1895 the Committee on the Library made an estimate of the volumes and pamphlets then in the Library, which has been the basis of the reports made since then. Adding the accessions since 1895 and deducting the volumes and pamphlets withdrawn give 42,227 volumes and 41,515 pamphlets as the approximate number in the Library on 31 December 1918. This method of indicating the size of the Library makes no allowance for the changes brought about by binding. A large number of genealogies, local histories, parish registers, and kindred works are received unbound and entered in the accession records as pamphlets, which afterwards are bound and placed with the volumes. Counting these bound pamphlets as volumes, there are now shelved in the Library, offices, and safe nearly 51,000 bound volumes. In addition to this there are in the storage room in the basement several thousand bound volumes for which shelving has not yet been provided.

There was a marked falling off in the registration of visitors in the summer of 1918, enough to bring the total for the year about thirteen per cent below the average of the preceding twenty-five years, while the use of the Library by members was above the average. The decrease of use by both visitors and members was only eight per cent below the high record of recent years.

The needs of the Library were set forth quite fully in the tenth edition of the Handbook of the Society, which was mailed to all members early in the year.

Rev. Francis Southack Hoyt, A.M., D.D., LL.D., of Cincinnati, Ohio, a corresponding member since 1869, was born at Lyndon, Vt., 5 November 1822, the fourth child and third son of Rev. Benjamin Ray and Lucinda (Freeman) Hoyt, and died at Cincinnati 21 January 1912. The late Col. Albert Harrison Hoyt, A.M., Editor of the Register during the years 1868–1875, was his younger brother, and an account of his ancestry may be found in the memoir of Colonel Hoyt which was prepared by the late Charles Sidney Ensign, LL.B., and was published in the Register for January 1916 (vol. 70, pages 3–8).

When less than eighteen years of age Francis Southack Hoyt entered Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., where he was graduated in 1844 and where he received the degree of A.M. in 1848. After graduation he taught for two years a select school in Norwich, Conn., and then joined the New Hampshire General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church and was stationed in 1846–7 at Hanover, N. Institute, remaining there until 1850, when, under appointment from the Methodist Episcopal Church, he went to the then distant Territory of Oregon, to take charge of the Oregon Institute at Salem, which in 1857 was chartered as Willamette University, Mr. Hoyt being its first president. In 1860 he was called to the professorship of Natural Sciences in the Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware, Ohio, a position held until 1866, when, at his own request, he was transferred to the chair of Biblical Theology and Literature in the same institution, which he retained until 1872. While holding this professorship he spent much of his time in preparing a revised edition of Angus's "Hand-Book of the Bible." About the time of his transfer to the new professorship he became a member of the North Ohio Conference, with which he remained connected until his death. He was elected a delegate to the General Conferences of 1872, 1878, 1880, and 1884, and by the General Conference of 1872 was elected to the editorship of the Western Christian Advocate, serving in this position for the next twelve years. In 1884 he was made presiding elder of the Cleveland District, and at the close of his full term in 1890 was appointed to the supervision of the Sandusky District, serving the complete term of six years. The next year (1896) he became professor of the Greek Testament and of Biblical Theology at Baldwin University, continuing in that capacity until 1909, but for some years thereafter acting as president of the Board of Trustees of that institution and serving for some time as its librarian. From this university he received in 1868 the degree of D.D., which was also conferred on him in 1872 by the Ohio Wesleyan University. In 1911, on the occasion of his visit to Willamette University, he received from that institution the degree of LL.D.

For over forty years he held pastorates in the West. While accompanying his father on missionary tours he became interested in Indian life and in the mound builders, and this led to his life study of archæology. In 1878 he founded the American Antiquarian and Oriental Journal, the first journal of its kind, and was for thirty-two years its editor and publisher. He was a corresponding member of the American Oriental Society, the American Numismatic Society, the Davenport Academy of Sciences, the Philosophical Society of Great Britain, and the Society of Biblical Archæology, and a member of the American Antiquarian Society.

He traced his lineage from Samuel[1] Packard, who came to New England in the Diligent in 1638, settled in Hingham, Mass., and was later of Weymouth and Bridgewater, Mass., through Zaccheus,[2] Solomon,[3]

Sarah Borden Durfee Lewis, A.M., of Boston, a resident member since 1911, was born at Roxbury, Mass., 28 November 1851, the daughter of Franklin Henshaw and Sarah Borden (Durfee) Lewis, and died at Brookline, Mass., 25 May 1917. She was descended from Edmund Lewis, who came to New England in the Elizabeth in 1634, first settling at Watertown, but soon buying a large tract of land on the shore of Lynn. The descendants of Edmund owned property at the North End of Boston, and carried on a large and successful shipping trade at the wharf now called Lewis Wharf. Samuel Shaw Lewis, the grandfather of Miss Lewis, was instrumental in arranging that the steamers of the Cunard Line should sail to and from Boston, and was the first agent of the Line in Boston. Her father, Franklin Henshaw Lewis, was said to have been the first exporter of apples from this country. Miss Lewis traced her ancestry also to James Chilton and his daughter Mary, John and Priscilla (Mullens) Alden, Richard Warren, and Governor Bradford, all of whom were passengers in the Mayflower in 1620.

Miss Lewis received her elementary education in private schools, was graduated at Vassar College in 1871, and received the degree of A.M. from Radcliffe College in 1901.

She was a student of history, a botanist of some merit, and an ardent ornithologist. Gifted with a remarkable memory, she made an unusually fine teacher,—her profession during most of her life.

George Montgomery Chamberlin, M.D., of Chicago, Ill., a resident member since 1904, was born at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., 25 July 1844, the son of Joseph Fitch and Rebecca (Montgomery) Chamberlin, and died in Chicago 30 June 1917. Benjamin's grandson, John, was the first settler of Thetford, Vt., and moderator of its first town meeting. Dr. Chamberlin was of Scottish descent on his mother's side and of Mayflower ancestry through his great-great-grandmother, Mehitable Fuller, wife of John Chamberlin, Jr., of Hebron, Conn.

He was graduated in 1864 at the Rush Medical College, Chicago, where he resided and practised his profession, taking pride in the marvelous development of the city. For twenty-five years he was on the staff of St. Luke's Hospital, one of the best hospitals in Chicago, serving as attending obstetrician and also as a member of the examining board of the Hospital's Training School for Nurses. He was a member of the American Medical Association, the Illinois Medical Society, a charter member of the Union League and Washington Park Clubs, and a member of the Chicago Athletic Association, the South Shore County Club, and the Forty Club.

He took special interest in the Chamberlain Association, of which he was elected vice-president in 1906, chairman of the Publication Committee in 1913, and president in 1916. His bequest of $1000, to be used "towards the cost of publication by a committee of the Chamberlain Association of the genealogy of the Chamberlain family," was the ultimate proof of the love which he bore the Association.

He married, 17 October 1869, Laura Chamberlin, who survives him, daughter of James Madison and Louisa Beebe (Perry) Chamberlin, formerly of Rutland, Vt.

Rev. Horace Edwin Hayden, M.A., of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., a corresponding member since 1874, was born at Catonsville, Baltimore Co., Md., 18 February 1837, the son of Edwin Parsons and Elizabeth (Hause) Hayden, and died 22 August 1917. He traced his descent from Sergt. William[1] Hayden of Dorchester, Mass., and Hartford and Windsor, Conn., through Lieut. Daniel[2] of Windsor, Daniel,[3] Daniel,[4] Lieut. Thomas[5] of Windsor, an officer in the Revolution, Dr. Horace H.,[6] who moved from Connecticut to Baltimore, Md., and Edwin Parsons[7] of Ellicott City, Md., his father.

He received his education at St. Timothy's Hall, Catonsville, a military school, and at Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio. From 1858 to 1861 he taught a school for young ladies at Ellicott City, and then entered the Confederate service, enlisting as a private, 1 June 1861, for one year, in the Howard County (Md.) Cavalry, a company composed of his own associates. This was attached to the regiment of Col. Angus McDonald until 20 July 1861, when it became Company K of the First Virginia Cavalry, under Col. J. E. B. Stuart. In March 1862 this regiment was reorganized, and one-half of Company K, including Private Hayden, became a part of the First Maryland Battalion of Cavalry. Private Hayden reënlisted for two years from 1 June 1862, and served in the field with his battalion until after the Second Battle of Manassas (Bull Run), in August 1862, when he was placed in charge of wounded men at Buckland, Va. In November 1862 he returned to his company and served in the Shenandoah Valley. In the summer of 1863 he was appointed a hospital steward and was ordered to Richmond. He was honorably discharged 6 July 1864, at the end of his term of enlistment, but remained in the service as a volunteer in the Third Virginia Infantry until his final discharge on 30 December 1864.

On 1 January 1865 he entered the Virginia Theological Seminary, to prepare for the ministry, and, after graduating there, was ordained to the diaconate in the Protestant Episcopal Church, 28 June 1867, by the Right Rev. John Johns, D.D., LL.D., his cousin. His first charge was Christ Church, at Point Pleasant, W. Va. On 7 August 1868 he was ordained to the priesthood at Alexandria, Va., by the Right Rev. Francis McN. Whittle, D.D. In 1873 he resigned his charge at Point Pleasant and became rector of St. John's Church, at West Brownsville, Pa., in the diocese of Pittsburgh. There he remained until 1879, when he went to St. Stephen's Church, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., his permanent charge.

Mr. Hayden was much interested in American history and genealogy, and among his published works is a book of 800 pages, entitled "Virginia Genealogies." He was a life member of the Wyoming Historical and Geological Society of Wilkes-Barre, held in that organization the offices of corresponding secretary, librarian, historiographer, and curator, and from 1894 on was the editor of all its publications. He was also a member of many other societies.

He married at Point Pleasant, W. Va., 30 November 1868, Kate Elizabeth Byers, daughter of John Alphonse and Charlotte Mary (Davis) Byers of Hancock, Md. Their children were Mary Elizabeth, who died in 1899, in her twenty-fifth year, and Horace Edwin, A.B. (Princeton University, 1905), M.A. (University of Virginia, 1910).

Mrs. Lillian (Chickering) Prince of Boston and Manchester, Mass., a resident member since 1908, was born at Roxbury, Mass., 13 September 1849, the daughter of Thomas Edward and Caroline Augusta (Battelle) Chickering, and died in Boston 30 October 1917. She was a descendant of Nathaniel[1] Chickering of Dedham, Mass., through Nathaniel,[2] John,[3] Abner,[4] Jonas[5] (founder of the famous piano house of Chickering and Sons), and Col. Thomas Edward,[6] her father, who was distinguished for his services in the Civil War.

Mrs. Prince was educated at some of the leading private schools of the day, and was always prominent in the social life and constructive activities of her home city. From the outbreak of the Great War she was closely connected with many of the various agencies that were helping the soldiers at the front, notably the Red Cross.

She married, 21 February 1882, Gordon Prince of Boston, son of Hon. Frederick Octavius and Helen Susan (Henry) Prince, who died in 1902 and was known in his generation as the eldest of "the four Prince boys." Her sole survivor is a son, Lieut. Gordon Chickering Prince, A. B. (Harvard, 1910), of the United States Aviation Corps, a cousin of the late Lieut. Norman Prince, A. B. (Harvard, 1908), LL.B. (Harvard, 1911), of the Lafayette Squadron, French Flying Corps, who gave his life for France.

Mrs. Evelyn (MacCurdy) Salisbury of New Haven, Conn., a resident member since 1898, was born at Lyme, Conn., 3 November 1823, the daughter of Hon. Charles Johnson and Sarah Ann (Lord) MacCurdy, and died at New Haven 31 December 1917. She was a descendant of Patrick MacKirdy, of an ancient Scotch clan in the Isle of Arran, who, fleeing from religious persecution in the land of his forefathers, settled in co. Antrim, in the north of Ireland, about 1666, was in the siege of Londonderry, and fought in the Battle of the Boyne. The first of Mrs. Salisbury's MacCurdy ancestors in this country was John[1] MacCurdy, who came to New York in 1745, married at Lyme, in 1752, Ann Lord, and settled there. Following him was Richard[2] (B.A., Yale College, 1787) and Charles Johnson[3] (B.A., Yale, 1817, LL.D., 1868), her father. She was also descended from Gov. Matthew Griswold and Gov. Roger Wolcott of Connecticut, and was related to the Ogdens and other well-known families of her native State.

She was educated at the schools of Mrs. Phebe Griffin Noyes in Lyme, Mrs. Okill in New York, Miss North in New London, Conn., and Mrs. Apthorp in New Haven. Owing to physical frailty in early life she became a close companion of her father, a judge of the Superior and Supreme Courts of Connecticut, sharing in his pursuits and interests both at home and abroad. She was with him in Vienna, where he was the United States chargé d'affaires in 1851 and 1852, and accompanied him in his travels on the Continent. She wrote for the New York Independent in its earlier years, over the signature of "Ernest." She wrote also short articles for the New York Tribune and longer ones for Connecticut papers.

She was married, 23 November 1871, as his second wife, to Edward Elbridge Salisbury, LL.D., of New Haven, who died 5 February 1901, only son of Josiah and Abigail (Breese) Salisbury of Boston. Dr. Salisbury, who was graduated at Yale College in the Class of 1832, was an eminent scholar, especially in the field of Oriental languages. In 1841 the first professorship of Arabic and Sanskrit in America was established at Yale, and he was appointed to fill it. He held this professorship until 1854, when he retired in favor of his distinguished pupil, William Dwight Whitney. Another of his pupils was Professor James Hadley, the well-known Greek scholar, father of President Arthur Twining Hadley of Yale. Dr. Salisbury was corresponding secretary and later president of the American Oriental Society and a frequent contributor to its Journal. In 1870 he gave to Yale College the Salisbury Library of Oriental Literature, together with funds for its increase, and in many other ways showed at various times his interest in his alma mater. In his later years he turned his attention to genealogical research, and spared neither time nor money in the preparation and publication of the magnificent volumes entitled "Family Memorials," which trace the history of many of the families from which he was descended or with which he was connected by marriage, Mrs. Salisbury being of the greatest assistance to her husband in collecting the material for this work and in preparing it for the press. From 1892 until his death he was Vice-President for Connecticut of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, and a memoir of him, with portrait, was published in the REGISTER for October 1901 (vol. 55, pages 361–367).

Mrs. Salisbury was a charter member of the Society of Colonial Dames of Connecticut (being an honorary life member of its Board of Managers) and of the Connecticut Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She was also a member of the American Author's Guild. Both Mrs. Salisbury and her husband did much to promote the welfare of Old Lyme, where they had their summer residence, and in her will she bequeathed a large sum for educational purposes to her native town.

On the maternal side she was descended from John[1] Baldwin of Branford, Conn., through George,[2] Israel,[3] Aaron,[4] Joseph,[5] John,[6] and Rosanna,[7] her mother.

In 1891–1894 she was connected with the Woman's Temperance Union of Louisiana in various capacities, being for two years at the home of the organization, and also a vice-president of the national organization.

Miss Walker aided in the preparation of "The Descendants of Deacon Aaron Baldwin," compiled by George E. Baldwin, 1907. Afterwards she endeavored to trace to the time of their settlement in the Province of Louisiana the family of Fuselier de Laclaire, whose home, with lands, had been in her mother's family since the close of the Civil War.

She was a member of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, the Massachusetts Suffrage Association, the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs, the Daughters of the American Revolution, and the Louisiana Historical Association.

In 1879 his alma mater conferred on him the degree of A.M., in 1883 he was elected an honorary member of the Dartmouth chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity, and in 1898 he received from Dartmouth the degree of LL.D.

After graduation and prior to his admission to the bar he taught mathematics and the sciences for several terms at the Henniker (N. H.) Academy. His law studies were pursued with Hon. Anson S. From that time on he was without a pastorate, and was engaged in genealogical and scientific research, writing, editing, and publishing.

From 1870 to 1877 he was a member of the Board of Trustees of the Pacific Theological Seminary (Congregational) at Oakland, Cal. While in Thomaston he was a member of the School Committee, and at Kennebunkport he was superintendent of schools. He served three times as a delegate to the National Council of Congregational Churches, and was a member of the American Peace Society.

His publications included, besides occasional sermons, "The Gospels Combined," 1895, "Pioneers of Massachusetts," 1900, "Solar Heat, Its Practical Application," 1903, "Pioneers of Maine and New Hampshire," 1908, and also several family histories, one of which was "A History of the Dorchester Pope Family." Edwin Birchard Cox of Brookline, Mass., a resident member since 1897, was born in Boston 31 January 1859, the son of Charles Motley and Emeline Brewer (Vose) Cox, and died at Brookline 23 February 1918. He was educated in the public schools of Boston and in the Chauncy Hall School.

He chose a business career, but was not actively engaged therein for some years prior to his death.

He was deeply interested in genealogy, and was, at various times, a member of many patriotic societies, in most of which he was, at one time or another, an officer. He had been a member of the Society of Colonial Wars in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the Society of the Sons of the Revolution, the Order of St. George of the Holy Roman Empire in the Colonies of North America, and the Society of American Wars. He remained with the firm until 1890, when he began practice on his own account. In July 1893 he became a member of the firm of Story & Thorndike, from which he withdrew in July 1898, to resume practice by himself, and he continued his independent practice up to the time of his death.

He was a writer on questions of constitutional law and taxation, and compiled and published "Edward Sturgis and His Descendants," Boston, 1914.

He married at Cleveland, Ohio, 7 October 1893, Mildred Frazer, daughter of Lawson and Mary (Sprague) Frazer of Covington, Ky., who, together with three children, Susan Brimmer, Roger, and Anita, survives him.

Frederic Endicott of Canton, Mass., a resident member since 1891, was born at Canton 2 April 1839, the son of John and Matilda (Ellis) Endicott, and died at Canton 12 March 1918. He was a descendant of Gilbert[1] Indicott, yeoman, who resided in that part of Dorchester, Mass., which later became Stoughton and is now Canton, through James,[2] James,[3] James,[4] and John,[5] his father. Among his ancestors, also, were members of the Crane, Dean, Puffer, Fairbanks, Clapp, Vose, and other New England families. It is worthy of note that the gravestone of Gilbert Indicott is the oldest stone in the Canton cemetery, and that within a few rods of this stone are the graves of all those in the line of descent to Frederic Endicott, as well as that of Frederic Endicott himself.

He was educated in the public schools of his native town, and in 1855 was a pupil in the Dedham High School. After the death of his father he began, at the early age of seventeen, his career as a civil engineer by undertaking surveying for the late Henry F. Walling, going to Maine, New Brunswick, central Pennsylvania, and other localities, and doing drafting in the New York office. Later he measured, with his odometer, the carriage road from the Glen House to the summit of Mt. Washington, for the State of New Hampshire. For many years his work for the county commissioners took him to all parts of Norfolk County.

Mr. Endicott was a public-spirited citizen and was devoted to the interests of his town. He held at various times many town offices, including those of superintendent of schools, water commissioner, hydraulic engineer for the water works, tax collector, and others. He was one of the little group of men who started the first town library, which grew into the Canton Public Library of to-day.

He was particularly interested in historical and genealogical research, was at one time secretary of the Canton Historical Society, and edited "The Record of Births, Marriages and Deaths . . . in the Town of Stoughton from 1727 to 1800, and in the Town of Canton from 1797 to 1845," which was published in 1896. He was also deeply interested in scientific and nature studies, he was an enthusiastic photographer and president of the local Camera Club, and his photographs of winter scenery among the White Mountains were often exhibited at the rooms of the Appalachian Club, of which he was a member.

He married, 26 April 1866, Charlotte Elizabeth Bense of Canton, who, with their two daughters, Charlotte, wife of Albion Dyer Wilde, and Helen Elizabeth Endicott, survives him.

Henry Parks Wright, M.A., Ph.D., LL.D., of New Haven, Conn., a resident member since 1914, was born at Winchester, N. H., 30 November 1839, the son of Parks and Relief Willard (Woolley) Wright, and died at New Haven 17 March 1918. He traced his lineage from Dea. Samuel[1] Wright, who was in Springfield, Mass., in 1639, through Samuel[2] (killed by the Indians in 1675), Benjamin,[3] Remembrance,[4] Aaron,[5] Remembrance,[6] Ellsworth,[7] and Parks,[8] his father.

After the death of his parents he lived with his grandmother at Oakham, Mass., and at one time taught in the district schools there. He was prepared for Yale College at Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., and under the tutelage of Rev. Dr. Francis N. Peloubet of Oakham. His education was interrupted by the Civil War. In August 1862 he enlisted in Company F, Fifty-First Massachusetts Infantry, was appointed sergeant on 4 November 1862, and was company clerk, being detailed to serve as assistant quartermaster when the company was on picket duty. He remained with his regiment until it was mustered out on 27 July 1863. In the fall of 1864 he entered Yale College, where he established a record for high scholarship, and was the valedictorian of his class at the Commencement of 1868. Yale granted to him the degree of M.A. in 1871 and of Ph.D. in 1876, and Union College conferred on him the degree of LL.D. in 1895. From April 1877 to August 1878 he studied at the University of Göttingen and in Berlin.

He began his official connection with Yale soon after his graduation. Having taught for a while at the Chickering Institute, Cincinnati, Ohio, he was appointed tutor in Latin and Greek in the College in July 1869. He was made assistant professor of Latin at the expiration of the academic year 1870–71, and from 1876 until his retirement in 1909 he held the Dunham Professorship of Latin. But it was as dean of the University that he rendered his most important service. Inducted into that newly created office in 1884, he soon became an important factor in student life. His methods of helping undergraduates in the solution of their various problems were unique and of inestimable value in the development of character. When, in 1909, at the end of twenty-five years of notable service, he sought a well-earned and needed retirement, he was presented with a silver medal by the College Faculty. Wright Hall, one of the most imposing of the Yale buildings, was erected later, the result of subscriptions from former pupils.

Dean Wright published an edition of the Satires of Juvenal in 1901, and was the author of various reports and addresses on educational and historical topics. Since 1871 he had been the secretary of the Yale Class of 1868, of which he published a history in 1914.

He was a member of the Connecticut Academy of Arts and Sciences, the American Philological Association, the Archæological Institute of America, the American Historical Association, the New Haven Colony Historical Society, the New Haven Graduates Club, and the Yale Alumni Association of New Haven, and an honorary member of the Yale Club of New York City. He was a trustee of the Connecticut College for Women, and, since 1886, of the Hopkins Grammar School, and was also for a few years a trustee of Mount Hermon School for boys. He was one of the founders of the Yale Foreign Missionary Society.

Professor Wright married at Oakham, Mass., 7 July 1874, Martha Elizabeth Burt, daughter of Alfred Ely and Elizabeth Wilder (Lincoln) Burt, who survives him. Their children are Alice Lincoln, B.A. (Wellesley, 1897), Ph.D. (Yale, 1901), Henry Burt, B.A. (Yale, 1898), Ph. D. (Yale, 1903), Alfred Parks, and Ellsworth.

George Golding Kennedy, A.M., M.D., of Milton, Mass., a life member since 1912, was born at Roxbury, Mass., 16 October 1841, the son of Donald and Anne (Colgate) Kennedy, and died at Milton 31 March 1918.

He was prepared for college at the Roxbury Latin School under Augustus H. Buck, was graduated at Harvard College in 1864, taking later the degree of A.M., and received the degree of M.D. from the Harvard Medical School in 1867. He then became a partner with his father in the manufacture of medicines.

He was a student of botany and a writer on botanical subjects. He showed much interest in the work of Dr. Asa Gray and in the Gray Herbarium at Harvard University, and the new Herbarium building has on its library wall a bronze tablet, on which is inscribed Dr. Kennedy's name, with appropriate dates. In May 1900 Dr. Kennedy watched the total eclipse of the sun from Virginia Beach, near Norfolk, Va., and on 30 August 1905 he witnessed another solar eclipse from the high table-land near Burgos, Spain, having crossed the Atlantic for this purpose. He was a frequent visitor to Europe, and on one journey travelled also in Egypt and Palestine.

He was a member of the Boston Society of Natural History, the St. Botolph Club, the Union Club, and the Art Club of Boston, a nonresident member of the Harvard Club of New York, and a member of the National Geographic Society and of the American Geographical Society of New York. He was also a member of the New England Botanical Club, and for several years served on the committees appointed by the Board of Overseers to visit the Gray Herbarium and the Department of Instruction in Botany in Harvard University.

He married, 28 February 1865, Harriet White Harris, daughter of Benjamin Clark and Harriet (White) Harris of Boston. She died at Milton 23 November 1910. Four of their five children are living, namely, Edith Golding (widow of Henry L. Briggs), Harris (now residing with his wife and three children at the old home in Milton), Sinclair, and Mildred. Their second child, a son named Donald, died in infancy.

Mrs. Sarah Lilly (Potter) Dunning of Springfield, Mass., a resident member since 1908, was born at Bath, Me., 5 September 1856, the daughter of William and Pamelia (Gilmore) Potter, and died at Springfield 13 April 1918. She traced her descent from Robert[1] Potter of Lynn, Mass., and of Rhode Island, who was in New England in 1630, through Anthony,[2] Samuel,[3] David,[4] William,[5] John,[6] William,[7] and William,[8] her father.

She was educated in public schools and under private tutors, and was graduated from the Farmington (Me.) Normal School in 1875.

After her marriage she spent practically all of her life in Springfield, Mass., devoting much of her time to church, social welfare, and patriotic work. She was prominently identified with the Daughters of the American Revolution, of which she was State regent from 1909 until 1913, when she declined reëlection. For several years she was chairman of the Patriotic Education Committee of the national organization of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and under her leadership the Committee did much to spread patriotic sentiment, particularly among aliens newly landed in the United States. During the Great War she took a leading part in Red Cross work and other forms of relief work. She was also interested in her home city, and particularly in the American International College at Springfield. For many years genealogical research claimed a large share of her time.

She was a member of the First Congregational Church in Springfield, of the Connecticut Valley Historical Society, and of the Ramapogue Historical Society.

She was married, 5 June 1884, to James Gardner Dunning, LL.B., a lawyer of Springfield, son of Ebenezer Stanwood and Harriet Purington (Frost) Dunning of Bath, Me., who survives her, together with two sons, Harold Gardner Dunning of Longmeadow, Mass., and Lieut. Ray Potter Dunning, U. S. A.

Mrs. Nancy Jewett (Wilder) Bigelow of Dorchester, Mass., a resident member since 1899, was born at Rindge, N. H., 19 February 1825, the daughter of Marshall Pinckney and Tryphosa (Jewett) Wilder, and died at Dorchester 15 April 1918.

She was descended from Thomas[1] Wilder of Charlestown (1640) and of Lancaster (1659), Mass., through Nathaniel,[2] Ephraim,[3] Ephraim,[4] Capt. Ephraim,[5] Samuel Locke,[6] amd Marshall Pinckney,[7] her father. The last-named, Hon. Marshall Pinckney Wilder, LL.D., was distinguished in many fields of activity, especially in horticulture—he served as President of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society from 1840 for eight years—and in the New England Historic Genealogical Society, of which he was President from January 1868 until his death on 16 December 1886. His memory is perpetuated in the auditorium of the Society's building at 9 Ashburton Place, Boston, which contains his portrait and bears the name of Wilder Hall, and accounts of his life may be found in the Register, vol. 21, pages 97–120, and vol. 42, pages 231–242.

Her mother died in 1831, and in 1832 her father, who had been engaged in business in Boston since 1825, purchased the estate in Dorchester at one time owned by Gov. Increase Sumner. This delightful countryseat was her home for more than a quarter of a century, and she shared her father's interest in many of his activities.

On 28 December 1858 she was married to Rev. Andrew Bigelow, D.D., a well-known Congregational minister, and helped him in his ministerial labors at Medfield, Boylston, and later at Southborough, Mass., where he died in 1882, and where she continued to live until her return to the old family home in Dorchester. On 14 March 1913 she wrote from Southborough a letter, which was read at the dedication of the Genealogical Society's building, 18 March 1913 (REGISTER, vol. 68, page xlviii).

Her nearest surviving relatives are her half sister, Grace Sherwin Wilder, and her half brother, Edward Baker Wilder.

JULIUS GAY, M.A., of Farmington, Conn., a resident member since 1889, was born at Farmington 15 February 1834, the son of Fisher and Lucy (Thomson) Gay, and died at Farmington 2 May 1918. On his father's side he traced his descent from John[1] Gay of Dedham, Mass., through Samuel,[2] John,[3] John,[4] Fisher,[5] Erastus,[6] and Fisher,[7] his father, while on his mother's side he was descended from Thomas[1] Thomson of Farmington, through John,[2] Samuel,[3] Daniel,[4] Jonathan,[5] and Lucy,[6] his mother. He was also related to the Treadwell, Fitch, Strong, Hart, and other prominent Connecticut families.

He was prepared for college at the boarding school in his native town, kept at that time by Simeon Hart, was graduated at Yale College in the Class of 1856, and then entered the Yale Scientific School, where he received the degrees of Ph.B. and M.A. in 1858. His work at Yale was chiefly in engineering, and for nearly fifteen years he practised in Farmington as a civil engineer, being recognized as an expert in that profession. In 1872 he was chosen treasurer of the Farmington Savings Bank, and from that time on served the Bank as director, secretary, treasurer, or president until his retirement in 1911. He was also a director and secretary of the old National Exchange Bank of Hartford. He was a man of wide interests, a student of geology and botany in his early days, and a musician who played the organ with skill and frequently arranged the music for the historic Congregational Church, of which he was a member. But his most enduring work was as a genealogist and as town historian.

In 1860 he became librarian of the village library, and served in that capacity for eight years. Then he began a minute historical study of Farmington. For years he delved among public and private records in his own town and county and throughout the New England States and New York, copied graveyard inscriptions, and interviewed old residents of his native place, with the result that his fourteen published historical addresses, begun in 1890, visualize the figures and scenes of ancient Farmington in a remarkable way. During these years he gathered material for the genealogies of early Farmington families, but he could never bring himself to the task of putting the results of his labors into a volume which would have been an adequate monument to himself and to his native town. He did, however, fill a large volume with materials for a history of Farmington, and his collections have been placed in the library of the Connecticut Historical Society, at Hartford. Mr. Gay also prepared and brought out in 1882 "A Record of the Descendants of John Clark of Farmington, Conn., the Male Branches brought down to 1882, the Female Branches one Generation after the Clark Name is lost in Marriage."

He married, 16 October 1862, Maria Clark, daughter of Merwin Clark, by whom he had four children, Maria, Florence Thomson, Lucy Caroline, and Mabel Warner. Of his family only his wife and daughter Florence are still living.

John Hobart Sprague of Short Hills, N. J., a resident member since 1913, was born in New York City 30 November 1850, the son of John Hobart and Henrietta (Prall) Sprague, and died at Short Hills 9 May 1918. He traced his descent from William[1] Sprague of Hingham, Mass., through Anthony,[2] Jeremiah,[3] Knight,[4] James,[5] Roswell,[6] and John Hobart,[7] his father. Through Elizabeth Bartlett, wife of Anthony Sprague, he traced his ancestry also to Richard Warren of the Mayflower.

Mr. Sprague was educated in the public schools of New York City and under private tutors, and began his long and successful career as a business man with the firm of E. Ketcham & Company, which was engaged in the manufacture of tinware. Some years later this firm and several others were merged in the Central Stamping Company, of which Mr. Sprague became second vice-president and later president, holding that position until he severed his connection with the business, about 1898. He then became interested in the rope and twine industry, with which he was connected for the remaining years of his life. He was also secretary and, for several years, president of the Union Selling Company, and was later secretary, treasurer, and vice-president of the D. P. Winne Company, in the twine, yarn, and thread business. By reason of Mr. Sprague's great executive ability and extraordinary grasp of financial conditions this business soon increased more than twelvefold, and the establishment became one of the largest of its kind in the country. Mr. Sprague was president also of the Wheatena Company, with a large plant at Rahway, N. J., and under his direction the business prospered marvelously.

For many years Mr. Sprague was prominent in the social life of the community and in club circles. He was a member of the Society of Mayflower Descendants, the Society of Colonial Wars, the Union League Club of New York, the Merchants' Club of New York, and many other organizations. In religion he was an Episcopalian, and for many years was a member of Christ Church at Short Hills.

He married first, 15 May 1871, Susan Van Auken Ketcham, born in New York City 24 February 1857, died there 7 August 1898, daughter of Enoch and Eliza Randolph (Van Auken) Ketcham; and secondly, in New York City, 22 May 1901, Anne Frances Randall, born at Dubuque, Iowa, 28 June 1857, daughter of Darley (born in London, England, 25 June 1827, died at New Brunswick, N. J., 28 October 1890) and Eliza Howe (Brown) Randall (born in New York 4 July 1833, died there 27 March 1868). There were five sons by the first marriage, William Ketcham, John Hobart, Enoch Ketcham, Gilbert, and Edward Brown. Of these, two, John Hobart and Enoch Ketcham, with his widow, survive him.

Anthony Tarbox Briggs of Cambridge, Mass., a resident member since 1909, was born at Coventry, R. I., 1 April 1851, the son of Russell and Sarah Polly (Tarbox) Briggs, and died at Cambridge 16 May 1918. He was a descendant of George Briggs, through Stephen, Russell, and a second Russell, his father.

He was educated in the common schools of Millbury, Mass., and at Leicester Academy, Leicester, Mass.

Prior to 1883 he was engaged in the cotton waste, paper stock, and coal business in Millbury, and then became connected with the sales department of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Company, having his office in Boston and his home at Cambridge. Previous to his removal from Millbury he was, for a few months, chairman of the Board of Selectmen of that town.

Notwithstanding the claims of his business interests, Mr. Briggs found time to collect a large amount of valuable genealogical material, which has been given to the Rhode Island Historical Society, and is described in the magazine of that society as follows:

"The most important genealogical collection that the Society has ever received is that left by Mr. A. T. Briggs of Boston. It is to be known as the 'Anthony Tarbox Briggs Genealogical Collection,' and consists of many volumes of typewritten and manuscript notes. The names in these volumes are all indexed on cards, which are filed alphabetically in a 54-drawer card filing case. The collection also includes a large amount of correspondence on genealogical subjects, and an extensive file of genealogical clippings from the Boston Transcript. The most important part of the collection is perhaps the series of volumes containing the typewritten copies of gravestone records. Mr. Briggs had the gravestone records of 294 cemeteries in Rhode Island and 22 cemeteries of Rhode Island families in nearby states copied and preserved. These cemeteries are scattered through Coventry, West Warwick, Warwick, East Greenwich, West Greenwich, Exeter, Richmond, Hopkinton, Westerly, North Kingstown, Cranston, Scituate, Foster and Gloucester. Many of the stones which he had copied have since been destroyed. The names are in the card index, so that the entire mass of material is easily accessible to the student."

Mr. Briggs married, 17 October 1872, Ella Marie Eddy, daughter of Justus and Lucy Marie (Smith) Eddy, who, with a son, Russell Eddy, and a daughter, Sarah Marie, survives him. Their eldest child, Florence Elizabeth, died in infancy.

Abraham Shuman, A.M., of Boston, elected to resident membership in 1894 and made a life member in 1895, was born in Prussia 31 May 1839, and died in Boston 26 June 1918.

He came to this country, with his parents, at an early age, the family settling near Newburgh, N. Y. When not at school, he worked on a farm, until he was thirteen years old. Then he entered a clothing house in Newburgh, where he acquired his first experience in the business in which he afterwards gained national prominence.

At the age of sixteen he started in business for himself in Providence, R. I. In 1859 he came to Roxbury, Mass., and opened a clothing store at the corner of Vernon and Washington Streets. Ten years later, with the late John Phillips, he entered the wholesale clothing business on Summer Street, Boston, the firm being known as Phillips, Shuman & Company. The business was burned out in the great Boston fire of 1872. Immediately afterwards he laid the foundations for the immense business at "Shuman Corner," Washington Street, Boston, of which he was for the remainder of his life the head. From a small space in the corner of the building the business gradually developed until it filled the whole building. At the time of Mr. Shuman's death the store occupied several acres of floor space and was one of the largest of the kind in New England.

Mr. Shuman "was one of Boston's most forceful and enterprising merchants, and a citizen of commendable pride in the city and her institutions." He was the first vice-president of the Boston Merchants Association, for many years a director of the Manufacturers National Bank and the United States Trust Company, a director also of the Commonwealth Trust Company and the Puritan Trust Company, and a member of the Boston Chamber of Commerce. He was a trustee of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and a member of the Boston Athletic Association, the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, and the committee appointed by the Board of Overseers of Harvard University to visit the Graduate School of Business Administration. In 1895 he became a member of the Board of Trustees of the Boston City Hospital, and was president of the Board from 1892 until his death. During his administration as head of the Board the capacity of the Hospital was greatly increased, among the additional facilities provided being a hospital for contagious diseases, the home for convalescents, and the Haymarket Square and East Boston relief hospitals. When Mayor Quincy took office in 1896, one of his first official acts was to appoint Mr. Shuman to his board of consultation and advice on municipal matters.

Mr. Shuman's reputation for generosity to his employees was established at the start. Many of them who met with reverses obtained money from him to save their homes, returning it in instalments without being required to pay interest. He was generous in many other directions. He gave marble busts of Wendell Phillips to the Boston Public Library and Faneuil Hall, and a bronze bust of President Capen to Tufts College, which conferred on him the honorary degree of A.M.

His last will and testament contained public bequests amounting to $247,500. The sum of $100,000 was given to erect on land in Dorchester Avenue a building for patients convalescing from acute diseases following treatment at the City Hospital, the building to be known as "The A. Shuman Memorial Building for Convalescent Men." To the Trustees of the Museum of Fine Arts he bequeathed $50,000, besides twelve pictures from his own collection, to the President and Fellows of Harvard College $10,000, the income of which is to be used each year for some worthy student in the Graduate School of Business Administration, and a like sum, to be similarly used, was given to Tufts College. Other gifts in smaller sums, including generous ones to those whom he had employed in his business or at his home, helped to make up the large amount of bequests named above.

Mr. Shuman married, 3 November 1861, Hettie Lang, who died in 1904. His surviving children are: Emma (Mrs. August Weil), Edwin A., Bessie (Mrs. Alexander Steinert of Boston), Sidney E., Theresa (Mrs. I. A. Ratshesky of Boston), and George H. Shuman.

Capt. Huntington Saville, A.B., LL.B., Massachusetts State Guard, of Cambridge, Mass., a resident member since 1896, was born in Boston 9 November 1870, the son of Dr. Henry Martyn and Antoinette Hale (Carruth) Saville, and died at Cambridge 27 July 1918. He traced his descent from William[1] Saville of Braintree, Mass., in 1640, through Samuel,[2] Samuel,[3] Elisha,[4] Samuel,[5] Josiah,[6] Josiah,[7] and Henry Martyn,[8] his father.

His early education was obtained at Dr. Arthur Callisen's Schools New York City, St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., and the Hopkin, son School, Boston, and he was graduated at Harvard College in 1893 and at the Harvard Law School in 1896. He was admitted to the Massachusetts bar in 1896 and to practice in the United State-Courts in 1905. He was with the law firm of Shattuck & Munroe, in Boston, until the death of the surviving member, Mr. Munroe, in 1905, when he succeeded to the care of all the trusts and estates of which Mr. Munroe had been the trustee, and then formed a partnership with Albert Minot Chandler, A.B. (Harvard, 1900), LL.B. (Harvard, 1903), for the general practice of law, under the firm name of Saville & Chandler. He continued in this relationship until his death, acting with his partner as counsel for well-known corporations and firms as well as for many individual clients.

He was a prominent and active member of the Protestant Episcopal Church, junior warden of Christ Church, Cambridge, a former president of the Episcopalian Club of Massachusetts, a member of the Cathedral Chapter, an alternate delegate to the General Convention, a director of The Churchman, a delegate to the Synod for the Province of New England, and a delegate to the National Federation of Church Clubs. He was also treasurer of the Boston City Mission.

He was a member of the Cambridge Club, of which he had been president, the Harvard Club of Boston, the Harvard Club of New York, the Eastern Yacht Club, the Oakley Country Club, the Boston City Club, the American Bar Association and similar local associations, the Boston Chamber of Commerce, and the Military Order of the Loyal Legion.

In the Great War he entered into various forms of service with the zeal which characterized his religious activities. He was one of the most energetic of the campaigners in the war-fund drives in Greater Boston, a director of the Cambridge Young Men's Christian Association and chairman of its war-work committee, and secretary of the Cambridge committee of the Red Triangle war-work fund. At the time of his death he was captain of Company M, Twelfth Regiment, Massachusetts State Guard, then encamped at Framingham, and his company furnished a military escort at his funeral.

He married, 22 May 1900, Anne Pierce Whittier of Boston, who survives him.

Rev. Charles Carroll Carpenter, A.M., of Andover, Mass., a resident member since 1885, was born at Bernardston, Mass., 9 July 1836, the son of Dr. Elijah Woodward and Vallonia (Slate) Carpenter, and died at Andover 19 August 1918. He traced his descent from William[1] Carpenter of Weymouth, Mass., who came to New England from Southampton in the Bevis in 1638, aged 62, through William[2] of Rehoboth, Mass., who also came in the Bevis in 1638, aged 33, with his wife Abigail, aged 32, and four young children, Samuel,[3] one of the four children who came in the Bevis, David,[4] David,[5] John,[6] John,[7] and Dr. Elijah Woodward,[8] his father. Rehoboth was the home of this ancestral line down to John[7] (1756–1848), the grandfather of Charles Carroll Carpenter, who went with Washington to Valley Forge, and in 1783 settled at Brattleboro, Vt. His son, Elijah Woodward,[8] was a physician, and practised his profession in Bernardston for forty-one years. The following biography of Mr. Carpenter is an abridgment, with a few interpolations in brackets, of a memoir of him by Rev. F. R. Shipman, which was published in the Andover Townsman of 23 August 1918.

Charles Carroll Carpenter . . . was in the district school at the age of three, and before he was ten he was studying Latin. Later in life he thought it would have been better if he had studied less and played more; but one may doubt whether a second chance would have produced any change. Certainly no one else forced him to keep a daily journal at the age of ten. To the end of his life he was still keeping it.

His parents united in teaching him to be honest and faithful in whatever he did; but he cannot have been a troublesome pupil. As a man, he could look back on a boy's chores done carefully and punctually. The succeeding years, before manhood, were divided between various businesses and the struggle for an education and an equally hard struggle for health. At fourteen, he was a clerk in a Greenfield periodical store and express office. He was a country schoolmaster at seventeen. When he was twenty-one he was voyaging to Labrador in search of physical strength. In between these years he was a clerk in a bookstore, snatching bits of schooling at Goodale Academy (Bernardston), Williston Seminary [Easthampton, Mass.] and Kimball Union Academy [Meriden, N. H.], and again for health's sake helping the fishermen of Marblehead. But he lived to write books as well as to sell them. Though he never reached college, he received the honorary degree of A.M. from both Hamilton (1869) and Dartmouth (1887). As for the frailty of his boyhood's body, he lived two years beyond fourscore. Foundations for such attainments he laid in those adolescent years which must often have been as discouraged as they were broken.

His health voyage to Labrador had a decisive influence upon his life aims and all his future course. He determined to return there as a missionary. In 1858 he [entered the service of the Canada Foreign Missionary Society of Montreal,] explored the region bordering on the Straits of Belle Isle, established a mission station on Caribou Island, and built a house there. A winter station was afterwards fixed at Esquimaux River. He spent the following winter [1859–60] at the Harvard Medical School, and was ordained to the [Congregational] ministry in Montreal on May 9, 1860. Another winter [1861–62] at the Harvard Medical School followed, and on May 1, 1862 [he was married] . . . . The way was now clear for settled missionary labors in Labrador; but . . . the climate was too cold for Mr. Carpenter to live in it continuously. With injured health he left the coast after the summer of 1864, and spent the next winter in City Point, Va., employed as cashier under the U. S. Christian Commission for the "Armies operating against Richmond." For the next six years he was superintendent of the Lookout Mountain (Tennessee) Educational Institutions. Although the enmities of the war were still hot, it is astonishing how many boys passed through that Yankee school. Many of them entered the Methodist ministry, both Northern and Southern. Returning to New England, Mr. Carpenter enrolled in Andover Theological Seminary, graduating in 1875. Ten years in the pastorate followed, divided equally between the Rockville Congregational church of Peabody [Mass.] [1875–1880] and the Congregational church in Mo[u]nt Vernon, N. H. [1880–1885.] The remainder of his life was given to literary work and to a playtime of pastoral labor almost as wide as the globe; but the work was play, and the play was work, and into both Mr. Carpenter put the brightness of his sunny nature.

The literary toil began with the "Congregationalist," for which Mr. Carpenter, under the nom-de-plume of "Mr. Martin," wrote the children's column for twenty years. During the time, his "Conversation Corner" was the best single feature of that weekly paper. For two years (1887–1889) he edited the Townsman. He compiled the annual necrologies of Andover Theological Seminary from 1890 till 1900. . . . His "Clock Verses" were published in several editions. His more elaborate works, however, were a biographical catalogue of Phillips Academy and the centennial catalogue of Andover Theological Seminary. These two volumes gave him high rank for work of the kind. He spared no pains upon them, and they are most accurate and complete. . . . Most lately he was making an Andover historical scrap-book from the files of the Andover Advertiser and the Townsman, and had brought the indexed work down to 1900. Many other projects had been started in his busy brain and were waiting for his busy hands. . . .

He had a prodigious memory, but his memory, like that of the rest of us, was ruled and guided by the things he was interested in, and the things he was interested in were people. . . . His mind became an immense but orderly maze, crossed and crisscrossed, of human names and birthdays and joys and sorrows and needs, and his little "study" was the fountain from which flowed a steady stream of cheery messages and small gifts all over the world. Those whom he thus brightened on their way had not always fathomed the depth and ability of the man when they met him, his strong trust in God, his courage, his quick mind, his power of rapid activity matching his mind; but they remembered his alert frame, his brisk step, his white hair and rosy face, his impetuous voice, his kind and mirthful eyes, and the rendered service which had been as natural to him as breathing and merely one happy part of his happy day.

Mr. Carpenter married, 1 May 1862, Feronia N. Rice, daughter of Ezra and Luthera (Knowlton) Rice of Auburn, Mass., and a descendant of Dea. Edmund[1] Rice of Sudbury, Mass. She survives her husband, together with their second son, Charles Lincoln Carpenter, B.S. (Dartmouth, 1887), C.E. (Dartmouth, 1889), now a civil engineer in Porto Rico, and their two daughters, Jane Brodie Carpenter of Andover and Miriam Feronia Carpenter, who is in charge of the office of the Division of Education at Harvard University. The oldest son, George Rice Carpenter, born in Labrador 25 October 1863, A.B. (Harvard, 1886). D.C.L. (University of the South, 1907), a professor of English at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and later at Columbia University, died in 1909. Their third son, William Bancroft Carpenter, A.B. (Harvard, 1890), A.M. (Harvard, 1891), a teacher in the Boston Mechanics Arts High School, also died before his father. Three of Mr. Carpenter's grandsons were in the service of the United States in the Great War—one in the Army and two in the Navy.

Col. Cranmore Nesmith Wallace of Boston, a resident member since 1877, was born at Braintree, Mass., 6 November 1844, the son of William Vinson and Maria (Keen) Wallace, and died at Beverly, Mass. 26 August 1918. On the paternal side he was descended from Scotch-Irish ancestors, who came to America in 1718, and on the maternal side he was of English stock. His ancestors fought in the Revolutionary War, a great-grandfather being a soldier at Bunker Hill and two great-grandfathers fighting in the Battle of Bennington.

He was educated in the public schools of Braintree, and left school at the age of seventeen to enlist as a private in the Union Army (May 1862). He served in the Infantry in North Carolina, Maryland, and Virginia, reënlisting at the end of his term of service. He became orderly sergeant, commanded a company for some months, and was commissioned by Governor Andrew of Massachusetts as a lieutenant. He was honorably discharged from the United States service in November 1864, and from the State service 2 October 1865.

He then entered upon his business career, becoming in 1865 a clerk for the Boston Flax Mills, the predecessor of the Ludlow Manufacturing Company and the Ludlow Manufacturing Associates. He retained his connection with this industry down to the time of his death, rising from one position to another until he became president of the Ludlow Manufacturing Associates. In 1865 the business was a small, struggling enterprise. To-day it is a large, prosperous organization. Then the company had one mill. To-day it has about a dozen mills, and it has established a model town at Ludlow, Mass., where its mills are located.

Colonel Wallace in 1875 was a representative in the Massachusetts Legislature from Braintree, and he served also in Braintree as water commissioner and as a member of the School Committee. He was at one time a trustee of the Massachusetts Homœopathic Hospital and of the Massachusetts Soldiers' Home. He was a life member of the Bostonian Society, and belonged to the Society of the Army of the Potomac, the Society of Sons of the American Revolution, and the Grand Army of the Republic. He was quartermaster general of Massachusetts in 1889. At the inauguration of President Roosevelt in 1905 he served as a member of the personal staff of Gen. A. R. Chaffee. He was a member of the Algonquin Club, the Exchange Club, the New Boston Riding Club, the Boston Athletic Association, and the Eastern Yacht Club, and a vestryman of Emmanuel Church, Boston.

Colonel Wallace married first, 22 April 1873, Mary Ann Avery, daughter of John Candler Avery; and secondly, 12 December 1882, Eunice Sprague, who survives him.

The Thomas Crane Library at Quincy, Mass., was erected in 1882 by Albert Crane, Benjamin Franklin Crane, his brother, and their mother, as a memorial to the father of the two men; and Albert Crane gave to the Crane Theological School of Tufts College, as a further memorial of his father, the sum of $100,000. He also gave to the Thomas Crane Public Library at Quincy more land, and built a large addition, costing nearly $200,000. In 1910–1913 he gave the money to purchase the site of the new hospital at Stamford.

For seven years, from 1863 to 1870, Mr. Crane served in the New York National Guard, in a company of which the late Henry E. Howland was captain. In 1899 he purchased the Worcester Spy and conducted it until 1904, when it passed out of his hands and was suspended, its plant having been destroyed by fire on 21 May 1902, a calamity that was disastrous to the business.

After relinquishing newspaper work Mr. Nutt devoted his time to historical and genealogical research and writing. He wrote many sketches for the Lewis Publishing Company of New York. Among his recent writings may be mentioned a history of the First Massachusetts Heavy Artillery, which had been begun by the late Hon. Alfred S. Roe, a history of the Crompton & Knowles Loom Works, and a history of Worcester, the copy for which was almost ready for the printer.

Mr. Nutt was for many years active in politics, and was a delegate to various Republican conventions in New York State, including the State convention which nominated Theodore Roosevelt for the governorship in 1898. His attention, however, was directed chiefly to genealogy and to the preservation of Connecticut church records, and he was the official copyist of parochial archives in Connecticut, secretary of the Permanent Commission of Parochial Archives in the Diocese of Connecticut, and manager of the Bureau of American Ancestry.

From 17 January 1870 until the summer of 1872 he taught in the Worcester (Mass.) High School. He then returned to Cambridge and studied law in Boston in the office of Lathrop, Abbot & Jones (subsequently Abbot & Jones) and, for a few months (1873–4), at the Harvard Law School. He was admitted to the bar in Boston 27 March 1875, and practised his profession in Boston from January 1876 on, being from October 1883 until March 1887 in partnership with James Russell Carret, A.B. (Harvard, 1867), A.M. (Harvard, 1871).

From May 1881 until September 1883 he travelled with his family in Europe.

He married, 16 November 1878, Ella Cora Brooks, daughter of John Wood Brooks of Milton, Mass., who survives him, together with three children, Alice, Amelia, and John Wood Brooks Ladd, A.B. (Harvard, 1911).

Hon. Andrew Dickson White, M.A., Ph.D., L.H.D., LL.D., D.C.L., of Ithaca, N. Y., an honorary member since 1891, was born at Homer, N. Y., 7 November 1832, the son of Horace and Clara

(Dickson) White, and died at Ithaca 4 November 1918. A tradition that he was descended from Peregrine White of the Mayflower he never took pains to verify; but his grandparents, early settlers in New York, were from Massachusetts—Asa White from Monson and Andrew Dickson from Middlefield.

He was prepared for college at the Cortland (N. Y.) Academy, and first entered Hobart College, but in 1851 joined the Class of 1853 at Yale, receiving the degree of B.A. there in 1853 and the degree of M.A. in 1856. At Yale he was awarded some of the highest scholastic honors. He studied at the Sorbonne, the College de France, and the University of Berlin in 1853–54, and then went to St. Petersburg as an attaché of the United States Legation, holding this post at the time of the Crimean War, 1854–55. In 1857, after a year of graduate study at Yale, he became professor of History and English Literature in the University of Michigan. He resigned this position in 1863, retaining, however, a lectureship in History there for the next four years, and took up his residence in Syracuse, N. Y. He was a member of the New York Senate, 1863–67, and while serving as chairman of the Committee on Education became interested in the establishment of Cornell University. He contributed personally $300,000 to its original cost, gave later additional sums, and in 1887 founded there the School of History and Political Science, which bears his name, giving to it his historical library of over 40,000 volumes. He was the first president of Cornell University, holding this office from 1866 to 1885 and proving himself one of the leaders in the movement for liberalizing and broadening college education in the United States.

In politics and in posts of public trust he served faithfully his party and his country. He was president of the Republican State convention in New York in 1871, a delegate to the Republican national conventions of 1872 and 1884, United States commissioner to Santo Domingo in 1871, and a presidential elector in 1872. From 1879 to 1881, while on leave of absence from his duties at the University, he was minister plenipotentiary to Germany, and from 1892 to 1894 he was minister plenipotentiary to Russia. He served on the Venezuela Boundary Commission in 1896–97, and President McKinley sent him as ambassador to Germany, where he remained from 1897 to 1902. In 1899 he was president of the American delegation to the first Hague Peace Conference.

He was a trustee of Hobart College, 1866–1877, Cornell University, from 1865 to 1885 and from 1887 on, the Carnegie Institution for Research, and the Carnegie Peace Endowment, and a regent of the Smithsonian Institution. He was an officer of the Legion of Honor, received the Royal Gold Medal of Prussia for Arts and Sciences (1902), was an honorary member of the Royal Academy of Sciences in Berlin, the first president of the American Historical Association (1884–85), a member of the Massachusetts Historical Society and of the American Academy of Arts and Letters, president of the American Social Science Association and of the American Philosophical Society, and a member of many other societies in the United States and in foreign countries.

He was the recipient of numerous honorary degrees—that of LL.D. from the University of Michigan (1867), Cornell University (1886), Yale (1888), the University of St. Andrews (1902), Johns Hopkins University (1902), Dartmouth College (1906), and Hobart College (1911), that of L.H.D. from Columbia University (1887), that of Ph.D. from the University of Jena (1889), and that of D.C.L. from the University of Oxford (1902).

His published writings are numerous, and relate especially to educational and historical subjects. Among them may be mentioned "Battlefields of Science," 1876, "A History of the Warfare of Science with Theology in Christendom," 1895–1897, "The Warfare of Humanity with Unreason, including Essays on Sarpi, Grotius, Thomasius, Turgot and Cavour," published in the Atlantic Monthly in 1903–1907 and revised and published in 1911, with additional chapters on "Stein" and "Bismarck," under the title of "Seven Great Statesmen in the Warfare of Humanity with Unreason." Some of these books have been translated into various European languages. His autobiography, published in 1905, is a most valuable and interesting work.

He was a member of the Union League and Century Clubs of New York City and of the Cosmos Club of Washington, D. C.

He married first, in September 1857, Mary A. Outwater of Syracuse, N. Y.,who died in 1887; and secondly, in 1890, Helen Magill, who survives him, daughter of Dr. Edward Hicks Magill.

Samuel Swett Green, A.M., of Worcester, Mass., elected a resident member in 1890 and made a life member in 1891, was born at Worcester 20 February 1837, the son of James and Elizabeth (Swett) Green, and died at Worcester 8 December 1918. He was a descendant of Thomas[1] Green, who was at Malden, Mass., about the middle of the seventeenth century, through Thomas[2] of Malden, Capt. Samuel[3] of Malden and Leicester, Mass., Rev. Thomas[4] of Leicester, Dr. John[5] of Worcester, Dr. John[6] of Worcester, and James[7] of Worcester, his father.

He was prepared for college in private schools in Worcester and in the public schools of that city, graduating at the Worcester High School in 1854. He then entered Harvard College, where he received the degree of A.B. in 1858. Ill health compelled him to abstain from further study at that time, and in 1859 he made a sea voyage in the bark Race Horse to Smyrna and Constantinople and back. In September 1861 he returned to the Harvard Divinity School, where he had already spent a month or two in the autumn of 1860, and was graduated in 1864, the University at that time not conferring degrees on the completion of the course in the Divinity School. In 1870, however, he received the degree of A.M. from Harvard, and in 1877 he was elected an honorary member of the Harvard chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity.

He was soon compelled by the state of his health to give up preaching, and in December 1864 became a bookkeeper in the Mechanics Bank in Worcester. On 15 August 1865 he was appointed teller in the Worcester National Bank, and held this position until 22 May 1868, when he resigned.

On 1 January 1867 he had been elected a director of the Worcester Free Public Library, of which his uncle, Dr. John Green of Worcester, had laid the foundation in 1859 by liberal gifts of books and money, and on 15 January 1871 he was chosen librarian of this institution, and held this position until 12 January 1909, when he was made librarian emeritus. In the duties of librarian he found his life work. Under his management the Worcester Free Public Library gained recognition as one of the foremost and most progressive libraries in the land. He strove to make it not merely a receptacle for books and a workshop for students, but a place where any person might obtain information and help on any question. In October 1876, at a conference of librarians in Philadelphia, where the American Library Association was formed, he read a paper urging closer personal relations between librarians and readers, and describing the course that had been followed in Worcester for several years. This paper made a profound impression, and Mr. Green's recommendations were adopted in many libraries in the country. The methods of the Worcester Library were studied in foreign lands, attention was called to them in an official report of the authorities of the Department of the Seine, in France, the department in which Paris is situated, and in 1896 the librarian of the University of Kiel, in Germany, advocated the introduction into Germany of public libraries of the Worcester type.

Mr. Green was one of the founders of the American Library Association, serving it as vice-president and president, he was a member of the American Library Institute, formed in 1905 and composed of the most distinguished librarians in the United States, he was a founder and first vice-president of the Massachusetts Library Club, a delegate from the American Library Association to the International Congress of Librarians held at London in 1877, he presided over the World's Congress of Librarians at Chicago in 1893, and was vice-president of the International Congress of Librarians at London in 1897. In July 1878 he was elected an honorary fellow of the Library Association of the United Kingdom. In 1890 he was appointed by Governor Brackett of Massachusetts as one of the original members of the Board of Free Public Library Commissioners, for the term of four years, and in 1894, 1899, and 1904 was reappointed for three successive terms of five years each. He was a member of the committee appointed by the Board of Overseers of Harvard University to visit the University Library, and served on a similar committee to visit the Boston Public Library. His addresses and published writings on library topics are numerous.

In addition to the various library organizations with which Mr. Green was connected, he was a member of many societies and clubs, among them the Royal Historical Society of Great Britain, the American Antiquarian Society, the American Historical Association, the American Social Science Association, the Colonial Society of Massachusetts, the Wisconsin Historical Society (of which he was a corresponding member), the Society of Mayflower Descendants, the Old Planters' Society, the Society of Colonial Wars, the Society of Descendants of Colonial Governors, the Society of Sons of the Revolution, the Bunker Hill Monument Association, the University Club of Boston, the Harvard Club of Worcester, the Worcester Art Society, and several other local organizations in his home city.

Mr. Green never married. His nearest surviving relatives are his two brothers, John, who received from Harvard the degrees of A.B. (1855), S.B. (1856), A.M. (1859), M.D. (1866), from Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., the degree of LL.D. (1905), and from the University of Missouri the degree of LL.D. (1906), and who resides in St. Louis, and James, who received from Harvard the degrees of A.B. (1862), LL.B. (1864), and A.M. (1865), and who is a well-known lawyer of Worcester.

Col. Rutherford Trowbridge of New Haven, Conn., a resident member since 1916, was born at New Haven 1 December 1851, the son of Thomas Rutherford and Caroline (Hoadley) Trowbridge, and died at New Haven 18 December 1918. He came of old New England stock, his ancestors being among the earliest settlers of the New Haven Colony. Thomas[1] Trowbridge was of Taunton, co. Somerset, England, and was later in business in Exeter, co. Devon, England. He and his wife and two of his sons are found at Dorchester, Mass., perhaps as early as 1636, and he was afterwards of New Haven, whither he probably moved his household in 1638. He soon returned to England, and died at Taunton 7 February 1672/3. He had left three sons in New Haven, in the care of Henry Gibbons, and they were later placed by the authorities in the care of Sergeant Thomas Jeffrey. From the eldest of these sons, Thomas,[2] whose first wife was Sarah Rutherford, daughter of Henry and Sarah Rutherford, Col. Rutherford Trowbridge was descended, through Thomas,[3] Capt. Daniel,[4] Rutherford,[5] Henry,[6] and Thomas Rutherford,[7] his father. This whole line of ancestors, from Thomas[2] on, resided in New Haven.

Rutherford Trowbridge received his early education at the school of Stiles French in New Haven, with the intention of entering Yale College; but in 1868 he left school and took a position with the firm of H. Trowbridge's Sons, of which his father was senior member. He spent several years with the West India branch of the house, in the island of Barbados, and then entered the main office of the firm in New Haven. In 1885 he was admitted to full partnership, and remained a member of the firm until it was dissolved by mutual consent in 1891.

After his retirement from the West India business Colonel Trowbridge was occupied with the care of numerous family trusts and with the management of a number of corporations in which he was interested. He took also a prominent part in local politics, serving in 1881 as colonel on the staff of Governor Bigelow, in 1884 and 1885 as a member of the City Council, and from time to time on several important committees, both municipal and State. At the Republican State convention of 1904 he was nominated as a candidate for presidential elector-at-large, and in the election that followed received the largest number of votes cast for any candidate for elector.

He was always much interested in the welfare of his native city, and was a liberal contributor to its public and private charities. His kindness exceeded even his generosity, for the one was boundless, while the other was necessarily limited. In 1889, in memory of his father, he established the Thomas R. Trowbridge Course of Lectures on Architecture in the Yale School of the Fine Arts. The memorial window in the Center Church, illustrating the arrival of the first English settlers at New Haven, was placed there by him as another tribute to his father's memory. He founded, as a memorial to his only son, Rutherford, who died in 1905 in his eleventh year, the Rutherford Institute in the Young Men's Christian Association in New Haven, for the purpose of giving a technical education to poor boys. He established also in New Haven, in memory of his son, the Rutherford Trowbridge, Jr., Scholarship in the Hopkins Grammar School.

In New Haven Colonel Trowbridge was a member of the Quinnipiack Club, the Yale Archæological Society, the Connecticut Academy of Arts and Science, and the New Haven Colony Historical Society. He was also a member of the Union League Club and the Metropolitan Art Museum in New York City, the Connecticut Society of Sons of the American Revolution, and an associate member of the New Hampshire Society of the Cincinnati. He spent many summers at Stockbridge, Mass. He united with the First Church in New Haven in 1879, and in 1896 took a letter to Trinity Church in that city, of which he was a vestryman at the time of his death.

Colonel Trowbridge married first, at New Haven, 5 October 1882, Alice Maude Anderson, daughter of John Charles and Mary (Beecher) Anderson; and secondly, at Ansonia, Conn., 8 January 1891, May Wells Farrel, daughter of Franklin and Julia Lockwood (Smith) Farrel of Ansonia, who survives him, with two daughters, Elsie Rutherford by his first wife, and Caroline Rachel by his second wife.

Cf. The Trowbridge Genealogy, by Francis Bacon Trowbridge, New Haven, 1908.

Mrs. Laura Lucretia (Williams) Case of Boston, a life member since 1907, widow of James Brown Case, died at her winter home, 468 Beacon Street, Boston, on 24 December 1918, in her eighty-sixth year. She was the daughter of Moses Williams, an eminent Boston merchant and a member of the Williams family that descended from Robert Williams, the immigrant of 1637—a family that filled a large place for many generations in the life of old-time Roxbury and West Roxbury.

Mrs. Case was born 7 September 1833 in her father's house on Centre Street in Jamaica Plain, and was married 26 October 1854, her wedding being the first one to be solemnized in the stone Unitarian church in the centre of the place. Mr. Case had come originally from Providence, R. I., to Boston, where he became a successful wholesale dry-goods merchant and late in life president of the old National Bank of Redemption as well as of its successor, the present First National Bank.

Their winter home was always in Boston—for many years at 120 Commonwealth Avenue and latterly in the handsome house which they had built on Beacon Street, overlooking Charles River, where Mrs. Case died. But it is with the town of Weston that the family is most associated, going there first in 1863 and passing long seasons there ever since, when not travelling in foreign countries. There Mrs. Case took a deep interest in the Unitarian Church, the Library, and the welfare of the people—in fact, all good impulses in the town met a kindly response from her. Here her friends, both old and young and of all degrees, enjoyed the hospitality of her beautiful country home, and many are the people she has made happy with flowers and wonderful bunches of grapes from her greenhouses.

This quiet, gentle, old-fashioned lady gave such a natural, cordial welcome that everyone responded, and her interest in the younger members of her family was so keen that even the children appreciated it, and this in turn kept her spirits fresh and youthful. The large gathering of friends that nearly filled Arlington Street Church for her funeral services bore silent but impressive testimony to the love and esteem in which she was held. Her charities were extensive, though never ostentatious, and always made with a shrewd realization of the worth and fitness of the recipient. Her great interests were the various charities of the Unitarian Church, the cottage hospitals at Baldwinsville, the academy at Proctor, N. H., and the various Southern schools. She was active in the direction of several of these, and only a few weeks before her death had the meeting of one of these boards at her house. Her interest in her sterling New England ancestry induced her to join this Society and to make a generous gift towards the cost of the new building.

She leaves three daughters, Caroline, widow of James G. Freeman, Louise W. Case, and Marian R. Case.

A memoir of William Richard Cutter may be found in the Register of January 1919.

It is expected that memoirs of Louis Atwood Cook and Samuel Abbott Green will appear in future numbers of the Register.

Owing to the large number of letters received by the officers of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, asking for genealogical or other information, to answer which satisfactorily would in many cases require extended investigations, it has become impossible for them to give personal attention to such inquiries, nor is it practicable to refer these letters to any of the assistants in the employ of the Society, because their time is occupied fully by their regular duties. The officers, however, are glad to help those seeking information by calling attention to the expert services of the genealogists, book dealers, printers and publishers, engravers and photographers, manufacturers of paper, etc., who advertise in the following pages. Inquirers should make their own business arrangements with those whose names are given below, as the Society assumes NO responsibility in the matter.

FOR SALE.—NEW ENGLAND HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL REGISTER, bound, for the years 1869–1897, inclusive (vols. 23–51), and several unbound numbers for 1898 and 1899. Price $75, F.O.B., Chicago. WALTER S. BALDWIN, 35 North Dearborn Street, Chicago, Ill.

The War, through the presence of so many thousands of Americans in lands whence came their ancestors, has quickened the already widespread interest in genealogical research connected with identification of settlers in America with their Old World homes.

It is now possible to prosecute these researches even as before the War.

Experts in every line of genealogical and historical research are available.

Americans who wish to extend their knowledge of their ancestors, especially those who desire to know whence they came, their position in life, their share in the doings of the day, their connections, and their homes, and who are willing to meet the cost of systematic, intelligent research under the direction of one who has given more than a quarter of a century to this work and is familiar with sources in America, Great Britain, Ireland, and France, are invited to correspond with EBEN PUTNAM (late Captain, Q. M. C., A. E. F.), P. O. Box 3077, Boston, Mass.

Massachusetts Vital Records.—The Commonwealth of Massachusetts has discontinued the purchase and free distribution of printed Vital Records of Massachusetts towns prior to 1850, the act providing for such purchase and distribution having been repealed. The New England Historic Genealogical Society, however, has decided to continue this important series of publications, provided that enough subscriptions are secured to warrant the undertaking. A circular giving full particulars will be sent on request. Address the Committee on Publications, 9 Ashburton Place, Boston, Mass.

See also page 52 of the REGISTER of January, 1919.

The New England Historic Genealogical Society needs substantial increases of endowment and income, in order to prosecute its work with vigor and to accomplish the objects for which it was founded. Its officers will gladly confer with anyone desiring to create memorial funds by gift or bequest, the income of which shall be used to promote the objects of the Society.

The New England Historic Genealogical Society is prepared to undertake the compilation and publication in book form of genealogies of American families. Those wishing to arrange for the publication of genealogies already compiled, for the completion of genealogies already begun, or for the entire work of compiling and publishing are invited to confer with the Committee on Publications, 9 Ashburton Place, Boston, Mass.
